HOOVER SCORES JOB FIGURES OF BEER ADVOCATE

Chicago Council Member Told Resolution He Offers Is Wrong.

IRKED ATTITUDE SEEN TOWARD WET CLAIMS

Hyde and Newton Research May Have Been Basis for Correction.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

President Hoover evidently is growing tired of claims being made by advocates of a return of real beer and wine.

James C. Moreland, a member of the city council of Chicago, left the White House yesterday, saying that the President had challenged some of the figures contained in a petition for modification of the Volstead act.

Mr. Moreland, accompanied by two other citizens of Chicago, presented the President with a resolution adopted by the city council, a document which claimed that a return of beer and wine would put $2,000,000,000 additional money into circulation and create a million and a half new jobs.

The resolution urged the President to call a special session of Congress so that the question of modification might be considered at an early date. The resolution was adopted by the Chicago city council two weeks ago.

Hoover Contradicts Figures.

Mr. Moreland did not say the President took any stand with regard to modification. He simply represented him as saying that some of the figures in the Chicago resolution were erroneous.

This started speculation as to whether the President has received any figures on the matter from members of his Cabinet.

Recently Secretary of Agriculture Hyde announced that he had ordered his department to make a study to determine just how a return of beer and wine would affect the economic situation in the country.

Newton Collected Data.

Before that it was revealed that Walter Newton, secretary to President Hoover, had called on the Bureau of the Census to supply him with figures as to the number of persons employed in breweries and as to the value of brewery products in preprohibition days. These figures, Mr. Newton explained at the time, were not for the President.

Argument of vets like Representative Leonidas Dyer (Republican), of Missouri, is that the legalization of beer would aid the farmers by increasing the demand for hops; would increase revenue for the Federal Government, the States and municipalities by a billion dollars and would create a million and a half new jobs.

Drys like Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, say that the wets, in presenting these "prosperity" arguments, overlook a number of economic considerations.

Dairy Product Slump Foreseen.

The human stomach, they say, can only hold so much. If it is flush with beer, they point out, then it has no room for dairy products, soft drinks, ice cream, candy and other sweets.

Thus, they conclude, if the brewing industry should be revived, these other industries which have expanded so greatly since prohibition would naturally suffer a slump.

The executive committe of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, which is headed by Mrs. Charles Sabin, announced yesterday that it is making a poll of members of Congress, asking each one whether he or she will support a resolution recommending submission of the prohibition question to conventions in the various States.

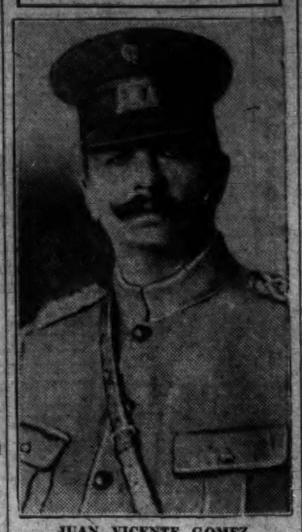
Women Rivals Meet.

The organization met here last April, adopted a resolution calling for a change in prohibition, and, after a march to the White House, presented it to President Hoover.

A few days before this, a delegation representing a rival organization, the Women's National Commission for Law Enforcement, had called on the President.

With respect to beer, this latter organization contended that "90 per cent of drunkenness before prohibition was beer drunkenness," and that "a beer drunkard is a terrible spectacle."

CRUSHES REVOLT



JUAN VICENTE GOMEZ, President of Venezuela.

VENEZUELAN REVOLT NIPPED; ARMS TAKEN

(Associated Press.)

The Venezuelan Legation announced late yesterday revolutionary forces led by Gen. Urbina had been crushed in a decisive clash near Corro.

The commander and a handful of his men escaped to the mountains, the legation was advised in an official communique from the Venezuelan foreign office.

Ammunition and other supplies were confiscated.

Legation officials said they understood Urbina had been in Mexico organizing his attack for several months.

They identified him as a man who was tried for murder in Venezuela but escaped to Colombia in 1928. When the Venezuelan supreme court requested his extradition, they said, he fled and in 1929, with 20 men, captured Curacao. Taking a couple of hundred men, he organized an expedition against Corro, Venezuela, using a captured American vessel. His men were mostly refinery workers from Curacao.

The expedition failed, legation officials recalled, when a band of Venezuelans defeated Urbina and forced him again to flee to the mountains. He later made his way in disguise to Panama and Mexico.

The statement issued last night by the legation said: "The Venezuelan Legation has been informed officially that Rafael Urbina landed near Corro, Venezuela, was completely defeated by the government forces and ran away with a few followers. The steamship Superior and all of the munitions landed by the revolutionists are now in the possession of the Venezuelan government.

Niehaus, Baseball Star, Dies in Cincinnati

Cincinnati, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Al Niehaus, former first baseman for the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League, died of pneumonia late today. He was ill two days.

Niehaus first played with the Louisville American Association Club, coming to the Reds from there. After three years he went to the Pirates, and from there to Nashville and Chattanooga in the Southern Association. He did not play last season.

HOOVER TO GIVE PREMIER LAVAL FULL INITIATIVE

President Not to Hand Visitor Any Program for Acceptance.

PARIS PRESS RUMOR IS OFFICIALLY DENIED

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson yesterday expressed the common hope that the fullest exchange of views on every subject will be possible in the forthcoming visit of Premier Pierre Laval of France.

This statement was intended to controvert the rumors appearing in the French press that a "cut and dried program" will be handed to the French Premier for his acceptance or rejection.

Nothing is further from the thoughts of either the President or his Secretary of State.

It was stressed in an official announcement of the State Department that the United States regards Premier Laval as a guest of the Nation. In that capacity he would naturally be treated with all the consideration and courtesy that a guest receives from a host.

Will Have Initiative.

Therefore the initiative for discussion will always be given M. Laval. He will be invited to unfold the ideas of his government on any and all the political and economic questions that are of common interest to the United States and France.

The more pressing problems of war debts, reparations, gold standard, disarmament will undoubtedly play a prominent problem in the discussions. However, it was believed that the statement today indicates most definitely that the United States will scrupulously refrain from introducing any of those post-war problems of the Treaty of Versailles, such as the question of the Polish corridor.

It always has been the contention of the United States that any settlement of the purely Continental problems that may have arisen in the wake of the Versailles Treaty are matters for exclusive European handling. The visit Secretary Stimson paid to the various European capitals this summer is said to have convinced him of the necessity of this attitude.

Text of Statement.

The full statement of the President and Secretary Stimson follows:

"Fear has apparently been expressed in some quarters of the French press that when Mr. Laval arrives here on his visit he will be presented by the President with a cut and dried

Lifer in Minnesota Claims Kin to Royalty

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Freedom for a State prison life term inmate who claims relationship with a former Montenegrin queen was asked of the State pardon board today.

He is John Vukovich, convicted in 1918 for killing a man living at his Duluth rooming house. He told the board he was a cousin of the wife of former King Nicholas I, and that the killing followed what he believed was an attempt to break up his home.

Pratt Asks Informer Fund And Pawnshop Legalization

Increased Force and Rule Making All Policemen Dry Agents Are in List of Ten Recommendations in Annual Report.

Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, yesterday recommended to the District Commissioners that his force be enlarged; that all policemen be empowered to act as dry agents; that money be appropriated to hire paid informers, and that pawnbrokers be legalized in Washington.

These and ten other recommendations were attached to his annual report for the year ended June 30 last. Among the other proposals were that police be given control and freedom of entry into all clubs, whether incorporated or not, and that the Gilbert bill dealing with regulation of bondsmen be enacted. He also revived his requests for new laws governing vagrancy and the sale of dangerous weapons.

Maj. Pratt urged "as a matter of most urgent necessity the enactment of legislation providing for an increase over a three-year period in the Metropolitan Police force to a minimum of 1,500 patrolmen. There are now 1,174 privates.

The personnel of the detective bureau, he said, should be increased to at least 100 men. These would be divided into two grades, "40 of whom should be raised as second-grade, or probationary, detective sergeants with additional compensation equal to one-half the additional compensation paid detective sergeants." This plan would permit assignment of detectives to special jobs, and at the same time leave an adequate force always available, the superintendent explained.

An appropriation of $10,000 is asked for procuring evidence by the use of informers in the enforcement of vice, liquor and gambling laws. The expenditures would be approved by the Commissioners upon recommendation of the superintendent of police.

Such legislation should contain "a definite provision setting forth clearly the fact that any part of the appropriation may be used either for the purchase of evidence or for the payment of informers, both of which procedures are absolutely essential to even the slightest measure of success in securing a reasonably effective enforcement of the laws referred to," Maj. Pratt said.

The practice of using paid informers was recently ordered abolished by the superintendent, however, after David A. Hart, Police Court prosecutor for the United States attorney's office, had discarded paid informers as witnesses.

Other recommendations are for establishment of a farm or farms to which drug addicts might be sent until cured, the addition of eight radio-equipped automobiles, increasing ap-

Drastic Act Passes First Dail Reading

Dublin, Oct. 14 (U.P.).—The government of President William T. Cosgrave was believed tonight to have staked its life on the president's new bill for drastic measures against terrorism and revolutionary movements. The bill was approved on its first reading in the Dail, 82 to 64.

The bill would establish military courts in cases of terrorism by gunmen or rebellion. The government was said to have threatened to resign if the bill is rejected.

BRUISES ON WOMAN START DEATH INQUIRY

Mysterious bruises and marks on the body of an elderly woman who was found dead at her residence at 1006 I street northwest early yesterday morning, which Deputy Coroner Joseph D. Rogers said would "need explaining," last night brought the homicide squad into the case.

The woman, Mrs. Katie Knox, 60 years old, was discovered in a rear bedroom on the second floor of the house about 8 o'clock yesterday morning by Miss Blanche Clarke and R. L. Petter, roomers at the house. They called Emergency Hospital, and a physician of the hospital staff pronounced the woman dead.

At that time no suspicious circumstances were discovered in the death. An autopsy was performed at the Morgue last night and revealed the mysterious bruises and lacerations on the woman's body.

Dr. Rogers said he would make no statement regarding the cause of the death until the police had investigated. Detective Sergt. Robert Barrett was assigned to the case and was endeavoring to find something tangible at an early hour this morning.

Du Pont Factories Plan 6-Hour Day

Relief of Unemployment to Be Accomplished by Larger Personnel.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 14 (U.P.).—A plan for relieving unemployment by inaugurating a 6-hour day in its plants and thereby making room for more workers, is to be put into force at once by the Depont company, it was announced today.

The plan will not be undertaken throughout the country at the present time, but will be in force in the Dupont Rayon Co. and the Dupont Celliophane Co., which employ the largest number of workers.

The plants of the two affected companies are at Buffalo, N. Y.; Richmond and Waynesboro, Va., and Old Hickory, Tenn. They employ, altogether, about 10,000 persons. Reduction in the working hours will make it possible, officials said, to add from 10 to 15 per cent more names to the pay rolls.

Dorothy Vare Is Wed To Thomas R. Hulme

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Dorothy Vare, daughter of the late State Senator Edwin H. Vare, was married today to Thomas R. Hulme, son of the vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Allegation Hurled in Meeting of Legislature Starts Row.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 14 (U.P.).—Charges of attempted bribery in connection with passage of a highway audit bill tonight has thrown the lower house of Arkansas' General Assembly into turmoil.

The allegations, hurled from the floor of the House of Representatives by Representative J. M. Permenter, precipitated a spirited discussion during which fisticuffs barely were averted.

Gaining the floor, Permenter charged he "was approached on the subject." Shouting noisily, he told the House that a man, whom he refused to name, offered "to give me $50 if I would vote 'yea.'"

Pangborn and Herndon Spend Night at Omaha

Omaha, Nebr., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Hugh Herndon, jr., and Clyde Pangborn, who flew across the Pacific Ocean in one hop, landed here at 5:56 p. m., Central standard time, after a nonstop flight from Spokane, Wash. They will stay here overnight.

ALL CABINET RESIGNS; NEW GROUP FORMED

Riots Are Begun by Madrid Reds; Revolt Threats Heard in North.

Madrid, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Niceto Alcala Zamora, who has served as provincial president of Spain since the ousting of King Alfonso XIII six months ago, resigned with his cabinet today and was succeeded within a few hours by Manuel Azana, his minister of war.

The formal transfer of power will take place at noon tomorrow. At the same time the new cabinet, which, with two exceptions, is the same as Alcala Zamora's will be sworn in.

The shift in government resulted from the measures restricting religious orders that have been included by the assembly in the constitution under which Republican Spain will be governed, and it was accompanied by spectacular street demonstrations.

Bands of Communists and anti-Clericals roamed the streets of Madrid tonight, singing the "Red Flag" and shouting "down with the Catholic Church" and "death to all Jesuits."

Revolt Threats Heard.

Most intense excitement prevailed as a consequence of the bitter parliamentary fight over the status of the church and of ecclesiastical organizations in the new-born republic.

The situation was laden with dangerous possibilities and there were strong threats of revolt in the north, where the church adherents are strong, against the constitutional provisions separating state and church and regulating religious orders.

The government was flooded with telegrams of protest, some of them opposing the religious measures, others accusing the ministry of having been too lenient in not expelling religious organizations from the country.

The attitude that will be taken by the Basque and Navarre deputies, whose constituencies are strongly Catholic, remained uncertain.

In Madrid police engaged in running fights with Communists and anti-Clericals, clubbing twelve or more into insensibility in the Puerta Del Sol. Twenty Communists were arrested in the Plaza Cibeles.

Enthusiasm for Republic.

Crowds of thousands attempted to force their way into the Chamber of Deputies during the deliberations, which ended with the selection of Señor Azana as the nation's second provisional president, but police held them in check.

While the most violent factional antagonisms were evident everywhere there were intense enthusiasm for the republic. Once during the assembly diliberations, the proceedings were halted to allow the deputies and the galleries to shout, "Viva la Republica!"

Wabash Railroad President Is Dead

W. H. Williams, of New York, Was Former Official of Pennsylvania.

St. Louis, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—William H. Williams, 57, of New York, who was elected president of the Wabash Railroad September 10, died at Coronado Hotel here this afternoon from a heart attack suffered last night.

Williams, also chairman of the board of directors of the railroad since 1915, was here on business, where the operating headquarters of the railroad is located. He was elected president when James E. Taussig, of St. Louis, resigned.

Born in Athens, Ohio, Williams was educated in the public schools of Toledo and the Beaver Valley Pen Art Hall, of Beaver Falls, Pa. He began his railroad career in 1890 with the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Edison Becoming Harder to Arouse

Inventor Has Drunk Nothing Since Last Friday, His Doctor Reports.

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Thomas A. Edison was less easily aroused this afternoon, his son, Charles, said in a bulletin at 4 p. m.

"Aside fom that there seems to be no pronounced change," the statement added.

Mr. Edison has been able to eat only six spoonfuls of pears since last Friday and has drunk nothing since then, Dr. Hubert S. Howe reported. The physician commented in his morning bulletin, however, that "nothing new has developed to cause immediate concern."

JAPAN KEEPS AMERICA FROM LEAGUE PARLEY IN MANCHURIAN CRISIS

SHIDEHARA INSISTENT ON NATION'S STAND

Tokyo Cabinet Reiterates Statement Negotiations Are Invited.

London, Thursday, Oct. 15 (A.P.).—A dispatch to the London Daily Express from Mukden, Manchuria, today said that 7 were killed yesterday in a sharp fight which occurred when 150 Japanese troops, patrolling the railway zone between Hsinmen and Mukden encountered 300 Chinese bandits.

Tokyo, Thursday, Oct. 15 (U.P.).—The Japanese war office was informed today that the train carrying L. E. Salisbury and G. C. Hanson, observors for the United States, from Chinchow to Mukden, Manchuria, had been forced to return to Chinchow because of bandits. The Americans were said to be proceeding to Yingkow. Salisbury is third secretary of the United States Embassy here, and Hanson is U. S. Consul at Harbin, Manchuria.

Break Off Discussions.

Tokyo, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Japan and China broke off preliminary discussions today for the peaceable settlement of the controversy over military occupation of Manchuria by the Japanese.

China ordered its minister, Chiang Tso-Pin, to cease conversations with Baron Shidehara, Japanese foreign minister. The two officials had been considering the opening of direct negotiations between their governments.

The Chinese government was said to have feared the talks might be misconstrued to indicate China had yielded in her contention that before direct negotiations could take place with Japan, the latter's troops should give up Manchurian districts they seized September 18.

Holds Position Firmly.

On his part, Shidehara firmly stated Japan's position that Japanese soldiers would remain in Manchuria until China gave assurance Japanese lives and property would be protected.

How to save its "face" worried China. Chiang asserted China's face was lost when Japanese troops occupied numerous strategic cities outside the zone of the Japanese-owned South Manchurian Railway after one day of fighting with Chinese soldiers a month ago.

Shidehara answered that unless China thought less about its "face," a long time would pass before relations improved between the two countries.

Meanwhile, a foreign office spokesman announced that the Japanese

Plan in Rhode Island Would Tax All Luxuries

Providence, R. I., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—A tax of 10 per cent on all meals costing more than $1, served in public eating places, and on all theater and amusement tickets, regardless of cost, as well as taxes on residence telephone, electric light and gas bills, is provided in the Republican unemployment relief program presented today by Finance Commissioner Frederick S. Peck for discussion at a meeting of the Republican executive committee.

Under the plan, telephone, gas and electric bills of $3 per month or less would be taxed 5 cents and those over $3 would be taxed 10 cents

LEAGUE INVITATION TO U. S. IS DELAYED

Japanese Leader Dissenting, in Face of Full Council, Tokyo Is Asked.

Geneva, Switzerland, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The League of Nations council, operating from the hotel sitting room of Aristide Briand, decided today to invite the United States to participate in its attempts to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Sino-Japanese controversy in Manchuria.

Japan's representative objected to the plan of asking American help, and the council agreed to await an official statement from the Tokio government in the hope that this opposition would be withdrawn.

The formal invitation to the American Government to send a representative to sit at the council table was, therefore, withheld tonight pending authoritative word from Japan, whose troops now occupy strategic points in Manchuria.

While official information was lacking, it was understood from excellent sources that Prentiss B. Gilbert, United States Consul General at Geneva, had been authorized on receipt of the council's unanimous invitation to take his place at the league's executive table in a consultative capacity.

There was much anxious speculation concerning the probable contents of the Tokyo reply, but the opinion prevailed in league circles that the council was competent and ready to invite the United States even over Japanese opposition.

It was universally desired, however, that the invitation be unanimously

"Ex-Wife" Author Wed To Brooklyn Banker

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Ursula Parrott, the former college girl whose novel, "Ex-Wife," caught public fancy, deserted the ranks of "ex-wives" today. She was married in the municipal building to Charles T. Greenwood, Brooklyn banker.

She and her first husband, Lindesay Parrott, newspaperman, were divorced in January. A son, now 7 years old, was born of that marriage.

Capone Witnesses Say Races Took All Beer Baron's Cash

Bookmakers Called in Racketeer's Income Tax Trial Assert "Al" Dropped $200,000 Betting on Horses in 4 Years; Losses Claimed Deductible.

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Al Capone was "a sucker for the races," it was testified at his income tax trial today by half a dozen "bookies" who said they won thousands of dollars from him—and that he always paid without complaint.

The defense called the bookmakers with the intent to show that Capone's gambling losses kept him so poor that he had no income left on which to pay taxes. Such losses, defense attorneys Michael Ahern and Albert Fink maintain, are deductible from income tax returns.

Several of the bookmakers admitted they were embarrassed by having to reveal their business. George Liedermann was forced to acknowledge that he now is running a gambling house on the North Side under the direction of George "Bugs" Moran, seven of whose followers were massacred St. Valentine's Day in 1929. Liedermann even had to give the address.

The sum total of the evidence was that Capone lost about $25,000 in 1924, $47,000 in 1925, $55,000 in 1926, and $90,000 in 1927. The total, therefore was well above $200,000. And there were about a dozen bookmakers waiting in the corridor to tell of additional wagering.

The bookmakers who testified agreed that Al almost always lost, paid his obligations promptly and usually came back next day to make more bets. His credit was good and he could bet one day and pay the next.

The only other witness was Peter H. Penovich, jr., who managed places in Cicero for several years. Penovich was subpenaed by the Government, but when the prosecution failed to call him, the defense summoned him to the stand.

"I was running my own gambling place in Cicero in 1926, but it was small and I figured I'd never get any place," Penovich related, "so I asked Ralph Capone (elder brother of the defendant) how about opening up in a better location.

"Ralph said he'd fix it with the authorities, but to wait until after the election, and I did. Then he took Negotiations Deadlocked Due to Attitude in Tokyo.

STIMSON SEES EFFORT NULLIFIED BY STAND

Oriental Delegate Is Noncommittal to Briand Over Approval.

Negotiations for the settlement of the Chinese-Japanese clash in Manchuria were at a standstill yesterday due to the attitude of the Japanese government. The foreign office at Tokyo had, up to a late hour last night, failed to signify its consent to the presence in the league council of the American unofficial observer Prentiss Gilbert at Geneva.

Secretary Stimson found his efforts to cooperate with the league nullified by the delay of the Japanese government. The United States, it was indicated from authoritative sources, will not participate in the council's peace-making endeavors unless full and unconditional approval of the American participation is assured.

Delegate Noncommittal.

Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, whose magnetic eloquence once before soothed the war clamor of Greece and Bulgaria, was unable to elicit from the Japanese delegate at Geneva, Kenkichi Yoshizawa, anything more definite than a promise to communicate immediately with his government for instructions.

Diplomatic agencies of the United States were forced to mark time pending the receipt of the Japanese reply to M. Briand. Secretary Stimson declined to make any statement on the situation.

Prentiss Gilbert, the American Consul General in Geneva, was in contact with the Secretary frequently. The situation was not so tense as to require transatlantic telephone messages which had figured prominently in the transmission of State Department orders in the last three days.

Americans Reluctant.

The American authorities are reluctant to take advantage of any technicalities of the league covenant to secure the participation in the league's council discussions. American participation and cooperation was spontaneously offered by the State Department in an unprecedented effort of this Government to solve a worldwide diplomatic problem and anything less than the same spirit of acceptance in all league quarters would be regarded as contrary to the spirit of Secretary Stimson's offer.

Dispatches were received from the American Minister at Peiping, Nelson T. Johnson, who arrived at Nanking for consultation with the officials of the Government there. The tenor of these dispatches was not made public. The tendency of the various elements of hitherto recalcitrant Chinese groups to forget their differences and unite against a common foe was interpreted here as indicative of a new spirit in China and one which would add fresh difficulties to the situation.

(Associated Press.)

Convinced that the forces of organized peace have met a critical test in the Japanese-Chinese discussions at Geneva, the American Government is prepared to put aside its role of observer and pull up a chair at the League of Nations' council table.

A nonmember, the United States proposes to take no part in discussions of the obligations of Japan and China under the league covenant, but the American participation will be full-fledged and unstinted in the league's effort to invoke against the two warring Oriental nations the American-sponsored Kellogg-Briand treaty outlawing war.

The step is one which administration officials realize may lead to controversy—and indeed the rumblings and questionings became audible yesterday as soon as the purpose of the Government was disclosed. On Capitol Hill, where more than one senator has made an issue of American independence of the league, eager re-

PRESIDENT TO MAKE RADIO PLEA FOR IDLE

Hoover Week-End Trip to Include Celebration at Yorktown.

President Hoover's trip to Yorktown, Va., this week-end will be broken Sunday night long enough for him to broadcast a radio speech calling on the Nation to contribute generously toward relief funds for the victims of unemployment.

The President and members of his party will leave here late Saturday for Annapolis, Md., where they will board the battleship Arkansas.

The battleship will cruise around in and just outside of Chesapeake Bay until shortly before 6 o'clock Sunday, when it will anchor off Old Point Comfort, Va.

To Talk at Old Point.

The President will go ashore at Old Point in a small boat, proceed to Fort Monroe, which is located on the point, and there make his radio appeal in behalf of the sufferers from unemployment. He will start talking about 6 o'clock and his remarks will be broadcast throughout the country.

Thus, the President will be making good on the promise he made to Walter S. Gifford when the latter was made head of the Organization for Unemployment Relief.

"The whole force of the administration is at your disposal," the President said at that time.

The Nation-wide drive for funds to help the unemployed and their dependants will last from October 19 to November 25. All money raised in the campaign will go into non-Government relief funds, but the President's relief organization, through the press, the radio, and means of the motion picture screen, will aid considerably.

Will Go to Yorktown.

President Hoover, as soon as he has delivered his radio appeal Sunday evening, will again board the Arkansas, and renew the journey to Yorktown.

The battleship will anchor in the York River opposite the town of Yorktown early Monday morning. First, the President will receive Rear Admiral A. L. Willard, commanding officer of the Scouting Fleet. A half-hour later, he will welcome Marshal Petain and a group of French naval officers, including Rear Admiral Descottes Genon, Capt. Brohan, and Capt. Lacroix.

The President will leave the battleship for Yorktown at about 10:30 o'clock and will then proceed to the field whereon the sesquicentennial of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis will be celebrated with a pageant.

He will be met at the pageant field by Gov. Garland Pollard of Virginia and the members of the Yorktown sesquicentennial commission.

He will make his speech commemorating the battle that ended the Revolutionary War at 11 o'clock, and this, like the Sunday evening appeal, will be broadcast over a national hook-up.

Luncheon Will Be Held.

The President then will repair to a tent that has been prepared for him, and after a brief rest will sit down to luncheon with some of the international celebrities who are now converging on Yorktown.

The luncheon will be presided over by Senator Claude Swanson, of Virginia.

After luncheon the President will again retire to his tent and receive Marshal Petain, Gen. John J. Pershing and others.

Then will come the pageant, a feature of which will be a reenactment of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis to Gen. Washington's army.

The return trip will be started between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and the Arkansas will arrive at Annapolis Tuesday morning. The trip to and from Annapolis will be made in automobiles.

Credit Plan Copies Mailed to Banks

Organization Committee Sends Out Applications to Members.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The organization committee for the National Credit Corporation tonight mailed copies of the proposed plan of organization and operation of that company and subscription blanks for the corporations' debentures to clearing houses throughout the United States.

The plan sets forth the limit of liability of each member bank in respect of its own obligations. Conditions under which advances may be made by the corporation to any association in excess of the aggregate note subscriptions by the members of the association are defined.

Each of twelve directors of the corporation will undertake the responsibility of organizing the associations in his respective Federal Reserve District.

Hurley Praises Hoover, Greatest Peace Leader

Honolulu, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, in a luncheon address here today, described President Hoover as the "greatest leader for peace among the nations of the earth."

Mr. Hurley did not comment on the political situation in the Philippines, an investigation of which he conducted recently in behalf of the administration. The Secretary is a visitor here between boats, en route from Manila to Washington.

By JOHN J. DALY

An energetic corps of prosecutors is busily engaged writing into the court records all the romantic activities of Al Capone, the Baron Bung, of Chicago.

Such tidy little items as haberdashery bills are presented, and these go to show that the Wise Guy of the West wears silk undies that cost $24 a suit, neckties priced at $12 each, collars at $2 and handkerchiefs at $2.75. The sartorial splendor of the man of money is the criterion showing what the well-dressed gangster will wear.

Imagine Solomon suddenly appearing in America—Solomon in all his so-called glory—and being met at Fire Island by the bevy of New York ships' reporters; for undoubtedly Solomon would come in by sea, crossing the Acheron by motor boat and then the Atlantic on a modern liner.

After Solomon had been asked how he liked America, what he thought of prohibition and the hundred and one questions ship news reporters shoot at distinguished visitors, 'twould be the ancient King of Israel's turn to grow inquisitive:

"Who is this man Capone?" he would ask, and that subject being brought up, the boys would, quite naturally, tell of all the magnificence that surrounds the baron—his personal accoutrement, his Palm Beach estates, his yachts; and one of the lady reporters, a style expert, would let a roving eye fall upon the garments of Solomon—Solomon, the erstwhile magnificent. There and then would be seen the contrast between the Old World and the New; for Solomon in all his glory would look like the Mahatma Gandhi, in his loincloth, compared to Al Capone, with his high hat, his neatly tailored morning clothes, his silk socks, patent leather shoes, spats and boutonnier.

Of course, it would be quite diffgrent if the king should bring with him all his women folk. In that case, the ship news men might imagine him a competitor of either Earl Carroll, the Earl of the East Fifties, or the Lord Flo Ziegfeld, getting ready for a new Broadway revue.

Here would be a personification of the ancient biblical phrase that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these Lilies, who toil not neither do they spin.

Solomon, though, in this day and generation, if he were a wise man, as the records say he was, would leave behind his women folk on a trip to America.

When Al Capone goes forth on the highways and the byways, he travels in state, but he travels alone, when he comes, like Young Lochinvar, out of the West; which is to say, he leaves the girls behind him. As a well dressed man, as one who pays fabulous prices for his sartorial splendor, he does not want it all dimmed by one flash of fair femininity. Thus Capone, the wise guy, is foxier than Solomon, the wise man.

There were probably no gangsters in Israel—or, if there were, they did not have their rackets systematized like the Americans. So, Solomon would have some difficulty chiming and comparing the two civilizations; an ancient life that paid little or no attention to what the male of the species wore, and a modern America that is interested to the point of anxiety over what the well dressed gangster will wear this year and next.

SHIPS OFF TO GREET YORKTOWN VISITORS

French Cruisers to Have Convoy; Gen. Pershing Will Meet Petain.

Yorktown, Va., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The pride of the scouting force steamed to sea tonight to extend the first American greeting to Marshal Henri Petain and the delegation sent by the French nation to participate in the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Yorktown.

Far out in the Atlantic a seventeen-gun salute will thunder from the turrets of the modern cruisers Augusta, Chester and Pensacola when the French cruisers Suffren and Duquesne appear. A like salute will be fired from the French guns. Then, with the Augusta leading, the French men of war will be convoyed through the capes where 150 years ago Comte de Grasse sailed his French fleet to direct his fire on the besieged British at Yorktown.

Salutes of 21 guns will be exchanged between the foreign vessels and the land batteries at Fort Monroe as anchors are dropped at Old Point Comfort.

Gen. John J. Pershing, representing the United States and the Commonwealth of Virginia, will greet the "savior of Verdun" as the French delegation comes ashore. Among the distinguished French representatives will be Adelbert de Chambrun, great-grandson of the Marquis de Lafayette.

Yorktown bristled with warlike maneuvers today as final preparations were completed for the four-day sesquicentennial observance of the battle.

The formal rehearsal of the pageants, to be staged October 16, 17 and 19, was complete in every detail.

Unveiling of a memorial to England, to be attended by the present Lord Cornwallis, is expected to attract interest as an opening event Friday morning of the sesquicentennial celebration.

Lord Cornwallis, who will attend the celebration as the guest of Virginia, will respond to the presentation speech. The memorial will be unveiled by Mrs. Arthur C. Humphreys, of Norfolk, direct descendant of the British earl, Lord Cornwallis.

The presentation speech will be by Ashton Dovell, of Williamsburg, floor leader of the Virginia House of Delegates and chairman of the Virginia Yorktown commission.

The exercises will be held before the Nelson House, with Gov. Pollard presiding.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 14.—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie will participate in the ceremonies marking the 150th anniversary of Lord Cornwallis' surrender at Yorktown, Va., this week-end.

The governor will sail from Annapolis Friday morning on the yacht Tech, of the State conservation department. He will be accompanied by Brig. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general, and other ranking officials of the Maryland National Guard.

SENATOR GLASS HITS AT CANNON'S ATTACK

Lynchburg, Va., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Senator Carter Glass said today that the public is not much concerned with Bishop James Cannon, jr.'s accusers, but "is concerned to know whether the processes of justice were tampered with in the prosecution and parole of Bishop Cannon's bucket-shop companion, now a convict in a Federal prison."

In a brief reply to a statement made public by Bishop Cannon yesterday with regard to the Goldhurst case and including charges that Senator Glass had been cowardly in that he did not make his statements definite enough to come under the libel laws, the senator said:

"I venture to suggest that if it were conceivably possible in the face of recent disclosures, for anybody to libel Bishop Cannon, he would not know how to go about it." He said he would not "be drawn into competition with Bishop James Cannon, jr., in the use of epithets."

Torrent of Monetary Metal Continues to Flow From United States.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The torrent of monetary gold which has been flowing from New York into the coffers of Europe was swelled by $47,762,400 today.

This brings the total net loss of gold to approximately $568,000,000 since September 1, most of which was taken in the last four weeks, or since the suspension of the gold standard in England sent continental countries scrambling for metal to bolster their own reserves.

In high banking quarters, however, the movement was viewed with equanimity. In some quarters, it was felt that it might cause some further tightening of interest rates, through further increases in the New York Federal Reserve Bank rate.

Shipped to France.

Of the gold transfers announced by the Federal Reserve Bank today, the bulk, or $42,000,000, was for France. At the same time, Wall street was interested in the visit to the Reserve Bank of two representatives of the Bank of France, while at almost the same time, it was reported from Paris that W. Randolph Burgess, deputy governor of the New York Reserve Bank, was conferring with Clement Moret, governor of the Bank of France. It was said at the Reserve Bank that the visit of Charles Farquer and Robert LaCour-Gayet, of the Bank of France, who arrived in New York yesterday, was only to discuss "mutual problems."

Discussing the fact that dollar exchange had been at a discount in some foreign centers, notably Paris, international bankers here explained that there had been considerable bearish speculation abroad in dollars, largely resulting from a misunderstanding of emergency measures being taken in this country, such as the forming of the huge credit corporation to aid interior banks. It was widely predicted that Parisian speculators short on the dollar would get their fingers severely burned.

Bankers explained that the bulk of the gold shipments from this country have not been based upon favorable trade balances of foreign countries, or profits made possible by foreign exchange levels, but rather on a desire of foreign central banks to build up their gold reserves.

Dollars Are Hoarded.

International bankers say there has also been a tendency among timid capitalists to believe that the dollar is the strongest currency in the world today and to hoard it. Some bankers estimated that American currency hoarded abroad may total $400,000,000 or more.

While latest official figures are several days old, it is now estimated in Wall street that the monetary gold stock in this country is close to $4,500,000,000, and that France's has increased to nearly $2,500,000,000. The two countries control roughly three-fifths of the world's entire supply. It is felt here that Franco-American banking discussions in both Paris and New York may deal with such policies as the two gold wealthy nations should pursue to stabilize world monetary conditions.

Murdered Woman Found Slain Near Sacramento

Sacramento, Calif., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The body of a woman identified as that of Mrs. Alice Richie, who has been missing from her home here since last September 29, was found today beside a bridge ten miles from Sacramento. The woman, apparently murdered, had been dead about ten days.

U. S. Effort to Get Austria To Quit Germany Revealed

Volume of Secret Archives of 1917, Made Public by State Department, Opens Another Chapter of World War History.

Another unwritten chapter of World War history was disclosed yesterday when State Department archives revealed that the United States was prepared to bring about a separate peace between the allies and Austria-Hungary on virtually Austria-Hungary's own terms. This was told in a volume on foreign relations made public by Secretary Stimson.

Hitherto unknown conditions upon which the United States was prepared to treat with the Austrian emperor were approved by the government of Lloyd George and forwarded to Vienna. In this proposal the United States waived that political theory of President Wilson's, the "self-determination of peoples" and was prepared to sacrifice the aspirations of Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Hungary in order to secure secession of the Austrian empire from the struggle.

This order was contained in instructions dispatched to American Ambassador Walter Hines Page in London for submission to the British government:

"The President knows that peace is intensely desired by the Teutonic powers, and much more by Austria than by any of her allies because the situation is becoming for many reasons much graver for her than for the others. He is trying to avoid breaking with Austria in order to keep the channels of official intercourse with her open so that he may use her for peace.

"The chief if not the only obstacle is the threat apparently contained in the peace terms recently stated by the entente allies that in case they succeeded they would insist upon a virtual dismemberment of the Austro-Hungarian empire. Austria needs only to be reassured on that point, and that chiefly with regard to the older units of the empire.

"It is the President's view that the large measure of autonomy already secured to these older units is a sufficient guaranty of peace and stability in that part of Europe so far as national and racial influences are concerned and that what Austria regards as the necessities of her development, opportunity, and security to the south of her can be adequately and satisfactorily secured to her by rights of way to the sea given by the common guaranty of the concert which must in any case be arranged if the future peace of the world is to be assured.

"He does not doubt that Austria can be satisfied without depriving the several Balkan states of their political autonomy and territorial integrity."

On the basis of the British government's reply, the following confidential instructions were cabled to American Ambassador Frederick Courtland Penfield on February 22, 1917:

"When there is opportunity for you to see the minister of foreign affairs alone you may say to him, provided the occasion seems suitable, that you have received information from the highest authority which convinces you that in arranging terms of peace the allied governments have no desire or purpose to disrupt the Austro-Hungarian Empire by the separation of Hungary and Bohemia from Austria unless a continuance of the war causes a change of conditions.

"That undoubtedly a definite assurance of this might be obtained through this Government if the Austrian government, indicating a desire for an early peace, wished that you should act secretly to that end; and that you would be pleased to convey to this Government any comments, suggestions or proposals in regard to this subject which the Austrian government may be pleased to make, it being understood that whatever exchanges may take place will be treated in the strictest confidence."

Another important feature of the volume is the negotiation and preparatory steps that led up to the declaration of war against Germany by most of the Latin-American countries with the notable exceptions of Argentina and Chile.

Argentina took the initiative in calling a conference of the American states with a view toward expressing the sympathy of the Argentine government toward the United States and the allies. Frederic Jesup Stimson, the American Ambassador to the Argentine, sent a telegram to Secretary of State Lansing:

"The minister of foreign affairs called me to his office this afternoon to ask if my Government would look with sympathy on a conference of neutral American nations to come to an understanding on their attitude toward the war, which reference excluded the United States. He stated that he expected that said congress would come to an agreement morally favoring the United States and allies much like the last Argentine note to the United States."

Panama severed relations with Germany in a note that was tantamount to a declaration of war on April 7. On the same day Cuba promptly followed the American example, which had declared a state of war with Germany on April 6.

Brazil severed diplomatic relations with Germany April 11, Bolivia, April 13, and Guatemala on April 27.

The famous "spurlos versenkt" (sunk without a trace) recommendation from the German charge d'affaires at Buenos Aires, Count Luxburg, caused the Argentine government to hand him his passports, although Argentina never declared war on Germany.

This recommendation was contained in a telegram from the German diplomat to his government:

"This government (Argentina) has now released German and Austrian ships in which hitherto a guard had been placed. Government will in future only clear Argentine ships as far as Las Palmas. I beg that the small steamers Oran and Guazu, which are now nearing Bordeaux with a view to change the flag, may be spared, if possible, or else sunk without a trace being left (spurlos versenkt)."

the status of the church. He was willing to see Spain adopt article III (3) of the constitution, which ended the long and close association of church and state and made of each a separate entity, but he objected to the amended article XXIV, which drastically restricted the activities of church orders and subjected Jesuits to expulsion.

Collegues Also Quit.

When the amended article passed over his head he resolved to submit his resignation. He communicated this decision to his cabinet and, after a brief debate, his colleagues resolved to resign with him.

During the afternoon the cabinet met at the home of Indalecio Prieto, minister of finance. Julian Besteiro, president of the Chamber of Deputies, was summoned, and he discussed the crisis with the ministers.

When the chamber met, Senor Besteiro and Alejandro Lerroux, foreign minister, explained the developments to the members, Senor Lerroux halting in the middle of his speech to call for cheers for the republic.

In the bedlam which ensued there were repeated cheers for Senor Lerroux as the next president of the republic.

Minority leaders assembled outside the assembly chamber, however, and selected not Lerroux, but Azana as the new head of the state. Senor Besteiro was notified of their decision and he conveyed the nomination to the assembly.

Under the new Spanish constitution, a retiring president vests his powers with the president of the cortes (assembly), who asks the advice of the former opposition group to nominate his successor.

In this case, the first ever to arise in which the plan was put to an actual working test, Senor Besteiro was given the name of Senor Azana. He laid it before the assembly and, as no dissenting voice was raised, he declared the nominee elected.

The new president-designate immediately gave the names of his ministry, in which there were only two changes and one new name. Jose Giralt is the newcomer, with the post of minister of marine. Casares Quiroga, who had the marine portfolio, becomes minister of interior, in place of Miguel Maura. Senor Azana will retain his post as minister of war.

Urges Equal Rights.

Alcala Zamora's resignation was interpreted tonight as a political sacrifice in defense of his frequently repeated contention that the new republic should lean to the right, after the example of the United States and France.

In all his dealings with the church during the troublesome incidents growing out of the clash between Cardinal Primate Pedro Segura y Saenz and the new government, and the church burnings last May, he has reiterated the belief that the Catholic church, as well as every other genuinely Spanish institution, should be offered full guarantees under the republic and that Catholics should have equal rights with other faiths.

The resigned president, one of the venerable figures of the revolutionary movement, was understood to have drafted an amendment to article XXIV to present to yesterday's assembly, but he withdrew it when he learned the intention of Basque and Navarre Catholics to fight compromise to the bitter end.

Bilbao, Spain, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Civil Gov. Castro resigned tonight in protest against the adoption of article 24, religious clause in the new Spanish constitution, by the National Assembly.

New Spanish Cabinet As Realigned by Azana

Minister of public instruction and fine arts—Marcelino Domingo San-Juan, Radical-Republican-Socialist coalition.

Minister of labor—Francisco Largo Camallero, Socialist.

Minister of finance—Indalecio Prieto Tuero, Socialist.

Vatican Drafts Protest At Spanish Law's Tone

Vatican City, Oct. 14 (U.P.).—The Vatican was drafting a note to Spain tonight protesting against the distinctly anti-Catholic character of the measure passed by the Spanish Constitutional Assembly providing for separation of church and state. The note will be dispatched immediately, it was understood.

Convention in Wild Disorder as President Green Reverses Stand.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Amid scenes of disorder the American Federation of Labor went on record here today as opposed to the establishment of compulsory unemployment insurance in the United States.

Delegates became noisy and milled about the convention hall after a viva voce vote was declared in support of the position of the executive council.

Delegate after delegate previously had declared the federation must adopt unemployment insurance.

Calling upon the federation to "differentiate between the feelings of the heart and the mind," President William Green pleaded with the delegates not to vote for the insurance. He pledged himself to go before the coming Congress "in the name of these suffering millions to demand without further delay appropriation of sufficient money, whether it be millions or billions, to feed the hungry."

President Green asserted attempts to obtain compulsory unemployment insurance at this time would be disastrous.

A broad nine-point program to cure unemployment ills was adopted today by the American Federation of Labor in convention here. Individual plans designed to relieve specific phases of the economic situation were discarded.

The relief program, advanced by the federation's executive council, would maintain wages, shorten working hours, assure employment to minimum work forces, ask each employer to take on additional workers, create work through public building.

A. S. Alifas, Washington, moved to put the A. F. O. L. on record as favoring immediate Federal appropriations, saying the Republican administration "appears to be trying to relieve unemployment by curtailing public works."

AID FOR IDLE IN OHIO IS SOUGHT BY COX

Greater Localization of Funds Asked to Solve Social Problems.

Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio tonight urged greater localizing of resources and efforts toward overcoming the financial and social problems of the day.

He spoke before Dayton's committee of 100, organized into what is claimed as the first purely community movement in support of President Hoover's relief program.

Mr. Cox said that communities should not lean too much on the Federal Government. He described the frozen credit situation as a perplexing problem. He explained the mechanics of banks and building and loan associations with which, he said, the public was unfamiliar.

Turning to chain stores, chain theaters and large corporations and their influence in the present economic scheme, former Gov. Cox said:

"This is the worst disorder, not only the major disorder in Dayton, but the major disorder in the scattered communities of the country.

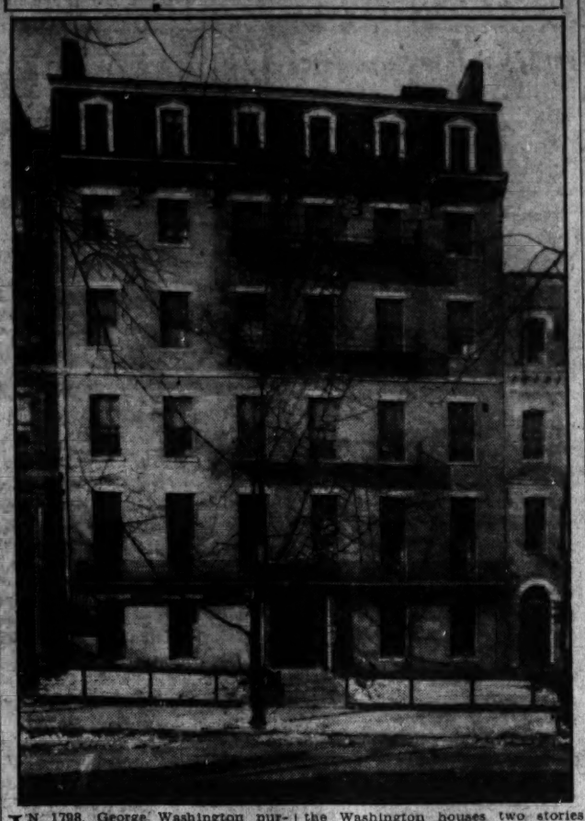
"These institutions must realize that they are a part of the local scheme of things. They do cooperate in community movements, but apparently they are thoughtless of the inevitable result of present policies. * * * Large corporations are disturbing factors. * * * It is true they provide large pay rolls, but something more than public patronage is necessary for their existence. We have heard in the last two years of the alleged unsoundness of the small country bank. * * * The small bank is just as essential as the large one, and it must be preserved."

Chicago Teacher Urges City Close Schools

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—South Side School teachers, after being told today their chances of getting financial relief through bond issues were small, referred to a committee a proposal that the city's schools be closed November 1 for lack of money.

The proposal to close the schools was put forward by Clyde A. Crowley, a teacher, who said that the North Side teachers already had the plan under consideration. By closing the schools, Crowley said, Chicago's citizenry would be made to realize more fully the plight of the teachers, who have not received any pay for several months.

When Washington Was Younger—No. 75



IN 1798, George Washington purchased a plot of ground on North Capitol street between B and C streets and began the erection of two houses. He died before they were completed. The above picture shows a later structure built from the remaining walls of the original house after being burned by the British in 1814.

When work on the Capitol was in progress, in 1851, North Capitol street was cut down 20 feet to make it easier to haul marble from the old Baltimore and Ohio depot. This left the Washington houses two stories above the street level, so two more stories were added to the building and from then on it was used as a hotel.

From 1876 to 1896 it was operated as a hotel by N. J. Hillman, under the name of the Hillman House. In 1899 it was renamed the Kenmore House and since then has been known as the Hotel Burton and the Washington Inn.

It was razed to make way for the underground garage that is being built in the extension of the Capitol grounds.

JAPANESE ARE RELUCTANT OVER U. S. IN LEAGUE PACT

Affects World Court.

Some senators, too, raised the question of what effect the present situation and its outcome may have on adherence to the world court. The Root protocol providing for American entry may be submitted to the Senate for action next session.

For their part Secretary Stimson and his State Department colleagues believe this is one case where no responsible government could afford to hold back.

It is the first time the elaborate machinery of peace reared after the great war has faced such a test involving major powers. If the Kellogg-Briand treaty renouncing war ever is to be put on a basis of practical operation, many diplomatic officials feel now is the time to do it.

Furthermore, the peace machinery of the league itself is on trial, and the American Government wants no well-intentioned effort at peace to fail.

Prentiss Gilbert, American consul general at Geneva, has already been authorized by the State Department to accept an invitation to join the league's discussions should one be extended.

An obstacle to American participation was seen yesterday in word from Geneva that the Japanese had opposed such an invitation. Even though the league's council should disregard this objection, which was indicated, officials here felt this country would not participate without Japan's acquiescense.

Observer Vanishes.

If the United States should go into the league's effort to end hostilities in Manchuria, it would be the second time in four months that it has joined a conference of European powers on a basis of full participation. Its historic role of an observer was abandoned in the meeting of ministers at London following the announcement of the moratorium.

Nanking, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The world's interest in China's diplomatic struggle to release Manchuria from the military grip of Japan was illustrated today by the arrival here, on orders from their home governments, of the American and British ministers to China.

They came from Peiping, ancient capital. The American representative, Nelson T. Johnson, and his bride traveled by train, and the British plenipotentiary, Sir Miles Wedderburn Lampson, came by airplane.

Their arrival was the most important local incident in a day of anxious waiting engendered by the failure of the council of the League of Nations, in session at Geneva, to take definite action in the Manchurian crisis. Nationalist officials seemed to see a hopeful sign in the visits of the two diplomats.

Minister Johnson conferred for an hour with the acting foreign minister, Frank W. Lee, and also paid a formal courtesy call upon President Chiang Kai-Shek. Beyond saying he had been instructed by Washington to come here, he did not reveal his plans.

High Chinese officials indicated they expected much from the conferences next week in Shanghai between peace delegations representing the Nanking and Canton factions of the Nationalist party, between which a rapprochement has been hastened by Japan's action in seizing all important centers in southern Manchuria.

Hu Han-Min, former head of the legislative branch of the Nationalist government, but lately out of favor with President Chiang's regime, left for Shanghai yesterday to greet the Canton delegates, the liberties he lost when he broke with Chiang some months ago having been fully restored.

Spokesmen for the government admitted progress in negotiations with the Cantonese had been discouragingly slow, but said they expected results when the Shanghai conference starts about October 20.

Press dispatches reporting that President Chiang Kai-Shek of China was threatening war with Japan brought from the Chinese Legation today the assertion that he had been misquoted.

The legation also dismissed as "Japanese propaganda" dispatches from Tokyo saying the Chinese Minister there had conferred with the Japanese foreign minister with a view to beginning direct negotiations for a settlement of the dispute.

May Resort to War.

The report concerning Chiang Kai-Shek had quoted him as saying that if the League of Nations failed to settle the dispute justly, China would resort to war, although fully aware that this would bankrupt the nation for 50 years.

The translation given out by the legation said:

"As our nation forms part of the League of Nations we have above all the duty of supporting international law and international covenants. * * *

"Today we are trying earnestly to secure by peaceful means to uphold the Kellogg antiwar and the covenant of the League of Nations so that even though Japan invades our soil we have not declared war, because in upholding international justice, international pacts and covenants we ought to exercise the greatest patience.

"But if even then international law and covenants could not be preserved we should not shrink from any sacrifices to discharge our duties.

Seeks to Avoid War.

"In the maintenance of our responsibilities to international covenants and pacts, it is vital if war could be avoided. But if nations are driven to war to defend the sanctity of international justice and pacts, then any sacrifice should not be regarded as too costly."

A report from Tokyo that a Chinese Nationalist party official had informed Japan that China would negotiate directly if the League should fail was characterized by the legation as "Japanese propaganda designed to throw dust in the eyes of the world."

J. S. Rosenfield Is Dead; Was Distillery Secretary

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Joseph Samson Rosenfield, 80, retired secretary of the Sunnybrook Distilling Co., of Louisville, Ky., died today in his hotel apartment. He retired from business several years ago. He is survived by a brother, Morris B. Rosenfield, president of the distilling concern.

BORAH SAYS LEAGUE HELPLESS IN CHINA

Senator Says Reconciliation Is Matter of Personal Negotiations.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, said today he did not expect the League of Nations to be of much service in arbitrating the Sino-Japanese dispute.

"Whatever is done in the way of reconciliation," he said, "will, I believe, be largely a matter of personal contact with the Japanese authorities and representatives of different nations.

"My personal view is that the nine-power pact will prove the most important document bearing on the situation. The United States is a signatory of that pact and of the Kellogg pact."

Qualifies Opinion.

He qualified his opinion of the league's part in the Manchurian situation by saying his reasoning might be influenced by his unfavorable view of the league.

Asked about Secretary of State Stimson's activities in the dispute, he said he preferred not to discuss that point.

"It is true," he added, "that I have some definite ideas about Mr. Stimson's moves, but this is not the time to give those ideas publicity."

Questioned on whether he thought the United States would benefit through the sale of ammunition and supplies if China and Japan started warfare, Mr. Borah said:

Crisis Is Economic.

"A temporary economic advantage might accrue, but in the end the United States would be hurt by the destruction of trade and demoralization of world conditions.

"It has been demonstrated that war is costly, not only to the participants, but to all others as well."

Regarding the idea of the Federal Government contributing to the relief of unemployment, Mr. Borah said "It will be fine if conditions can be improved by voluntary action. If not," he added, "all three treasuries—nation, State and local—should be levied upon, the Government contributing in the same way as local and State agencies."

CHINESE BREAK OFF ARBITRATION

cabinet, "working in accord with military authorities," had agreed upon the leading points for arbitration direct with China when the latter should be ready for negotiation. Details, it was said, could be arranged with whatever authorities were in power at Mukden, capital of Manchuria.

Geneva Is Watched.

Possible action by the council of the League of Nations at Geneva was being watched for here. Private conversations were reported continuing at Geneva following the declaration of Japan's representative that the Manchurian controversy was one for Japan and China to adjust directly without action by any ouside agency, despite China's appeals to the council for league intervention.

Peiping, China, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—A telegram to Manchurian headquarters from Hsinmintun, about 65 miles south of Mukden on the Peiping-Mukden Railroad, said that five Japanese troop trains, carrying cavalry and infantry, arrived there today.

Military operations against Chinchow, temporary headquarters of the Mukden provincial government, were foreshadowed tonight in Japanese dispatches from Mukden reporting increased bandit activity in that region.

Denies Movement.

Manchurian headquarters here, however, denied that any military movement was in progress or contemplated.

A warning from the Japanese chief of staff at Tokyo to the commander of Japanese troops in north China said: "You are instructed to face military action of Chang Hsueh-Liang at Shanhaikuan with profound care, avoiding any step likely to aggravate the situation."

Japanese messages from Shanhaikuan said that Japanese nationals there had been evacuated.

Mukden, Manchuria, Oct. 14 (U.P.). A Japanese battalion today dispersed 5,000 demobilized Chinese soldiers in the Chiuliuho district.

Tokyo, Oct. 14 (U.P.).—The government is considering proposals to request the League of Nations to send a commission for general study to China, it was indicated tonight.

The definite purpose of the commission was uncertain in view of the fact that the cabinet has repeatedly refused to consent to league intervention for settlement of the Manchurian conflict with China.

Will Hold Territory.

An official announcement said Japan would not evacuate the occupied territory in Manchuria preparatory to direct peace negotiations with China. The government understood that China had instructed its representative, Chiang Tso-Pin, to discontinue conservations with Japanese Foreign Minister Baron Shidehara, thus ending any possibility of arrangements for direct negotiations at present, as Japan desired.

The Chinese decision was due to the fear that it might prejudice China's position at Geneva, where the league has been asked to intervene.

Ozaki Says Attitude Of America 'Very Fair'

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Yukio Ozaki, former Japanese cabinet minister, today described the American attitude toward the Manchurian situation as "very fair."

He said he saw no reason for Japan to be incensed, because the United States was cooperating with the League of Nations in seeking to settle the dispute.

"Let the Chinese government pledge itself to protect the lives and property of the Japanese in Manchuria and elsewhere," Ozaki said. "Then let us withdraw our troops from Mukden and other places. The League of Nations should then take the responsibility of seeing that the Chinese pledge is carried out.

"The last thing to use is force. Japan must not let misguided patriotic fervor lead her to war."

Argentine Exiles Invited to Return

Radicals' Convention Decides to Ignore Government's Annulment.

Buenos Aires, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The Argentine radical party convention today decided to ignore the government's annulment of the presidential candidacy of Marcelo T. de Alvear and to invite all radical exiles to return to Argentina.

Senor de Alvear was nominated for president by the radicals some time ago. His candidacy was annulled last week on the ground that it was irregularly made. Since then he has been in Montevideo, Uruguay.

The decision of the convention was accorded a volley of applause from the galleries and later a huge crowd gathered in the Plaza Mayo and sang the national anthem.

AL SMITH FOR 1932, TAMMANY HALL CRY

Democratic Braves Stage Biggest Rally Since 1928 Campaign.

New York, Oct. 14 (U.P.).—Cries of "Smith for President!" rang through Tammany Hall tonight as the braves of New York's famous Democratic society, in their biggest rally since the national campaign of 1928, hurled defiance at their critics and called for a landslide vote in next month's city election.

With both former Gov. Alfred E. Smith and Mayor James J. Walker on the platform, the assemblage indulged in a frenzy of cheering. Even as the meeting progressed firecrackers were being set off in the street outside, red flares blazed the challenge of open warfare and bands blared the familiar "Sidewalks of New York."

When former Gov. Smith stood up to speak the audience rose as one. It was a scene reminiscent of national political conventions. And throughout his address individual members of the audience leaped up to start the cheering again with "Ray for Al! Al Smith for President!"

Mayor Walker reached the hall at a propitious moment. The crowd had just finished cheering Smith's speech. Walker stepped jauntily onto the platform and precipitated another wild outburst.

Without referring to Samuel Seabury and the legislative committee which is investigating municipal corruption, the mayor said:

"This is a community that appreciates service. And while it had its Coney Island in the days gone by, and while it sings of and remembers the Bowery, and while it was the finest market in all the world for Barnum & Bailey, this town still knows a faker when it sees one.

Denies Curry Is Mayor.

Mayor Walker fairly shouted that he is a "Tammany mayor." He denied that John F. Curry "is the mayor."

"John F. Curry," he said, "can not be mayor of the City of New York because he was not elected to it. I am the mayor of this city. John Curry is the leader of Tammany Hall because he was elected leader. I can not be leader of Tammany Hall. I don't want his job and he can't have mine."

Smith, after discussing the qualifications of the various candidates in the local election, wound up his speech with a plea for a heavy Democratic vote.

"At no time in the history of the world," he said, "has every nation looked to another one as the world is looking to America today for leadership. There is no use speaking about conditions we already know about; no use talking about the tariff, the business depression, our relations with our neighbors across the ocean who are suffering with us and upon whose prosperity, to a great degree, depends our own prosperity.

World Looks for Leadership.

"Let us content ourselves with the single thought that the world is looking for leadership, and it is looking to the United States. And the Republican party is hopeless and helpless to provide that leadership.

"I believe that in Manhattan, and throughout the length and breadth of the land on next election day, the Democrats must stand solidly together. If we do we will be able to take advantage of the opportunity that will unquestionably be offered to us, to do something not only for the United States, but for the whole world."

SHELBY THINKS TRIP MAY RETURN HEALTH

Nervous Illness and Sinus Trouble Blamed; Steps in Quitting Routine.

Several months of medical treatment and possibly a long trip under physician's orders are only definite future plans of Inspector William S. Shelby, assistant superintendent of police, who will quit his office October 31.

"After that my fate rests on the knees of the gods," the inspector said simply yesterday. "Leaving an office like this, where one has made so many friends and has so many loyalties to look back upon, necessarily involves some heartaches. I am very tired, but I believe that after I get away from the pressure of work I will soon regain my health."

The Board of Police and Fire Surgeons yesterday returned its report to Maj. Henry G. Pratt, certifying that Inspector Shelby is physically incapacitated for further service. The report was signed by Dr. Daniel Borden, chairman, and five other members of the board. Their findings were unanimous.

Rest of the procedure placing the veteran police official on the retired list will be mere formality.

The board of surgeons gave Inspector Shelby a rating of "C," which signifies he should be relieved from duty as soon as possible.

Under this rating District Commissioners have no discretion in the matter of retiring Inspector Shelby. The report was based on a detailed statement of treatment for the last two years by Dr. John A. Reed, Inspector Shelby's personal physician. Conclusion was that Inspector Shelby is suffering from an acute nervous ailment, sinus trouble and other ills. Nervous condition, it was decided, resulted from strain of overwork during service as chief of the Detective Bureau.

Maj. Pratt received the report shortly after it was filed yesterday. He will prepare a formal recommendation for Inspector Shelby's retirement and forward it, with the report, to the Commissioners. Then the matter will be placed in the hands of the relief and retiring board as final routine step.

propriations for the purchase of high-powered automobiles for assignment to the Detective Bureau, authority for police to supervise dance halls and places of instruction, and the abolition of the old act requiring payment of street railway crossing policemen, now numbering 51, by the traction companies.

As to the regulation of bondsmen's business, Maj. Pratt said that Representative Gilbert's bill would, if enacted into law, "do much to eliminate certain features of the business of executing criminal bonds which for years have been the cause of annoyance to the courts, prosecuting attorneys and to the police."

Pawnbrokers, if legalized, should be placed under direct supervision of the police, the report states, and they should be required to make daily reports on all business transactions.

Reviewing the Police Department's activities during the last fiscal year, Maj. Pratt said:

"There has been a marked improvement in the standard of discipline * * * as will be evidenced by tabulation of cases for this fiscal year as compared with figures for the previous year, from which it will be seen that there has been a reduction of 125 cases where disciplinary action was found necessary."

The tabulation shows that 15 were removed and a total of 109 disciplined last year. At the same time 599 members of the force were commended for outstanding services.

Maj. Pratt commented on the activities of a special liquor squad and on the appointment of 35 special prohibition agents throughout the precincts, that "it is evident that the department has in no measure relaxed its extensive campaign in the enforcement of the liquor laws."

The report reveals that there were 87 traffic deaths during the fiscal year as against 68 for the preceding year, and 3,613 injuries as against 3,158.

LAVAL TELLS HOPE OF CHECKING CRISIS

French Leader May Agree to Arms Cut if All Other Nations Accept.

Paris, Oct. 14 (U.P.).—Premier Pierre Laval, completing final preparations for his visit to Washington, today disclosed his hopes of checking the world economic crisis through conferences with President Hoover.

The importance of the premier's visit to the United States was intensified meanwhile by rapid developments as he prepared to sail from Le Havre Friday noon. They included:

1—Laval's statement before the Anglo-American press meeting that "although I am optimistic, I dare say the gravity of events will not prevent us from finding fundamental solutions."

2—The departure of Emile Francqui and Camille Gutt, Belgian financial experts, for New York. It was understood they would proceed to Washington simultaneously with Laval and possibly participate in reparations discussions. Two French financial experts already have sailed for the United States.

Arms Cut Session Secret.

3—A secret meeting of Laval with the Superior Council for National Defense to consider the possibility of further French disarmament by budgetary methods without loss of manpower.

4—Laval received the various parliamentary party leaders including Edouard Herriot, Louis Marin, Paul Boncour and Col. Fabry—and discussed his visit to Washington, being assured by Herriot that the Parliament would loyally collaborate with the premier.

5. Laval's confirmation of reports that his 19-year-old daughter, Mlle. Josette Laval, will accompany him to Washington.

Laval began his busy day with the superior council meeting, attended by President Paul Doumer, Gen. Max Weygand, Admiral Durand Viel, Minister of War Andre Maginot, Minister of Air Jacques Dumesnil and Minister of Navy Charlest Dumont.

Preparing for a possible suggestion by Mr. Hoover that budgetary disarmament—the reduction of war expenditures—be considered, they studied the 1932 budget. Laval will be ready to discuss the subject after the cabinet confers on the council's recommendations.

France to Join Concert.

French sources understood Mr. Hoover was preparing to suggest world-wide reduction of military budgets by 20 to 25 per cent, to which France probably will agree if all nations accept.

The premier then addressed the Anglo-American press, saying:

"My abilities are simple, like my character, but in order to serve the cause of our civilization with Mr. Hoover, my ambition remains vast and my will firm. I desire my only guide to be that old French virtue—common sense."

The question of his daughter's plans to go to Washington apparently had been given close attention by the premier since Mlle. Josette attempted to force his hand by announcing that she would sail. Her name was not included in the official list of members of the party, but she continued to rush about the city, buying clothes and insisting that she would go.

Finally the premier admitted that his daughter, a vivacious, athletic girl, would accompany him, but he insisted that she remain in the background because of the French theory that women and politics don't mix.

HOOVER TO PRESENT LAVAL NO PROGRAM

proposal of some sort which he must either accept or reject. Nothing could be further from our thoughts.

"We have no intention of trying to impose upon Mr. Laval what he shall discuss during his visit. He is coming as our guest and we are only anxious to give him as such the utmost freedom of selection in the topics which he may care to discuss with the President. Our hope is that he will feel free to bring up any and every matter which he desires, and that the discusison thereon shall be as frank and comprehensive as possible.

"We have no intention of imposing any program upon France or any other nation, but we feel that it is of the utmost importance that there should be a full and friendly interchange of views in order that France and the United States may have the most complete information as to each other's views. We feel that such information will be the most helpful in working out our future cooperation."

The same friendly understanding is envisaged for the visit of Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy. The Italian statesman is a remarkably youthful figure, but his experiences in international conferences have given him the deliberateness, if not the years of a veteran diplomat. The Italian visit is, if anything, more informal in the make-up of Signor Grandi's entourage than the Laval visit. This is in itself interpreted as characterizing the friendly nature of the discussions that will follow. In addition, Mussolini's foreign minister speaks Oxonian English, derived from long hours of study with an English tutor, who was at one time Mussolini's English instructor. This is also believed to be a decided asset to American-Italian discussions.

The reciprocal exchange of views between the French and the United States on the one hand and the Italians and the United States, on the other, will be devised not for the guidance and benefit of American administration officials alone, but for a more cordial understanding among statesmen of all nations whose economic problems and political concerns are not confined to their own boundaries for settlement.

$5,000,000,000 Federal Relief Plan Urged by Rev. J. A. Ryan.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct 14 (A.P.).—Advocacy of an expenditure of $5,000,000,000 for public works by the Federal Government as a means of bringing employment directly or indirectly to four or five million persons was made here today by the Rev. John A Ryan, of the Catholic University, Washington.

In an address before the Catholic conference on industrial problems, he criticised President Hoover's committee on unemployment for its assumption that the coming winter's unemployment relief could be borne by voluntary local contributions. He said that 72 per cent of the money expended in behalf of the unemployed in the principal cities was derived not from voluntary contributions, but from the municipal treasury."

Veterans Not Wasting Bonus Loans, Bureau Figures Show

(Associated Press.)

A study by the Veterans' Administration shows that only 7 per cent of the war veterans who borrowed on their bonus certificates used the money "in such a way as to receive no practicable benefits therefrom."

The average per cent of veterans obtaining loans for personal and family needs was 65 per cent, one-fifth of the borrowers utilizezd loans for investment, while 8 per cent bought automobiles, "purpose undetermined."

These figures, along with others showing 32 per cent of the 2,000,000 veteran borrowers are out of jobs, were given Representative Patman (Democrat), Texas, yesterday by Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs.

Mr. Hines said that from "available data secured it appears that 32 per cent of the veterans obtaining loans were unemployed and in need and utilized funds secured by borrowing on their adjusted service certificates to meet that need."

Mr. Patman estimated 640,000 unemployed veterans benefited by the loans.

Mr. Hines told Mr. Patman that the average percentages given "are estimates based upon such data as might be secured and upon such impression as may have been gained by our managers and by those with whom our field managers came in contact.

"Generally speaking," he added, "it is felt that of the 2,000,000 loans made, the data fairly represents the direction in which the money was expended."

Two Texas Banks Fail to Open Doors

$740,000 Deposits Tied Up in Corpus Christi and Kingsville.

Corpus Christi, Tex., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Two affiliated South Texas banking institutions, one at Corpus Christi, the other at Kingsville, failed to open for business today. The Texas State Bank & Trust Co. of Corpus Christi, with approximately $300,000 on deposit, closed to prevent a threatened run.

Bank officials said closing today of the First State Bank at Kingsville, a member bank, was responsible for the prospective withdrawal of deposits at the Texas State Bank & Trust Co.

The Kingsville bank was capitalized for $65,000 and had about $440,000 on deposit. The Corpus Christi bank was capitalized for $150,000.

TRIAL WITHIN WEEK SEEN IN KILLING OF 4

Berlin, Md., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Four coroner's juries meeting here tonight in rapid succession placed the blame for the murder of Green Davis, his wife and their two daughters on Orphan Jones, 60-year-old Negro farmhand, and ordered that he be kept in custody without bail for action by the Worcester County grand jury.

The bodies of the four members of the Davis family were found in their beds Monday afternoon. A jury was empaneled for each member of the family; Davis, his wife, Iva, and their two daughters, Elizabeth and Mary Lee.

Snow Hill, Md., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—State's Attorney Godfrey Child, of Worcester County, moved today for an early trial for Orphan Jones, 60-year-old Negro, confessed slayer of a Berlin farm family of four.

A special term of the grand jury was called to meet here Monday, with the trial tentatively set for a week from today. Child said the confession signed by Jones would not be used before the grand jury, as enough other testimony had been obtained to assure indictment.

Funeral services for the four victim's of Jones' fury of early last Sunday morning will be held tomorrow afternoon. The Berlin High School, where the two girls were students, will be dismissed so that the classmates may attend the services.

Jones was lodged in the Baltimore City Jail, where he was taken last night, following his confession. In his admission of the crime, he declared an argument with Davis over $1, pay for a day's work which he could not perform because of rain, led to the slayings.

Davis, he said, had employed him at $1 a day, and had refused to pay for the rainy day and discharged him when he demanded it.

Gambling Net Gets State Messengers

Two Suspended as Department Moves to End Betting by Employes.

A second Government branch yesterday took steps to break up office-hour gambling among clerks with the suspension of two State Department messengers accused of having acted as intermediary between employes and bookmakers in placing wagers on the ponies.

John N. Savage, attached to the near eastern division, and William D. Evans, of the visa office of the passport division, both drew suspension of one month without pay. Evans has been a Government employe for 21 years, and Savage has been in the service for 15 years. It was said their long terms as Government employes mitigated against more severe action.

George H. Carter, public printer, some months ago led a fight to break up office-hour gambling among employes of the Government Printing Office. At the time he was severe in his criticism of the Police Department, charging laxity in clearing up gambling houses near the printing office.

Job Improvement Is Told by Expert

Labor Official Tells Lions Employment Situation Is Better.

Otis J. Rogers, of the United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor, was the principal speaker before the Lions Club at the Mayflower Hotel yesterday.

Asking for the cooperation of churches and civic organizations in furthering the work of the service, Mr. Rogers declared that signs of improvement in employment are in evidence throughout the country. Mr. Rogers was introduced by Edgar N. Brawner, president of the club.

Readings were given by Miss Lillian Krause; singing by Erbin G. Thomas, barytone, and piano selections by Elizabeth Gardner Coombs.

NIHION TELLS PLANS FOR ELKS' BIRTHDAY

Honor Banquet Occasion for Baring of Details for 50th Anniversary.

Daniel R. Nihion, past exalted ruler of the Washington Lodge of Elks and present grand tiler of the grand lodge, was guest of honor and principal speaker at a reception and banquet last night attended by more than 650 members.

Mr. Nihion announced plans for celebration of fiftieth anniversary of the Washington lodge in form of a banquet February 11, at the Mayflower Hotel. More than 1,000 are expected to attend, he said. The following day, open house will be held for Elks of Maryland, Delaware and Washington. Plans were also announced for a charity ball Thanksgiving eve at the Willard Hotel.

Officers and members of the Washington lodge presented the grand tiler with a wrist watch and an engraved certificate leather case bearing his title in recognition of "his great work for the Benevolent Order of Elks and the Washington lodge."

The Elks boys' band, in new uniforms of purple and gold, gave a concert. This band will go to Birmingham next year for the grand lodge reunion and will take part in Flag Day exercises June 14, in connection with the bicentennial program.

MRS. HOWARD DIES.

Resident Here 14 Years Will Be Buried Saturday in Kansas City.

Mrs. Margaret R. Howard, widow of the late H. T. Howard and former resident of Kansas City, Mo., died yesterday at her residence, 3800 Fourteenth street northwest, after a short illness. She was 74 years old.

Mrs. Howard was born in Delphi, Ind., but later moved to Kansas City where she made her home until 1917 when she came to Washington. She had been a resident here ever since.

She is survived by a daughter, Hazel V. Howard, of the same address. Funeral service will be tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the S. H. Hines funeral parlors, 2901 Fourteenth street northwest. Interment will be Saturday in Kansas City.

LEARNED FUNERAL TO AWAIT INQUEST

Board of Education Voices Regret at Death of Former President.

Funeral arrangements for Dr. H. Barrett Learned, former president of the District Board of Education, whose dead body was found Tuesday in his apartment on the campus of Leland Stanford University, Calif., will not be made until an inquest is completed.

Physicians, according to reports received here yesterday, expressed belief that Dr. Learned died in his sleep Sunday night as the result of a heart attack. He did not appear for classes Monday, and when he failed to appear Tuesday his apartment was visited. Mrs. Learned was in South Manchester, Conn., at the time.

One of Dr. Learned's last known acts before he died was to mail his introductory statement for the Board of Education's annual report. This was sent by airmail Saturday night. The Board of Education yesterday adopted a resolution expressing "a deep sense of grief" over Dr. Learned's death.

Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, issued the following statement:

"The death of Dr. H. Barrett Learned in California came as a great shock to his friends and associates in Washington. Dr. Learned's long service on the Board of Education, his comprehensive knowledge of the school system, and discriminating judgment in dealing with problems that came before the board made him an outstanding member of the Board of Education and a judicious adviser to the superintendent of schools as vice president and later as president of the board.

"His historical training, in which field he was a recognized leader, gave him the ability to weigh and evaluate evidence and reach sound conclusions on the basis of facts. His genial personality made for him firm and lasting friends who grieve at his sudden passing."

RITES FOR MRS. LEARNARD

Wife of Brigadier General To Be Buried in Arlington Today.

Funeral services for Mrs. Florida Lyon Learnard, wife of Brig. Gen. Henry G. Learnard, United States Army, retired, will be conducted at the Fort Myer Chapel this afternoon at 2 o'clock, followed by interment in Arlington National Cemetery.

Mrs. Learnard died in San Diego, Calif., September 3. She was a native of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. She is survived by her husband and two children, Grant Learnard, a student at the Foreign Service Preparatory School in Washington, and a daughter, Miss Catherine Learnard. Gen. Learnard accompanied the body to Washington via the Panama Canal, and is temporarily the guest of Gen. McIntyre, 2540 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

BRUENING EXPECTS REICHSTAG SUPPORT

Finance Minister Dietrich Denies Charges Crisis Was Misrepresented.

Berlin, Otc. 14 (A.P.).—A belief that Chancellor Heinrich Bruening will receive a vote of support from the Reichstag, even if by a narrow margin, prevailed after today's session, which was marked by sharp debate and an exchange of caustic charges between government supporters and the opposition.

National Socialists and Nationalist members marched into the Reichstag this afternoon for the first time since its opening to listen to their spokesman, Wilhelm Frick, of Thuringen. As they came in Chancellor Bruening rose and left the assembly.

Takes Up Charges.

Toward the end of the debate Finance Minister Hermann Dietrich took up charges made by Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the Reichsbank, at Harzburg last Sunday and denied them point by point. Dr. Schacht had accused the government of misrepresenting Germany's financial condition in reports made to the World Bank for International Settlements committee at Basel.

The methods used by Dr. Schacht, the finance minister said, were such as might destroy peace at home and German credit abroad.

"The government has not taken one penny from the Reichsbank," he said. His final remarks were drowned in a din of jeers from the opposition just before the House adjourned.

Earlier today political observers predicted the chancellor would be able to control 289 deputies, or 1 more than a majority.

A vote on the Nationalist motion of nonconfidence is to be taken Friday.

Visit Reconsidered.

Berlin, Oct. 14 (U.P.).—Proposals that Chancellor Heinrich Bruening visit President Hoover in Washington late in November may be reconsidered after the government's program is under way in the Reichstag.

Assuming that Bruening's cabinet wins a vote of confidence in the Reichstag, as seems more likely than it did several days ago, the prospects of the trip to Washington are excellent, a member of the chancellor's entourage told the United Press tonight.

It was said, however, that the project would not assume tangible shape until after the visit of Premier Pierre Laval to Washington this month.

MacDonald Will Extend Campaign in Seaham

Seaham Harbor, Durham, England, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald decided today to spend virtually the entire election campaign here among the constituents he represented in the last House of Commons.

Originally Mr. MacDonald had intended to make only a three-day visit at this time. Tonight, however, he determined to remain two days more and, after a few days in London, to come back again.

He described his last three days in the Durham coal fields as a "triumphal procession." But the labor organization has repudiated him for forming the national government with the aid of conservatives and Liberals.

Mr. MacDonald's campaign, in which centers one of the most dramatic fights in British political history, is looked upon as meaning much more to the success of the national government than one seat in the House of Commons. If the prime minister is beaten it is recognized that his prestige, and the prestige of any government he heads, will suffer a crushing blow.

With a skeleton organization of volunteers he is fighting a Labor party machine which is complete in every polling district.

Longshore and Textile Strikers Given Offers

Boston, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Two delegations conferred with public executives today regarding strike matters and went away to consider secret proposals made to them.

A group of nine striking textile workers from Lawrence, representing the 22,000 out in that city, conferred with Gov. Joseph B. Ely at the statehouse. Mayor James M. Curley was closeted with John N. Levins, chairman of the steamship agencies committee, and Richard Parkhurst, of the port authority, in an effort to settle the strike of 3,000 Boston longshoremen.

LOUISIANA'S PREDICAMENT.

With two governors, two lieutenant governors and only one United States senator, Louisiana is entangled in a political dilemma that may have far-reaching consequences. The Baton Rouge unit of the National Guard was called upon Tuesday to prevent an open clash between the rival governors. It remains to be seen whether the courts can bring about an amicable settlement.

Louisiana's imbroglio is a direct result of Gov. Huey Long's inordinate ambition to rule the State from a seat in the United States Senate. After he was elected he decided to remain in the governorship until the opening of the Seventy-second Congress, in order to keep out his deadly rival, Lieut. Gov. Cyr.

When Gov.-Senator Long evolved his brilliant plan to take the South out of the cotton-growing business he longed to cross the border into Texas to convert the recalcitrants of that State to his views. But he dared not go, for Dr. Cyr might have taken over the executive functions at Baton Rouge. For the same reason Gov.-Senator Long can not occupy his seat in the Senate when Congress opens in December. At the first opportunity Dr. Cyr will turn the Long supporters out of office and crush the governor's political machine beyond hope of repair.

It is apparent, however, that the astute Huey will not give his lieutenant governor a chance to take over the reins in Louisiana, even though the Democrats in Congress will be deprived of his genius. This situation accounts for Dr. Cyr's sudden move to take over the gubernatorial office in spite of the incumbent. On the ground that Gov. Long became a senator when he filed his credentials of election, and therefore can not serve as governor under the State constitution, Cyr has filed ouster proceedings and has taken the oath as governor. Senator Edwin S. Broussard shares the view that the governor is retaining his office in violation of law.

By the same high-handed methods, Gov.-Senator Long has decreed that Dr. Cyr is no longer lieutenant governor, and the president pro tempore of the State senate has taken the oath for that office. It is difficult to understand how the office of lieutenant governor could have been vacated unless Dr. Cyr, who is an elected official, became governor. But things don't proceed according to reason in Louisiana these days.

Whichever way events turn, Louisiana is in a predicament. But a State that is naive enough to entrust the duties of both governor and United States senator to one ambitious politician is entitled to little sympathy.

INSURANCE ASSETS.

An important instance of relief to financial institutions that have been embarrassed by the present low levels of securities, especially in the class of bonds and preferred stocks, is seen in the recent ruling of the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners. This body voted to allow companies in its jurisdiction to carry their investment portfolios at the level of June 30 for their annual reports this year. The significance of this move is Nation-wide, as the convention included superintendents or commissioners of insurance from every State in the Union, who will follow the new ruling.

This step will protect the various companies from the necessity of using their reserves, or drawing out their capital below the legal limit to offset the depreciation of their bonds if they continue to drop in price. This purely emergency measure was agreed upon after taking an average of stock and bond prices for the five quarterly periods ending September 30. It was found that the closing prices of June 30 represented a fair standard. At the end of the year those securities that are quoted above the price of June 30 will be used at the advanced figure.

The move reflects the trend of other investment groups. The comptroller of the currency has agreed to be more lenient in adjusting the values of bonds held by national banks. President Hoover's plan for a $500,000,000 revolving fund for stabilization of the Nation's banks operates on the same principle.

The advantage of the new ruling as applied to insurance companies is primarily the protection it affords to the policyholders. It is expected that companies that are essentially sound will not be forced into insolvency through abnormal conditions in the security market. The policy will serve to protect the companies in the same way that the National Credit Corporation, formed upon the request of the President, will protect sound banks against their own security accounts. No more do the insurance commissioners expect their ruling to protect companies fundamentally unsound than will the Credit Corporation endeavor to save unsound banks. It is anticipated, however, that the move will be of the greatest benefit to the large number of organizations whose assets have been impaired by an unusual and temporary condition.

ROOSEVELT PARK.

Analostan Island, which seems destined to become Roosevelt Park, will be a notable addition to the park system of the National Capital. Situated almost in line with the Capitol, the Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial and between the beautiful new Arlington Memorial Bridge and Francis Scott Key Bridge, the island will provide a unique location for a memorial to the late President Roosevelt. With bridges from both the District and Virginia sides of the river, it will provide a new link between the Capital's park system and Arlington. It is difficult to imagine a more appropriate site for dedication to the memory of a great American.

The island is a rocky area largely covered by virgin forest. Its wildness and its rugged nature make it a truly significant memorial to Roosevelt, the "Rough Rider," the big game hunter and the exponent of outdoor life. It is assumed that whatever monument is ultimately erected on the island will be in keeping with its character and atmosphere.

Washington has given too little attention to its waterfront in the past. Creation of a park in the middle of the Potomac will draw closer attention to the beauty of the historic river. With the completion of the George Washington Memorial highway between Great Falls and Mount Vernon this area will come into its own as one of the choice scenic regions of the United States. Analostan Island will fit into the general scheme with a charm and distinctiveness of its own.

THE NATIONAL ORCHESTRA.

The public is accustomed to regarding a symphony orchestra as an aid to cultural and esthetic progress rather than as a factor in the relief of economic distress. Yet, the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, which Hans Kindler and his associates will formally launch at Constitution Hall on November 2, is expected to become an offset to the depression of no mean proportions.

Mr. Kindler, the eminent conductor-cellist, who has labored indefatigably in the effort to establish a permanent resident symphony orchestra in Washington, is responsible for the statement that the National Symphony Orchestra has available $50,000 to spend on some 80 musicians in the comparatively brief but vitally important interval from November 2 to March 17. In the main Mr. Kindler's symphony will be formed of Washington musicians of the requisite talent and ability who, but for this new orchestra, might well contemplate the coming winter with dread.

While the appreciation of a well-played symphony is rarely enhanced or diminished by purely economic considerations that do not personally affect the listener, it seems quite clear that Washingtonians may patronize the concerts of the new National Symphony with the comforting knowledge that they are assisting to alleviate the problem of unemployment in the arts.

The major portion of the funds needed for the orchestra's first season have already been guaranteed by well-to-do Washingtonians who believe the Capital should have a symphony orchestra. There remains, nevertheless, a balance, which must come through the box office if this orchestra is to continue. Washingtonians should support this enterprise, which promises to become of the utmost importance, civically and economically.

CHANGED OCEAN TRAVEL.

Nationalism stimulated by the war has been the mainspring of world shipping in the last ten years. The maritime nations of Europe have sought to increase their sea trade to keep pace with the United States.

The influence of the vast, specially-built merchant fleet that was put on the sea by this country during the war, and which substantially affected the outcome of the struggle, augmented the desire of the American people for a prosperous and well-equipped shipping business. Legislation made possible the building of large American ships and the development of a great American merchant fleet is under way.

An important change, however, in the shipping business has taken place in the last ten years. Formerly the United States welcomed alien immigrants and the old-time third-class business formed the backbone of the transatlantic service. Enactment of rigid immigration laws virtually wiped out this important feature of the business. The big lines were forced to find a substitute for the lost revenue to avoid disaster. It was then that the "white collar" traveler of moderate means came into his own.

Americans do not like the term "second class." It was found necessary to cater to American travelers by eliminating this undemocratic idea. Many ships were reconditioned to provide the new "tourist class," and the smaller boats were made over into "cabin" or one-class ships. Intense campaigns have been waged to encourage foreign travel, and these, together with the increased comforts and advantages supplied at low rates, have made possible to the American public remarkable opportunities for visiting foreign lands.

THE ROBOT PILOT.

The successful demonstration of the new mechanical pilot developed by Elmer Sperry has definitely narrowed the field of aeronautical research. The device will become standard equipment, it is believed, as soon as it is approved by the Department of Commerce. It makes possible the elimination of about 80 per cent of human direction in flying. Eighteen passengers who were taken up on the test flight found the experience of flying with the pilot's seat empty almost weird. Watching the control yoke go through various motions to correct bumps and allow for cross-currents of air made it appear that an invisible hand was manipulating the machine.

This robot pilot weighs only about 100 pounds. It is reported to be superior to a seasoned pilot in controlling a plane, for it deals out automatically the exact amount of corrective control motion to aileron, elevator or rudder almost before the full effect is felt in the cabin. Experts say that the mechanism can work 40 per cent sooner than is possible by human control. This makes for smoother flight, lower maintenance cost and conservation of fuel.

Long runs often fatigue the pilot, which has been responsible for many accidents in landing where quick physical reactions are vital. The robot pilot does much to relieve the flier of this strain. He need not attend the control at all when flying on a straight course, and is required to give his whole attention only when changing direction or when taking off or landing. As the mechanical pilot is more expert than a human being in directing a plane, and is not handicapped by fog, it is expected that the device will permit aircraft to maintain schedules as regularly as other means of transportation, regardless of weather conditions.

JUDICIAL APPOINTMENTS.

The recent nomination of twelve judges for the supreme court bench in New York has been criticized widely as the result of a political deal between the two major parties. The designation of 32-year-old John H. McCooey, jr., by his father, the Democratic boss of Brooklyn, as a bipartisan nominee is the most flagrant example of nepotism. It will be considered by the Seabury committee that is investigating municipal government in New York.

It is interesting in this connection to note what Lord Bryce in his "American Commonwealth" said of the American judiciary. He points out that the methods of appointing English judges has resulted in a legal system second to none in fairness and ability, for judges are not removable there for partisan or personal reasons and their appointment is made in accordance with their fitness. In comparison with this system he found the American method inferior.

Bryce praises the judges of the Federal Supreme Court as first-rate men, and says that minor Federal judges are usually persons of ability and experience. But he found only six or seven States whose judges were of first-rate caliber. But, considering the character of the bench in most of the States, Lord Bryce adds that "civil justice is administered better than might be expected."

Political pressure influencing the legal systems of the States has long been one of the weak points in American justice. It is encouraging that bar associations have taken upon themselves the responsibility of raising judicial standards. But the States have a long way to go before the caliber of their judges can be compared with that of the Federal bench.

DE GRASSE AT YORKTOWN

From the New York Herald Tribune.

If it does nothing else, the Yorktown sesquicentennial this week-end should serve to restore to the place which it deserves in our history the name of Francois Joseph Paul, Comte de Grasse. We have raised no monuments to him; in the ordinary textbooks and encyclopedias he is generally mentioned as a rather unimportant though useful auxiliary in the victory at Yorktown, and the action which he fought on September 5 off the Capes of Virginia gets so little mention that it scarcely has a name. Yet this battle, fought six weeks before the surrender of Cornwallis, far away from the scene of the siege and by a French naval squadron, was about the only real battle which the Yorktown campaign involved. Moreover, without De Grasse's victory the whole campaign would have been a failure, and it is quite possible that this "Battle of Lynnhaven Bay" should rank with Saratoga as one of the great decisive actions in modern history.

As Washington planned it, the whole trick lay in cutting Cornwallis' sea communications long enough to bag him; and only when De Grasse brought his lumbering line-of-battle ships to anchor off Cape Henry on August 31, 1781, did the Yorktown campaign become a possibility. From that moment, too, Cornwallis and the war were finished—unless the British, under Graves, could break the naval shield. De Grasse was barely in time; at 8 a. m. on September 5 the topsails of the British fleet were sighted lifting above the horizon, as Admiral Graves stood in on a northeast breeze. De Grasse did not hesitate; at noon he slipped his cables and stood to sea, and the test had come.

These old naval actions must have been as beautiful things to watch as they were terrible for the men who fought them. Of the two lines of ships (at the beginning the fleets were on parallel courses, but headed in opposite directions and about 3 miles apart) the French was the longer and heavier; the British, however, had the advantage of speed and the weather gauge. At that distance, of course, they were far out of range, and the maneuvering was in stately silence. Shortly after 2 Graves wore 'round "together," thus reversing the direction of his line, and began to bear down upon De Grasse. The situation was all in his favor (De Grasse's rear was so far astern as somewhat to overcome the numerical inferiority of the British), but Graves was bound by the regulations for formal eighteenth century sea-fighting and failed to use his imagination. As a result, in closing with the French he managed badly, and when, about 4, the action opened, some of his ships were too far away to be of use. The cannonading rolled on, the British van taking heavy punishment, and when nightfall compelled the breaking off of the battle Graves had got the worst of it. It was not renewed. De Grasse maneuvered skillfully through the next two or three days, until the arrival of the reinforcing fleet under De Barras made further British attack impossible. Cornwallis was done for; after that the siege was simply a matter of time.

There was serving in the British North Atlantic squadron at the time a rising young officer, Capt. Horatio Nelson. He studied Graves' tactical failure; perhaps he studied its strategic consequences as well. Washington's masterful use of sea power had made the fall of Cornwallis almost automatic. But it all rested on the promptness, energy and loyalty of De Grasse. Interestingly enough, the same situation was to be repeated on a far grander scale only a few years later. Napoleon was to attempt, by gaining momentary command of the sea, to pinch off England as Washington had pinched off a British army. But Lord Nelson had learned from Graves; and, even more than that, Villeneuve was not De Grasse. The attempt ended, not in victory, but in the waters off Trafalgar.

Quite clever, putting every Democrat mentioned for the Presidency on the executive committee to raise funds; but it makes a convention in itself.

A Real Prosperity Plan.

Los Angeles Times.

So far as business recovery is dependent upon the Nation's banking system—and that dependency is unquestionably large—the plan outlined by President Hoover after his conference with bankers and with leaders of both parties in Congress, bids fair to solve the problem. It will put the banks in general in a position to liberalize their loan policies, and in those portions of the country which have been hard hit by bank failures it will release at once large amounts which are needed by the business community. Further, it will allay the fears of the public in regard to the banking system, thus removing one of the important psychological factors of the present depression.

Who Will Protect Sheep From Wolves if Watch-Dogs Learn to Eat Mutton?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

CRIME isn't new. It is as old as the laws that define it and the greed and passion that prompt it.

But crime in America, thanks to the liquor business, has developed new power and new efficiency.

It has become a power behind the throne—a secret government that rules by means of bribery, intimidation and murder—and it uses the law's agents as tools.

Individual criminals and criminal bands can be brought to justice without difficulty while peace officers and courts are incorruptible; but when the servants of law form a partnership with crime and betray the society that trusts them, the people must submit to the rule of crime or themselves find means to destroy it.

The situation seems desperate, for the people are powerless without leaders to effect their organization, and the best of leaders must labor long to arouse and overcome their inertia.

Happily there is an organization already in existence—an organization sufficiently representative, proven in courage and schooled in discipline.

The veterans of the great war organized with high resolves to continue their patriotic service. In the years that followed, no task worthy of their powers won their united interest. Scattered groups, moved by ill-advised zeal, persecuted aliens, racial minorities and minor offenders against the code of morals, but the organization as a whole did no crusading.

Veterans are human and therefore selfish. The chief concern of their organization has been to serve their interests—commendably to provide for their injured members, and less commendably, to obtain public money for all of their number, regardless of need.

Now the time has come when the organization must decide whether to serve God or Mammon. That it will control both houses of Congress and dominate local politics, as the G. A. R. did before it, is a fact self-evident and undisputed.

How will it use the power it has?

Will it bleed the nation white and empty the public treasury to reward its patriotism?

Or will it make itself immortal in the honor and glory of public service and purge America of corruption?

It can't do both.

Mobilizing Resources.

Detroit News.

President Hoover calls on all citizens in this broad Nation to be brave and act together. "The times call for unity of action on the part of our people." In a timely way, he asserts the needed business and financial national leadership.

We are required to answer a summons to the might of the mightiest people the world has seen to be determined and confident, "in view of the thousand-fold resources we have for meeting any demand."

This country is not weak and is not poor and does not lack for courage; but it has been divided. The unity the President bespeaks is needed. It is needed for restoration of the international balance, for in that field United States money and power must take the chief place now vacated by Great Britain, and is imperatively needed to maintain employment and going business at home this fall and winter.

There can be no doubt about the response if every citizen, particularly every business man, understands what the summons to him means in the terms of his own daily life and action.

In this, the substance is the President's call to support the dollar by supporting the dollar's value in whatever form it takes—bank deposits, merchandise, good commercial paper, good securities of all sorts, mortgages, warehouse receipts, etc. Responses are practical in thousands of ways. Given general and confident support, the dollar of value everywhere in the country can be turned at will into a dollar in money.

La Follette's Tax Theories.

Houston Post-Dispatch.

Senator La Follette, the young man from Wisconsin whose theory seems to be that the Government owes everybody a living, is back in Washington proposing heavy increases in the income tax, in the higher brackets, and in inheritance taxes. Naturally, he links the income and the inheritance tax together. By many others, too, they are considered logically as companion measures, the idea being, of course, not only to "sock it to the rich" while they live, but to continue the process after they die.

But, as a matter of fairness, should an inheritance tax be considered as a corollary of an income tax? Isn't it, on the other hand, an illogical arrangement? When a citizen of means pays the various taxes levied upon his property by the innumerable taxing jurisdictions, district, local, county, State, Federal, and so on, and pays a tax on his income—in some States he pays income tax both to the State and Federal Governments—it is to be presumed that he has paid his share of the cost of government.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Political Sage Thinks People Should Be Allowed to Ignore Constitution if Congress Does.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In regard to the apportionment of members of the House of Representatives, the Constitution says: "The actual enumeration shall be made every ten years in such a manner as they by law direct."

If Congress can ignore Article 1 of the Constitution and not be turned out of office, then, why can not the common people ignore the eighteenth amendment without being incarcerated?

My idea is to change the Constitution so that all important measures that have been passed on by Congress shall be submitted to the voters for ratification or rejection, which would do away with the lobbyist. Then it would become a Government by the people, for the people.

Investigation has shown that some senators have paid more for a seat in the Senate than Raskob paid for the entire Democratic party. Senators should be elected for two years, which would put them on a parity with the representatives. This would do away with all the friction which now exists between the Senate and the House. It would mean more and better legislation in less time. It would also reduce very materially the price of a seat in the Senate, which would then allow a poor but honest man to run for senator. H. E. Theatergoer Suggests Larger Orchestras to Relieve Unemployed Musicians.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: To what branch of public service will the theater operators, now organized for the permanent relief of unemployment, concentrate their efforts? Charity begins at home. With this thought in view, this group of men, intent in their purpose, may help unemployment by satisfying public desire.

Have our musicians, of their own free will, deserted the theaters? Is not life more interesting than inanimate objects? May the writer, always an interested spectator in theater developments, offer the suggestion that these men serve those who for years served them? Give the public better music and larger orchestras. They will be patronized. ANN HANLY.

Why Housekeepers Do Not Jump at Chance for Good Room, Board and Clear Salary.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A suburban subscriber complains in your letter column of difficulty in obtaining domestic help. I'll venture that this suburban subscriber offers along with "the good room, board and clear salary," which probably amounts to $2 per week, an opportunity to cook, wash, iron and do housework for a family of four or five, as well as a chance to stay in nights to look after a baby.

If Married Women Gave Up Jobs Their Maids Would Be Deprived of Work.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have read many letters to the editor of your paper advocating that married women give up their jobs to make way for the unemployed. May I be permitted to suggest that more unemployment has been caused by the work now done by married women in their homes than has been brought about by their work afield? The average married woman who works can afford, and does have, a servant. If she does not work afield, she must work at home, and one of the comparatively few servants of today is out of a job. JUST FOLKS

WOMAN AND MAN.

Since the days of Eve and Adam man has done his best to be
And goes strutting in her presence in a lordly sort of way.
Then a frail and gentle maiden, with a power which seems absurd,
Can wind him round her finger—till the wedding has occurred.
In his eager days of courtship man is prey to woman's whim.
The damsel that he fancies can do anything with him.
She can change his every notion, she can lead him where she will.
She has but to speak her wishes and her orders he'll fulfill.
She can wheedle him to doing things he's never done before,
And can absolutely rule him—till the honeymoon is o'er.
We are products of our women, after all is said and done.
They have shaped us and have trained us since the race was first begun.
When the ladies fancied whiskers every lover wore a beard,
But Van Dykes went out of fashion when the first sweet maiden sneered.
As it was in the beginning, so with love 'twill always be—
Man will try to wear the raiment that his sweetheart likes to see.
Not by law are men made over—that's the work of love alone.
The power belongs to woman, if the truth were only known.
She can mold man to her wishes, for the fact is very plain
There is little he won't venture for the maid he wants to gain.
She may easily reform him when he's hanging round her gate,
But to try it after marriage may be just a trifle late.

MRS. HOOVER URGES LIVING NORMAL LIFE

Women Should Continue to Buy, She Says; Opens Girls' Convention.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Mrs. Herbert Hoover's suggestion to American women during period of economic stress is "keep on living a normal life."

"The one who is not in trouble will have to help the one who is in trouble," she said in an interview today. Mrs. Hoover is here for the national convention of Girl Scouts.

"Do not curtail too many activities that are essential, because you throw the whole machine out of gear.

"If we all stopped buying any more than we have to have, employment would drop tremendously.

"Keep on spending money as a people.

"Everyone should seize the opportunity to do what he can."

Elaborating on not curtailing necessary expenditures, Mrs. Hoover referred to her own housekeeping problems.

"The White House windows," she said, "will need new curtains within the next year or two. I suppose the frayed edges might be cut and made to do.

"But the man in Washington who would make the new curtains is having a difficult time. An order for curtains for the White House windows—they are so awfully big—would be of considerable help to him."

Mrs. Hoover believes American women can aid definitely in preserving world peace. "Friendliness toward our neighbors is the expedient way," she said.

Mrs. Hoover donned her Girl Scout uniform today when she opened the seventeenth annual convention of the National Council of Girl Scouts.

Introduced to scout leaders and delegates by Mrs. Frederick Edey, of New York, national president, Mrs. Hoover spoke for eleven minutes, her address being broadcast over a Nation-wide hook-up.

The First Lady stressed that she was attending not so much in her official capacity as in the role of an interested listener. She emphasized the opportunities periods of financial stress bring to the Girl Scout organization.

"This is a year for us to take stock of the serious side of girl scouting, its much encouraged 'service,'" she said. "In this year of trial and depression, we may see what part in alleviation the Girl Scouts will take, individually and collectively.

"There has been no general program for the organization * * * but I was greatly interested in the discussion of the subject at the executive committee meeting, to see how the Girl Scout Troops were already meeting their share of the problems."

Mrs. Hoover then outlined a number of ways in which Girl Scouts could be of service.

Dog Facing Death Penalty Reprieved by Appeal Bond

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Help came at the last minute today, and Roxie escaped death by the wag of a tail, so to speak.

Thousands have read about Roxie, German shepherd dog sentenced to death on a charge of viciousness. Scores offered to aid in financing an appeal to the Circuit Court, after Justice Paul W. Shafer granted a five-day respite when he passed sentence. The time expired at 5 p. m. today.

The offers, however, were mainly promises, and when Wayne Rosenbloom, Roxie's owner, attempted to obtain a $200 bond for the appeal today, he had trouble finding a bondsman. Just before the time expired, John A. McIlwhan, former secretary of the local Kennel Club, put up the bond, and saved Roxie's life—for another two weeks, at least.

Roxie's case will await its turn on the Circuit Court docket. The State is rounding up witnesses against the dog, including the postman and the milkman. Offers are coming in for funds to hire an attorney to defend Roxie.

Meanwhile, letters are pouring in on Justice Shafer pleading that he "do something" to save Roxie from the death sentence.

The raids followed six months of investigation by a special squad of prohibition agents.

Borah Is Witness At Fraud Trial

Senator Denies He Acted for Defendants Facing Mail Charges.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—United States Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, appeared at the Federal Building today to testify for the Government in a mail fraud trial, in which the defendants include the Franklin Plan Corporation, of New York, the Franklin Plan Corporation, of New Jersey, and two other concerns and several individuals. None of the defendant companies or individuals has any connection with the Franklin Plan Corporation, incorporated in Delaware.

The senator was requested to appear because representations had been made to stock purchasers through salesmen that the corporations had obtained a charter to open and conduct a national bank through the good offices of Senator Borah.

Senator Borah when called to the witness stand denied having ever had any connection with the defendant companies, and said he had never authorized the defendants to represent him as being interested in the companies. He said he had never undertaken to get at national bank charter for the companies. Under brief cross-examination Senator Borah was excused.

French Car Manufacturer Is Made Life Member of Society at Luncheon.

(Associated Press.)

Andre Citroen, French automobile manufacturer, said yesterday his country's motor industry was in sound condition.

The industrialist discussed with Army ordnance officials a track-laying machine manufactured by him and now undergoing experiments in the Army.

Later he was presented to President Hoover by Ambassador Claudel, of France. On leaving the White House he said his visit was one of courtesy. He said he did not discuss economic problems.

230,000 Cars Annually.

Automobiles were being manufactured in France at the rate of 230,000 annually, he said. American automobile sales there totaled 12,000, he added.

Citroen, who produces 75,000 of the French output, said production had declined only 10 per cent.

Following luncheon at the French Embassy M. Citroen and Mme. Citroen, accompanied by Ambassador and Mme Claudel, visited the headquarters of the National Geographic Society, where M. Citroen gave officers of the society a private showing of motion pictures of the Citroen-Haardt transasiatic expedition, with which the society is cooperating.

Made Life Member.

Preceding the showing of the motion pictures, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the society, presented M. Citroen with a certificate of life membership on behalf of the trustees, in recognition of his sponsorship of several important expeditions including the trans-Asiatic expedition.

Also at the showing were the Swiss Minister and Mrs. Peter, and Dr. John Oliver La Gorce, vice president, who represented the society when the expedition took its departure from Beyrouth, Syria, last April.

The motion pictures disclosed the high lights of the trans-Asiatic expedition which, with its specially constructed tractor-type cars, is crossing the least-known region of Asia, over some of Marco Polo's trails, through Syria, Iraq, Persia, Afghanistan, India and Kashmir. The scenes showed the cars fighting their way over the snow-bound, flood-washed trails of the Himalayas and Pamir, "roof-of-the-world" region, at 14,000 feet, until they entered the mountain settlement of Gilgit to the amazement of the natives who never before had seen a wheeled vehicle.

Trunk Lines Argue Freight Car Rents

(Associated Press.)

Trunk line railroads argued freight car rents yesterday before the Supreme Court. Led by the Rock Island, the carriers attacked an Interstate Commerce Commission order issued in July 1930. Some sections of that order relate to payments by short line roads for the use of freight cars belonging to trunk lines. Representatives of the latter contended relief granted short lines from some of the expense entailed in previous agreements was not justified by evidence on which the commission changed the order.

Central railroads also contested a July, 1928, commission order reducing rates in that territory on mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials. They contended they had not been given a proper hearing by the commission; that the evidence did not warrant the order.

DRY RAIDERS ACTIVE IN SOUTH MARYLAND

3 Arrested; Suspected Car Lost in Smoke Screen After Long Chase.

Federal dry agents in Southern Maryland had a busy day yesterday; they arrested three persons, and lost a suspected rum car after a 20-mile chase which ended in Washington in a smoke-screen.

Explosion of a 750-gallon still Sunday, which is reported to have killed an unidentified colored man, was followed by the arrest yesterday of Herman Thiela, on whose property near Davidsonville the plant was located. Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner J. Frank Parran, at Upper Marlboro, he was charged with possession, manufacture, and possession of articles for the manufacture of liquor. His bond was set at $1,000.

Joseph Lorance and his brother, Stanley, both of Newberg, Md., were arrested on information furnished by Karl Krause, of 612 Maryland avenue southwest, who was arrested several days ago. Krause, arrested early this week near T. B., Md., with a case of alleged liquor in his car, told the agents he got the contraband from the Lorance brothers. Krause was released under bond of $200 on charges of transportation and possession.

$500 Bond Is Set.

Joseph Lorance was charged with sale and possession, and his bond was set at $500, while Stanley, charged only with possession, also will be released under similar bail.

Starting near Upper Marlboro early yesterday morning, two of the agents chased a heavily laden car along the Marlboro pike toward Washington, but lost it in the vicinity of Fifteenth and H streets northeast, where a smoke screen was turned on them. The agents, T. C. Allen and H. G. Mitchell, said the chase was about 20 miles.

Two Prisoners Freed.

Hearings before Commissioner Parran yesterday resulted in release of two persons and decision to hold another for trial by the Federal court at Baltimore. Dixie Kurry, of Morgensia, Md., was freed after proving an alibi. He was arrested by agents who said they saw him at a still they raided, but his sister told Mr. Parran that he was with her all the day of the raid.

T. N. Bateman was held on liquor charges preferred after a still was found on his farm near Charlotte Hall, Md., but his wife, Arva, was released. Agents said the road to the 1,000-gallon distillery led directly past Bateman's house.

Bride, Shot in Heart, Now Prays to Recover

Chicago, Oct. 14 (U.P.).—A 21-year-old bride who amazed surgeons by clinging to life after she had shot herself through the heart, changed her mind about dying tonight; prayed that she might recover.

Physicians will attempt tomorrow to remove the bullet which pierced the heart of Mrs. Helen Smith and lodged in her back. The doctors announced that she had a bare chance of surviving, despite that she went about her household work and prepared her husband's dinner for three hours after the bullet pierced the lower part of her heart.

HOSPITAL REJECTION OF CHILDREN PROBED

Social Agencies Council to Hear Superintendents' Stories Tomorrow.

Detailed reports are expected today by George S. Wilson, director of public welfare, from Children's Hospital and Gallinger Hospital on the cases of the three ill children, two of whom later died, who were refused admission in the past ten days. Meanwhile an inquiry also is being made by the Community Chest and the Council of Social Agencies as to Sibley and Emergency Hospitals.

The reports may not be made public before a meeting of the Council of Social Agencies and superintendents of all hospitals involved tomorrow afternoon, Mr. Wilson said.

While declining to pass judgment before receiving the hospital reports, the public welfare director said that it was the instruction of his department that in all emergency cases treatment should be given first and then an inquiry be made as to whether the patient was rightfully admitted.

Children's Hospital and Gallinger Hospital are held accountable for only two of the cases. Samuel Goddett, 9 years old, died of lockjaw at Gallinger after being denied admission to Children's and Emergency. Catherine Zanelotti, 3 years old, was turned away from both Children's and Gallinger and finally was treated by a private physician. She was said not to be an emergency case.

Eva Mae Dixon, 5 years old, died of burns at Children's Hospital after being transferred from Sibley to Garfield. In both the Dixon and the Goddett cases hospital physicians claimed they suspected contagious disease.

Director Wilson yesterday issued a warning to parents to act calmly in instances of sudden illness of their children and advised them always to call a physician before taking the patient to a hospital.

"Hospitals are for a particular purpose," he said, "and not for the treatment of every kind of sickness. Persons too poor to afford a doctor can always call a police station and a physician will be sent without cost."

PLANTERS CONDEMN FARM MARKET ACT

National Grain Dealers Reelect Nebraska Man as President.

Houston, Tex., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Passage of a resolution condemning the agricultural marketing act, and the reelection of President Hugh A. Butler, of Omaha, Nebr., marked the close of the National Grain Dealers Association convention today.

The resolution asserted that the marketing act had been "an utter failure," and declared that the business of marketing agricultural products "can no more exist part government, part private, than this country could exist half slave, half free."

J. W. Evans, Houston cotton merchant, said that wheat and cotton were the Siamese Twins of depression.

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Leaders of agriculture brought reports of Middle West criticism of the Federal Farm Board as they gathered to frame a program for the December meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

A. J. Olson, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau, said farmers in the Northwest were "distinctly disappointed" in the Farm Board. William H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau, said his field agents found farmers "anxious at least to amend the agricultural marketing act so that the equalization fee plan or some such plan could be included."

St. Louis, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—James C. Stone, chairman of the Farm Board, in a radio address here tonight said most complaints about the Farm Board has come from those who "are perfectly willing for the Government to help them, but don't want it to help any one else."

"One would also think that when Congress passed this act," he said, "agriculture had been singled out and was the only industry the Government has ever helped. We all know this is not true.

"The farmer doesn't want anything but fair treatment. He is entitled to that, and is going to get it."

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 14 (U.P.).—The Long plan for cotton relief, defeated by both houses of the Arkansas special Legislature, was revived today by the Senate.

A resolution by Senator Hendricks, of Pulaski County, was adopted calling for a reconsideration of the bill. The Texas plan for cotton acreage control already has been adopted by both houses and awaits the governor's signature, expected this week.

District Ignored, Delegate Snubbed, at Fete Parley

Owen, With Belated Invitation to Bicentennial Conference, Lacks Password and Is Denied Admittance; State Groups Discuss Plans.

An invitation was finally sent to the District of Columbia Bicentennial Commission requesting attendance at a meeting of eighteen State commissions with the United States Bicentennial Commission yesterday, but the Washington representative failed to gain entrance to the conclave.

The representative, Cecil Owen, failed to get into the meeting because Representative Sol Bloom, associate director of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, didn't know him. When Mr. Owen, in response to the belated invitation, went to the meeting, he was greeted by Mr. Bloom, but was informed that without a letter of introduction or other credentials, Mr. Bloom could not accept him as representing the District commission.

Mr. Owen was offered the telephone and urged to call for identification, but he declined this gesture and left the national commission's offices.

The invitation was not extended to the District commission to join the conference until after following newspaper accounts had pointed out that the Washington body had not been invited to participate.

At the conference Robert Lecky, jr., of Richmond, told of plans by Virginia to reenact the principal events connected with the various Washington shrines in that State.

Tentative plans call for pageants at Mount Vernon, Wakefield, Fredericksburg, Epping Forest and other places with which the name of Washington is associated, he told Mr. Bloom, who assured him of the national commission's support.

Philadelphia plans to reenact the sitting of Continental Congress in Independence Hall for its part in the bicentennial celebration, George W. Elliott, secretary of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, told Mr. Bloom.

Among other arrangements is a possible ringing of the Liberty Bell, now enshrined in Independence Hall, he said. Pageants also are planned at Valley Forge and Germantown, Mr. Bloom was informed.

The State commission representatives were here on their way to Yorktown for the sesquicentennial celebration this week. They were received by President Hoover at the White House at noon and later were guests of Mr. Bloom at a luncheon at the National Press Club.

Armed Guards Await Move Of Cyr in Governorship Row

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Gov. Huey P. Long had an armed force ready tonight to combat any efforts former Lieut. Gov. Paul N. Cyr might make to oust him and seize Louisiana's chief executive office.

Cyr took the oath of office as governor yesterday and announced he would attempt to remove Long and assume the governorship on the grounds that Long has been elected to the United States Senate and therefore can not be governor at the same time.

Squads of State highway policemen remained on duty during the day and night at the governor's mansion and State Capitol with orders to resist any attempt on the part of Cyr to take office.

A special guard was placed in the office of the secretary of state, presided over by Miss Alice Lee Grosjean with orders to eject Cyr if he came in and to arrest him if he formally pressed his claim.

A third angle was injected into the situation today when a hitherto unknown and unemployed citizen, Walter L. Aldrich, of Shreveport, went before E. G. Eagle, a notary public, and took the oath as governor.

Cyr's supporters claimed it was an alleged attempt on the part of the Long forces to burlesque Cyr's contentions, but in a statement Aldrich said he based his claim on the assumption that the governor's office was vacant and that "all good lawyers know that any one may take possession of and retain abandoned property."

"If what Paul Cyr asserts to be true both in fact and in law that Gov. Long vacated the office when he was elected to the Senate, of course the office was then and there abandoned by him," said Aldrich.

"Mr. Cyr erred in continuing to serve as lieutenant governor. Therefore, we find that the office may be abandoned and probably is abandoned, if what Mr. Cyr contends be true. All good lawyers know that any one may take possession of and retain abandoned property. The people are entitled to a governor. I am qualified for the office—probably better than some who are candidates for the office."

He closed with a warning to both Long and Cyr not to interfere with his authority and that within the next few days he would give instructions to the State departments.

Late today Senator Alvin O. King, president pro tempore of the State Senate and third in the constitutional line of succession to the governorship, took the oath as Lieutenant Governor at the State capitol on the claim that Cyr vacated that office when he took the governor's oath in Shreveport. Senator King was sworn by the assistant secretary of State.

Dr. Cyr spent part of the day in conference at his home in Jeanette. This afternoon he conferred at New Iberia with United States Senator Edwin Broussard, who is supporting him in his claim to the governorship.

Cyr said he might move on Baton Rouge tomorrow and that he seriously regarded himself governor and intended to exercise the prerogatives of that office.

Long was in the mansion during the day with two armed State policemen standing guard inside the vestibule. They were directed to allow Cyr in State offices and the mansion only as a private citizen

With both Long and Cyr violent in their claims, some definite action was expected soon that would clarify the situation that now has the State in tense excitement.

DIVORCE IS SCORED AS CAUSE OF CRIME

Former New York Police Aid Points Out Evils at Florida Conference.

St. Peterrsburg, Fla., Oct. 14 (A.P.). Divorce was held up as one of the fundamental causes of crime, juvenile delinquency and wrecked home by Dr. Carlton Simon, former deputy police commissioner of New York, in an address here today.

Speaking to the International Association of Police Chiefs, Dr. Simon said "nothing assumes greater proportion, nor is of greater significance, than deprivation of suitable parental guidance to a growing child."

He scored alimony and said breach of promise suits "should not be permitted by our judiciary."

He said alimony was an accompanying evil of divorce and that in many cases it is "comparable to legalized prostitution, the woman frequently seeking matrimony with the one idea that her marital relations will be of short duration and that the law will provide her with an income for life."

Dr. Simon said money obtained from breach of promise suits "can never compensate a moral woman and no honest woman desires the money of a man who does not want her. This legal action has been used as a tool by the blackmailer and untold victims have been gouged by designing women and bands of criminals."

E. J. Jett, of the Federal Radio Commission, and W. E. Longfellow, of Washington, representative of the National Red Cross, were other speakers on today's program.

The convention will close tomorrow.

Atwater Kent Auditions Begin in Capital Tonight

The first group of Atwater Kent radio audition singers, composed of 33 young women, will be heard at the studios of WRC of the National Broadcasting Co., in the National Press Building this evening at 8 o'clock.

Audition contestants will assemble in room 1282. Each singer will be allotted a period of five minutes, which may be utilized to sing one or two songs according to her choice, according to George W. Offutt, president of the Washington Board of Trade, and chairman of the local audition group. The singers include twelve lyric sopranos, one dramatic, two mezzos, three coloraturas and five contraltos.

Kenneth Berkley, manager of WRC, will direct the audition. Other members of the committee are Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman of the Board of District Commissioners, and honorary chairman of the fifth national radio audition committee; Mrs. Gertrude Lyons, president of the District Federation of Women's Music Clubs, survey chairman, and Edwin F. Hill, information director of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., information chairman.

The twenty-one boys who have enrolled will have their preliminary audition tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The four best singers in each group will compete in the finals to be held during the week of October 25. The final feature will be broadcast by WRC.

Singers in the final event will have an opportunity to participate in the $25,000 cash award and scholarships for the successful finalists. Singers of first place in the national finals—one young man and one young woman—each will receive $5,000 in cash, a gold decoration and two years' tuition in an American institution of music or instruction from a recognized music teacher. Winners of second place will receive $3,000 and one year's tuition. Third place winners will receive $2,000 and one year's tuition, and fourth place winners will receive $1,000 and one year's tuition.

Grover Whalen's Talk Put Off to Next Week

Address of Grover Whalen, former police commissioner of New York City, before the Washington Board of Trade, set for tonight, has been postponed until next Wednesday, because of illness.

Mr. Whalen's appearance will be at first fall meeting of the trade organization. Interest has been aroused by announcement of his visit because of the prominent place in public affairs his position as police commissioner gave him.

Subject of Mr. Whalen's address will be announced when he is introduced. Mr. Whalen is general manager of the John Wanamaker Store in New York.

Clara Bow's Secretary Fails to Win Release

Los Angeles, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Daisy De Boe, convicted former secretary to Clara Bow, film actress, failed today to obtain her release, Superior Judge W. C. Doran denying both her motion for a stay of execution and her plea for release on bond pending appeal.

She was convicted on one count of grand theft after she was alleged to have used a check belonging to Miss Bow to buy herself a fur coat.

Clan to Unveil Magruder Memorial at Hyattsville

The twenty-second annual two-day gathering of American Clan Gregor Society will begin in the Willard Hotel today.

The program today includes dedication of a memorial tablet to Alexander Magruder, progenitor of the Magruder family of America, who was one of the Scotch soldiers in the army of Charles II when the king invaded England to recover his throne. Alexander Magruder was transported to Maryland.

The tablet, contributed by William Pinkney Magruder, member of the clan's council, will be unveiled in Hyattsville Presbyterian Church at noon, the address being delivered by Caleb Clarke Magruder, governor of the Society of Colonial Wars of the District of Columbia and former chieftain of the clan.

Luncheon will be served by the ladies of the church, following the ceremony.

At the evening session at the Willard reports of officers will be made. The chieftain, Egbert Watson Magruder, of Norfolk, will deliver his annual address. The clan will make a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon tomorrow to pay tribute to the Father of his Country. The evening program at the Willard will conclude the gathering.

The hereditary chief of the clan, which traces to King Alpin, is Sir Malcolm MacGregor, of MacGregor, Baronet, of Lochearnhead, Scotland, admiral during the World War, in charge of the transportation of troops from Great Britain to the continent. Prominent clansmen in the United States Navy include Rear Admiral Thomas Pickett Magruder and Commander John Holmes Magruder, naval attache at The Hague.

Rubber Boat Sails for America.

Lisbon, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Fritz Engler, a second officer for the Hamburg American Line, sailed for New York today in a rubber boat, expecting to make the trip in 70 days via the Canary Islands and the Bahamas. Engler said the boat was unsinkable.

Postage Rate Increase Is Opposed by Kendall

(Associated Press.)

Representative Kendall, of Pennsylvania, is another member of Congress who believes Postmaster General Brown's efforts to obtain an increase in the first-class postal rates will not meet congressional approval.

Kendall is ranking Republican on the House postoffice committee. He said he would oppose any effort to increase the first-class postage rate from 2 to 2½ cents, and predicted if the rates should be raised there would be enough shrinkage in the volume of first-class mail to prevent an increase in revenue.

Millions Distributed Locally in Contracts Placed by District and Merchants.

Large expenditures in Washington on contract awards by the District Commissioners, Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., Capital Traction Co., Potomac Electric Power Co., Washington Railway & Electric Co., and the American Automobile Association are revealed in a report compiled by the Buy-in-Washington Council and released yesterday by E. J. Murphy, president of the council.

Contracts awarded by the District Commissioners to Washington contractors in 1931 amount to $1,333,878. The total amount of contracts awarded locally during the past four years, including 1931, is $9,976,383. Out-of-town contracts for the four years total $2,788,999. Contracts awarded out of town in 1931 amount to $970,852.

Telephone Co. Buys Much.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. awarded $278,300 worth of contracts to local concerns in 1931, and paid $8,000,000 in salaries and other incidentals. For the past four years, including 1931, contracts awarded locally by the telephone company totaled $1,957,300, minus satiary and other incidental expenditures which averaged $8,000,000 each year. Contract awards by the telephone company in Washington in 1928 were $258,000; in 1929, $1,094,600, and in 1930, $26,400.

Local contracts awarded by the Capital Traction Co. for 1928, 1929 and 1930, aggregated $6,394,971. The 1931 figure has not been compiled. For 1928 the contracts totaled $2,132,094; for 1929, $2,127,446, and for 1930, $2,135,431. These estimates include wages and salaries.

Electric Contracts Large.

The Potomac Electric Power Co. and the Washington Railway & Electric Co. spent a total of $47,871,143.84 in Washington during the past four years, including salaries, construction, work, &c. The expenditures year by year follow: 1928, $11,459,719.80; 1929, $13,247,398.38; 1930, $12,708,893.06, and 1931, $12,455,132.60.

The American Automobile Association spends an average of $700,000 a year in Washington in salaries and other expenses, the report shows.

The council received this report with approval, and also expressed appreciation over award of contract locally for construction of the new Garfinckle and Jelleff's stores.

Shoot to Kill, Order In Theater Bombing

Chicago Mayor Planning to Make Every Effort to Stop Dispute.

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Thirteen theater bombings in recent weeks led today to an order of "shoot to kill" by Commissioner of Police James P. Allman and Mayor Anton Cermak. The thirteenth bomb was thrown last night at the feet of two policemen guarding a theater, one of several in dispute with picture operators.

"The bombers can't keep getting away," Allman said. "We expect to kill a few of them if they keep this bombing up."

"We'll take any measures, however drastic, to stop it," seconded Mayor Cermak.

Allman smiled, but declined to answer, when asked whether he had machine guns planted at affected theaters, mostly outlying.

Mexican Railroad Hopes To Prevent Wage Strike

Mexico City, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—C. R. Titcomb, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico, said today that the railroad company still hoped to avert a threatened general strike. Its case had been put before the Federal Board of Arbitration, he said, with a request for permission to make a 10 per cent reduction in wages.

He said the railroad showed a profit of only $31,080 last year and stood to show a deficit of $629,000 this year unless it could reduce expenses.

Fight on Pullman Rates Is Won by Theater Folks

(Associated Press.)

Theatrical troupers of the three-a-day who travel two by two have won the first round of a fight with the Pullman Co.

The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday suspended, until May 13, schedules of the company increasing charges for berths occupied by two persons. Complaints of the theatrical companies were announced as largely responsible.

An extra charge of 20 per cent of the lower-berth fare was proposed by the company, in addition to present rates, when a second passenger occupies an upper or lower berth, or a section in a sleeping car. The only requirement at present is that the second passenger have proper railroad fare; there is no Pullman charge.

An inquiry will be made by the commission during the suspension. Theater groups in Hollywood, notably Fanchon and Marco, and the Paramount Publix Corporation, were among those protesting the proposed increase.

Fanchon and Marco said 5 per cent of the troupe members are given Pullman sleeper accommodations, one berth being provided for two persons. Its annual railroad transportation bill was set at $700,000 for 40 companies of about 25 members each, traveling between Los Angeles and Boston. The Paramount-Publix Corporation argued an increase would add greatly to its annual expense for railroad transportation.

Complaints also were lodged by the Travelers' Protective Association, the Arizona Corporation Commission, and Evans & Howard Sewer Pipe Co., of St. Louis.

Union of South Africa Maintains Gold System

Bloemfontein, Union of South Africa, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The economic system of the past is collapsing, Premier Hertzog told the Nationalist party congress today, and there can be no basis of reconstruction without revision of the Versailles treaty.

The government of South Africa, he said, is determined to retain the gold standard until it is driven off. "The British pound is not good money," he declared, "while the Union pound is good."

Dry Act Referendum Favored.

Boston, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The Republican Club of Massachusetts today ratified and approved a statement of its executive committee favoring submission of the eighteenth amendment, or some revision of it, to conventions of the States elected for that purpose.

Policeman McKinley's Trial Off for 2 Weeks

The case of Policeman A. D. McKinley, former police headquarters attache, which was to have been aired before the Police Trial Board yesterday, was continued two weeks because of the absence of McKinley's attorney and principal witnesses.

McKinley recently was charged with embezzlement and held for the grand jury in connection with alleged mishandling of Policemen's Relief Association funds.

Mississippi House Bill Urges Cotton Reduction

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The Mississippi House of Representatives today memorialized Southern States growing cotton to join in the enactment of legislation for the curtailment of acreage in 1932 and 1933.

Representative Sillers, of Bolivar County, offered the resolution, which was unanimously adopted and sent to the Senate for immediate consideration. Mississippi joined Texas and Arkansas in cotton curtailment with enactment of a bill for 50 per cent acreage reduction.

Tennessee Bank Chief Is Hit by Ouster Move

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Twelve citizens and taxpayers of Carter County, Tenn., filed suit in chancery court here today to oust D. D. Robertson, State superintendent of banks, on charges of malfeasance, misfeasance and neglect of duty.

They said the accusations arose from the manner in which he handled the affairs of the Bank of Tennessee, a subsidiary of Caldwell & Co., investment banking house, both of which collapsed a year ago. Carter County had $124,721.53 on deposit in the Bank of Tennessee when it failed.

THREE INDICTED IN AUTO KILLINGS

A manslaughter indictment was returned yesterday by the Prince Georges County grand jury against the driver of the auto which is alleged to have struck and killed James P. Egan, an editor of the American Federation of Labor, near his home in Riverdale, Md.

The indictment charges Clarence Worthy with being responsible for Mr. Egan's death. The editor was struck while attempting to cross the Baltimore boulevard last summer.

Joseph O. Santucci, of Oak View Terrace northeast, was also indicted for manslaughter, being charged with the death of Margaret Lauer, of 2205 Lawrence street northeast. Miss Lauer was killed several weeks ago when an automobile driven by Santucci turned over near Hall Station, on Central avenue.

Lee Heights Group Adds 34 Members

New Citizens' Association in Arlington County Adopts Constitution.

Thirty-four members were added to the rolls of the recently organized Lee Heights Citizens Association at its second meeting at the home of Morton Q. MacDonald, president, last night.

A proposed constitution was adopted. President MacDonald announced appointments of chairmen of various committees as follows: Audit, Raymond B. Leavitt; membership, Stanley H. Williamson; paint-up, clean-up, Dr. Charles Conrad; parks and gardens, Mrs. Charles Conrad; public utilities, E. E. Naylor; publicity, Raymond B. Leavitt; streets, roads and sidewalks, Clegge Thomas.

Delegates to the Arlington County Civic Federation also were named. They are Mrs. Ruby Lee Minar, E. E. Naylor and Stanley N. Williamson. Alternates are Mrs. Morton Q. MacDonald, Dr. Charles Conrad and W. W. Wright. The president was presented with a carved gavel by F. C. Tacker.

One Sheriff Aspirant Braves Bad Weather

More than 300 citizens of Ballston stood in the rain in the open on the field at Wilson boulevard and Clements avenue last night to listen to candidates for trial justice of the new county court and for the office of sheriff.

Sheriff Howard B. Fields who seeks his third term, was the only candidate for that office to answer when his name was called. Chairman Glover Payne remarked that "voters of Ballston will challenge those who have failed to appear. The weather is not too bad for the citizens." Candidates for trial justice who spoke were Walter U. Varney, M. G. Ely, B. M. Hedrick, Bryan Gordon, H. W. Dudley, W. Thomas French and J. Hammond Brewer, jr.

Montgomery Red Cross Plans to Be Discussed

Plans for the annual roll call will be discussed at a meeting of Montgomery County Chapter, American Red Cross, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Rockville High School. Other important matters also will be discussed, according to Mrs. Mina Church Brann, of Cabin John, county chairman.

Mrs. Brann will report on a conference recently held in Washington at which it was decided that all subscriptions given by residents of Montgomery County will be credited to the county quota regardless of where they are given.

Virginia Churches Join Mission Week Program

The Presbyterian churches are observing National Missions Week beginning today, with the various churches in the Washington Presbytery meeting in sections.

Virginia churches in the Washington Presbytery will hold this conference today in the Presbyterian Church in Falls Church. Churches taking part in this meeting will include churches at Arlington, Clarendon, Ballston, Clifton, Falls Church, Manassas, Lewinsville, Idylewood and Vienna.

The Ladies' Aid and Missionary Societies of the Falls Church Presbyterian Church have made special plans for serving dinner.

A Prince Georges County jury yesterday awarded a verdict of $258.75 to Everett Owens, of Bradbury Heights, in his suit against Robert L. Tyler, of Seat Pleasant. Owens was represented by Attorneys Leroy Pumphrey and Adrian Fisher.

Owens had sued to recover $500 claimed on a note signed by Tyler, who said the amount represented an unpaid balance on a house which he had bought from Owens, but that the deal had been called off.

Park Community House Holds Meeting Tonight

Park Community House will hold a meeting tonight, one of a series of four, at which candidates for the county board will be heard. E. J. Skidmore will talk on the proper marking of the ballot.

Those candidates who will speak are Mrs. Elizabeth B. McGruder, Louis C. Carl, Herbert L. Wilson, William E. A. McShea and Fred A. Gosnell.

Virginia Bicentennial Body Scored for Harmony Lack

"It's time to do something or quit," was the message of Representative Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria, Va., to the Northern Virginia bicentennial coordinating committee, of which he is chairman, at a meeting last night in the town hall at Vienna, Va. "My time belongs to the people of my district (Eighth Virginia Congressional)," he declared, "and if I can not serve them and accomplish something as chairman of this committee, I will be forced to resign so that I can devote my time to something more beneficial to them."

"I have faithfully devoted myself to this work as many of the rest of those present have," he stated, "but, if the people of the various communities do not cooperate and coordinate with us, it is time for this committee to cease to function."

The Northern Virginia committee is composed of the representatives of the communities in Arlington, Fairfax and Prince William Counties and the City of Alexandria, and because of the lack of harmony among the membership of the various subcommittees this committee has accomplished very little, according to the reports submitted last night by the subcommittee chairmen.

Representative Smith's remarks came at the close of the meeting, after he had asked Capt. Thurlow White, of Bailey's Cross Roads, to preside. He called on the subcommittees to hold meetings prior to the next meeting in November, in Alexandria, and to reach some conclusion, and bring definite plans before the entire body at that time. He specially asked the finance and publicity committees to harmonize their plans so that a specific program could be worked out in bringing Northern Virginia before the thousands of visitors expected during the celebration next year.

APPROACH RIGHTS SOLUTION IS SEEN

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Settlement of the controversy over rights of way for the Washington street approach to the new Arlington Memorial Bridge has been promised for today, and the work of grading the road will be started immediately, it was reported at last night's meeting of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce.

The report was made by Monroe H. Stockett, chairman of the committee on streets and highways, who said he had been in communication with both County Engineer C. L. Kinnier and Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth. Mr. Stockett explained that it is the plan of the county to grade the road this fall so it may settle during the winter.

The Washington street project is the only direct approach to the new bridge in immediate prospect from this section of the county, and has the backing of the Chamber of Commerce, the Arlington County Civic Federation and all other organizations in the northern section of the county.

Upon recommendation of the streets and highways committee, the board decided to request the county board of supervisors to extend Spruce street beyond its present limits in Lyon Park to connect with the Lee boulevard.

Efforts also will be made by the chamber to have the Virginia State Highway Department to extend the Lee boulevard to Arlington avenue.

A Fields-for-Sheriff Club was organized at Fort Myer Heights, Arlington County, yesterday with the election of the following officers: F. B. Scott, president; J. A. Beall, vice president; J. C. Milstead, treasurer, and Homer Randolph Thomas, treasurer.

The Men's Club of St. George's Episcopal Church will hold its monthly meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Parish Hall.

Pleading not guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor, Walter Norman, James Anderson and Lee Herrington, all colored, were held for the grand jury by Police Judge Harry R. Thomas. The grand jury will convene at the opening of the October term of the Circuit Court of Arlington County Monday.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the James Monroe School at Aurora Heights will hold a reception for the teachers in the school auditorium following a business meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

There will be a business meeting of the Arlington County Business and Professional Women's Club at 8 o'clock tonight at the home of the president, Mrs. Millicent Willis, Experimental Farm.

Arlington Women Hear Candidates

Voters Told That Need of County Is Strict Business Rule.

Voicing their candidacy for membership on the county board of five which will replace the present county supervisors, 19 of the 51 candidates addressing the meeting of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County yesterday in the Odd Fellows Hall, Clarendon, stressed that what the county needs most is the election of five persons who will give to the county a strictly business administration.

Attention was drawn to the importance of the selection of the proper person as county manager.

Those speaking were Mrs. Florence E. Cannon, Arlington; Mrs. Elizabeth B. McGruder, Clarendon; G. Frank Allwine, Virginia Highlands; William M. Ball, Clarendon; C. H. Bowbeer, Ballston; Louis C. Carl, Lyon Village; Freeland P. Chew, Lyon Village; Henry S. Coe, Arlington, A. H. Cohen, Lyon Park, Harry A. Fellows, East Falls Church; Robert H. Foreman, Glebewood; John C. Gall, Aurora Hills; William C. Hull, Livingstone Heights; Lyman M. Kelley, Clarendon; L. C. Lloyd, Clarendon; Frank E. Martin, Veitch, and William E. A. McShea, of Mort Myer Heights. Mrs. Ruby G. Simpson presided.

Child Is Injured in Auto Accident Near Bethesda

Shirley June Guillot, 3 years old, was bruised on the head yesterday when a car driven by her mother, Mrs. Minnie E. Guillot, 3120 R street northwest, was struck by a car driven by George A. Cooper, 2737 Devonshire place northwest, on River road near Bethesda, Md.

Mrs. Guillot had turned left to enter the driveway of her father, T. J. Stacks, when her car was struck and forced into a ditch. Shirley was treated by Dr. E. G. Bauersfeld, of Bethesda.

Ladies Aid Society to Meet.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Columbia Baptist Church at Falls Church will hold its annual all-day business meeting and election of officers today in the church parlors on Washington street. The nominating committee includes Mrs. David R. Luttrell, Mrs. J. C. Parrott and Mrs. Elmer Via.

FAIRFAX RED CROSS MOVES UP ITS DRIVE

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

Mrs. John Warnock Echols, of Vienna, Va., was selected yesterday to head the annual drive of the Fairfax County Red Cross Chapter. Mrs. Echols succeeds Edward C. Gibbs, of Mount Vernon, who has directed the drives for several years, but was unable to act this year because of absence from the county.

Tentative plans were made yesterday at the meeting of the chapter's executive committee at Fairfax, Va. A partial list of the committee to assist Mrs. Echols includes Miss Nancy Merchant at Clifton Station, Mrs. George R. Bready at Herndon, Mrs. A. J. Robey at Centerville, Mrs. J. B. Davis at Burke, Mrs. D. F. Hannah in Falls Church district, Mrs. J. W. Cox at Accotink, Mrs. M. M. Barnard at Lorton, Col. Wood at Fort Humphreys, Mrs. U. S. Walter at McLean, Miss Nora Ellmore at Floris and Miss Jennie Moore at Fairfax.

Because a large number of the county residents are employed in Washington, and during the national drive contribute to the Red Cross from their offices, the chapter voted to begin the drive on November 1 instead of the eleventh. An appeal will be made to the persons employed in Washington and Alexandria to make their contributions in the county, as 50 cents of each dollar collected is returned to the local chapters for county work. On November 3, the day of the general election, the chairman of the roll call plans to have a worker in each of the 25 voting precincts in the county. Final arrangements will be made on October 26, at a meeting of the executive committee, called by Mrs. Russell A. Lynn, of Herndon, chairman of the county chapter.

The School and Community League, of Chesterbrook, Va., will meet this evening in the schoolhouse auditorium. New officers will be elected.

Arlington Chest to Meet.

John C. Gall, temporary chairman of the committee for a Community Chest for Arlington County, announces that there will be a meeting of chest societies at 36 Wilson boulevard, at Clarendon this evening at 8 o'clock.

CAPITAL TEMPLARS TO MEET SATURDAY

Class of 25 Will Be First at Alexandria Memorial in All-Day Session.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Washington Commandery, No. 1, of the District of Columbia, will hold an all-day conclave in the George Washington National Masonic Memorial Temple Saturday, beginning at 9 a. m., when the Order of the Temple will be conferred on a class of 25 candidates by Most Worshipful Grand Master C. Fred Cook. Luncheon will be served at noon and invited guests will attend a dinner at the George Mason Hotel at 6 o'clock.

The grand master of Templars in the United States, Perry W. Weidner, thirty-third degree, will attend. This will be the first time the Order of the Temple has been conferred in the new memorial. J. Claude Keiper, secretary and treasurer of the Memorial Association, will knight the first man to receive the honor in this temple.

Members of Old Dominion Commandery, No. 11, of Alexandria, and all Knights Templar living near Alexandria are invited to attend the exercises. Invitations have also been extended to grand commanders of six jurisdictions and to all members of the Supreme Council of Scottish Rite Masons who are Templars.

Members of Old Dominion Commandery will assemble at 6:45 o'clock Saturday evening in front of the George Mason Hotel and, headed by a police escort and the Citizens Band, march to the temple at 7 o'clock.

Some of those who will participate in the exercises are Perry W. Weidner, thirty-third degree, California, grand master of Templars in the United States; John H. Cowles, thirty-third degree, Kentucky, grand commander, A. A. S. R.; Levi M. Myers, grand standard bearer of Pennsylvania; Clyde P. Love, grand commander of Pennsylvania; Eugene E. Thompson, grand commander of the District of Columbia; Sam P. Cochran, thirty-third degree, past grand commander of Texas; Thomas G. Fitch, thirty-third degree, past grand commander of Kansas.

McCrea, thirty-third degree, Washington; Francis S. King, thirty-third degree, Wyoming.

Seized Glass Jar Caps Turned Over to Charity

Glass jar caps, destined for use on liquor containers and seized by Prince Georges County policemen in a recent raid, have been turned over to Judge Retta D. Morris for use by church women who are canning fruit for charity.

About 500 of the caps were given to Judge Morris, head of the Associated Charities, of Hyattsville, by J. J. Crowley, chief of police. The canned fruit will be distributed throughout the winter by the Associated Charities.

Peace House Christened by Mrs. Hoover

First Lady of Land Busy in Buffalo at Girl Scout Meeting.

Mrs. Hoover, accompanied by her secretary, Miss Mildred Hall, will return to the White House tomorrow from Buffalo, where she is attending the national convention of the Girl Scouts. She made an address before the convention yesterday. As honorary president of the organization, Mrs. Hoover's program in Buffalo has been crowded.

After delivering the address yesterday she christened the Girl Scout Peace House, facing the Niagara River, near the Peace Bridge. Last evening she was the guest of honor at a dinner and attended the evening session of the convention and a reception.

Mrs. Hoover arrived in Buffalo Tuesday and outside of a brief visit to Niagara Falls, she spent much of the day with the national board of directors of the Girl Scouts.

Chilean Ambassador Entertains Misses Chilton.

The Chilean Ambassador, Senor Cruchaga, entertained at dinner last evening at the embassy in honor of the Misses Chilton, daughters of the British Ambassador to Chile, Sir Henry Getty Chilton, and Lady Chilton, who are in Washington for a brief visit before sailing for Santiago to join the ambassador. There were twenty guests.

The former United States Minister to Egypt and Mrs. Franklin Mott Gunther have returned from Long Island where they passed the summer and are at their Georgetown home, Decatur House, at 2812 N street.

Mrs. Royal S. Copeland, wife of Senator Copeland, is in Atlantic City, where the senator will join her tomorrow.

Sir Alexander Lawrence and Sir Francis Goodenough will speak on "India" and the "Crisis of England" at the luncheon to be given tomorrow by the Washington branch of the English Speaking Union at the Willard. Col. George B. McClellan will preside and Col. Maurice Fitzmaurice Day, military attache of the British Embassy, will represent the embassy.

The French Ambassador, Mr. Paul Claudel, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the embassy in honor of Mr. Andre Citroen, the Fretch motor manufacturer, who arrived in New York Monday for a visit in this country.

The ambassador accompanied Mr. Citroen to the White House yesterday at noon, and presented him to the President.

The Ambassador and Mme. Claudel will leave today for Old Point Comfort, where they will be at the New Chamberlin Hotel during the Yorktown celebration.

Members of the French embassy staff will join them there for various events in connection with the sesquicentennial celebration.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann will leave the Capital this evening to go to New York to greet her husband upon his arrival from Germany Saturday morning. It is probable they will spend the week-end in New York.

Mrs. Gann was the guest of honor at a luncheon and bridge party given Tuesday by Mrs. Davis B. Wills, at her residence in Ashmead place.

The Counsellor of the Czechoslovakian Legation and Mme. Skalicky will move today to the Westchester, where they have leased an apartment.

Ceremony Takes Place in St. Martin's Church; Reception Follows.

The marriage of Miss Catherine C. Jackson, daughter of Mrs. Catherine V. Jackson, to Mr. Edwin Thomas Pairo, son of Mrs. Emma K. Pairo, took place last evening in St. Martin's Church, with the Rev. Arthur A. O'Leary, of Georgetown University, officiating. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. William Y. Jackson, wore a gown of white faille. Her tulle veil was held in place by clusters of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and gardenias.

The maid of honor, Miss Helen Mary Jackson, sister of the bride, wore a frock of blue faille. Miss Gertrude Louise Jackson, also a sister of the bride, was a bridesmaid, and wore a frock like that of the maid of honor in pink faille. Mr. Barton William Pairo, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Harold Thomas and Mr. Robert O'Leary. A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride. After a wedding trip by motor through the Southern States, Mr. Pairo and his bride will reside in Washington.

O'Briens Are Back From Trip to Europe.

Col. and Mrs. Arthur O'Brien have returned to their home, Estabrook, after passing the summer abroad, where they spent a month aboard the yacht of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cadwalader, of Philadelphia, cruising along the Scandinavian coast, exploring the fjiords and viewing the magnificent country from a maratime aspect.

While abroad Mrs. O'Brien made the acquaintance of her new granddaughter, Mary Claire, daughter of Baron and Baroness van der Elst. Baroness van der Elst was formerly Miss Alison Roebling, and Baron van der Elst is Secretary of the Belgian Legation in Budapest, Hungary. Mary Claire van der Elst and Margaret Alison Hagner, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hagner, and another granddaughter of Mrs. O'Brien, are the great-great granddaughters of the late John A. Roebling, who designed the Brooklyn Bridge. The opening of October 24 of the new George Washington Bridge, the work of Mr. Roebling's descendants, will be celebrated by the Princeton University Press with the publication of a history of the distinguished family, builders of bridges and other historic structures.

Mr. C. J. W. Torr, second secretary of the British Embassy, has sailed for England for a short holiday. Mrs. Torr remained in their Georgetown house, where Mr. Torr will join her late in November.

Miss Olivia Phelps Stokes has rejoined her parents, Canon and Mrs. Anson Phelps Stokes in Washington, coming from Stockbridge, Mass., where they have a summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Covington, formerly of Chicago, who made their home in Washington last winter, have returned after spending the summer in Lake Forest, Ill., and have taken a house for the season at 3436 Thirty-fourth street.

Castles Plan Dinner For Mlle. Laval

French Premier's Daughter, Independent, Speaks Fluent English.

The Undersecretary of State and Mrs. William R. Castle, jr., will entertain at dinner on Saturday evening, October 24, in honor of Mlle. Josette Laval, daughter of Premier Laval, of France, who will accompany her father to this country. Doubtless other festivities have been arranged for the pretty daughter of the French statesman by officials in the Department of State, although no other dates have, as yet, been announced.

Invitations, already out for the dinner to be given by the Castles, have been extended to young men of the State Department, and the young diplomatic set in Washington. Having overruled her father's objections to her making the trip to America, Mlle. Laval expressed the independence of spirit for which she is famous, and a royal good time awaits her arrival in the Capital, "Beautiful," in the opinion of her acquaintances. Mlle. Laval speaks fluent English. She is ultramodern in her attitude toward life, but she studies at home a great deal to perfect herself in the work of assistant to the premier.

Miss Hough Married To William McNeir.

One of the important early fall weddings, which took place yesterday, was that of Miss Frances R. Hough, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Hough, and Mr. William McNeir, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. McNeir. The ceremony was performed at noon in All Souls' Memorial Episcopal Church, the rector, the Rev. H. D. Sterrett, officiating.

The bride wore a costume of sapphire blue chiffon velvet with a hat to match and a corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. John Kratz, matron of honor, was in black velvet with cloth of silver and wore a black velvet hat and carried an arm bouquet of American beauty roses.

Mr. George McNeir was best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Charles Lee Cooke, of the State Department, and Col. Wallach A. McCathran, U. S. A.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeir left after the ceremony for a short wedding trip, and after December 1 will be at home at 1844 Monroe street. Mr. McNair is a native of Washington and has been an official of the Department of State for several years.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George McNeir, of New York City; Mr. Thomas S. McNeir, of Bronxville, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Burrows McNeir, of Warrenton, Va.; Mr. B. George Thomas, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. J. Crosson Hays, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Albert R. Warner, of Cleveland.

Miss M. H. Trefusis, of Ireton-in-Devor, England, is a guest at the Dodge for several days. Miss Trefusis is the daughter of the late Bishop of Credeton, Exeter, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Morris are in Atlantic City, where they will be for a week before returning to their home on Colorado avenue.

Tea by Notts Honors Envoy From Ecuador

Dr. and Mrs. William S. Nott entertained at a tea yesterday afternoon at their home on Thirty-ninth street in honor of the Minister of Ecuador and Senora de Viteri. At the tea table were Senora de Sacasa, wife of the Minister of Nicaragua; Senora de Recinos, wife of the Minister of Guatemala; Senora de Diez de Medina, wife of the former Minister of Bolivia; Mme. Skalicky, wife of the Counselor of the Legation of Czechoslovakia; Mme. Papanek, wife of the Secretary of the Legation of Czechoslovakia; Senora de Campos Ortiz, wife of the First Secretary of the Mexican Embassy, and Mrs. Luther Reichelderfer, wife of the Commissioner of the District.

Among the guests at the tea were the German Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron, the Chilean Ambassador, Senor Don Miguel Cruchaga; the Turkish Ambassador, Mr. Ahmet Muhtar; the Argentine Ambassador, Senor Don Felipe Espil; the Minister of Finland, Mr. L. Astrom; the Minister of Czechoslovakia and Mme. Veverka, and the Minister of Bolivia and Senora de Abelli.

Capt. and Mrs. Augustus B. Jones entertained at the dinner dance at the Shoreham last night. Their guests included Col. and Mrs. C. C. McCormack, Maj. and Mrs. Robert Strong, Maj. and Mrs. Carl Seal, Maj. and Mrs. Charles A. Stammel and Maj. Robert H. Duenner, U. S. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Marlatt will entertain the members of the Huguenot Society of Washington this evening at their residence in Sixteenth street. The new president of the organization, Dr. Charles S. Lobengier, will be in the receiving line to greet the guests.

The engagement of Miss Marian Munroe Gray to Mr. C. Oliver O'Donnell, of New York, has been announced by Miss Gray's mother, Mrs. Kenneth P. Budd, of New York, and Newport. Mr. O'Donnell is the son of Mrs. John C. O'Donnell, of Baltimore and Washington. The marriage will take place next month.

Miss Gray, daughter of Mr. Austen Gray, of New York, is a great-granddaughter of John Munroe, founder of the banking house in Paris which bears his name. The family has been prominent in New York and Paris society. Miss Gray is a graduate of Miss Chapin's School and made her debut two or three years ago. She is the niece of Mrs. R. S. Reynolds Hitt, of Washington, and grandniece of Mrs. Harry Ridgeway and the late Baroness Henri Hottinguer, of Paris.

Mr. O'Donnell, who received his early education in England and was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1919, is related to many of the old families in the South and is connected with the Iselins, of New York. He is a member of the Knickerbocker, Union and New York Yacht Clubs, of New York, and of the Baltimore Club, of Baltimore.

BLUE—long absent from the home fashion-palette—has returned—smarter than ever. Our studio of Interior Decoration sponsors its use as draperies in bright, cheery rooms — in rich, plain colored or new, two-toned fabrics . . . and as an accessory color in combination with warmer tones for rooms without such an abundance of light. These distinctive fabrics—many exclusively here—show the importance of new blues.

In Damask—

Soft blue blended with gold forms a perfect background for this conventionalized damask pattern used as draperies in formal drawing rooms. A yard, $9.75.

In Glazed Chintz—

In Linen—

An Adam design of graceful simplicity is hand blocked on this heavy blue and ivory linen. A fabric much used for draperies in 18th Century rooms. A yard, $6.75.

In Striped Moire—

A striped design in blue and rose with touches of yellow and black is significant of the Directoire period. We suggest its use for draperies and upholstery. A yard, $7.50.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

FOR THE four-day period, beginning tomorrow, the radio networks invite listeners to listen in on highlights of Virginia's celebration of the 150th anniversary of Cornwallis' surrender to George Washington at Yorktown, Va.

The broadcasts will be marked by addresses by world figures, including President Hoover, Gen. Pershing and Marshal Petain, of France. The reception to Marshal Petain, who will arrive in Old Point Comfort this morning, will be heard over WRC.

The afternoon broadcast will present Gov. John Garland Pollard of Virginia, and Robert Luce, Massachusetts congressman, with music by the United States Marine Band (WRC, 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon).

A colonial pageant, depicting scenes of the history of the original thirteen colonies, has been scheduled by WMAL for late tomorrow afternoon.

That Mrs. Hoover is the possessor of one of the most pleasing feminine voices ever heard over the air may be attested by those who listened to her 15-minute address before the Girl Scouts' convention in Buffalo yesterday morning. Like the President, she speaks naturally and easily.

Incidentally, the N. B. C. Washington crowd put over a fast one on Columbia in securing Mrs. Hoover's broadcast. It was one of the few times the First Lady of the Land has spoken at such length on the radio. Apparently Columbia was caught asleep at the switch.

THE first of a series of talks under the caption of "The Man in the Front Row" will be delivered by Edwin C. Hill, reporter of the New York Sun since 1910, in a new program to be known as the Hart, Schaffner & Marx Trumpeters, beginning tonight (WMAL, 10 o'clock).

Hill will tell each week some of the many interesting episodes in which he has taken part in more than 20 years of newspaper work. Inmportant national celebrities will be mentioned frequently, for Hill has known Presidents Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding and Coolidge. He likewise has enjoyed the confidence of many who have had their eye on the White House, including Bryan, Hughes, Cox and Smith.

"America, Russia and George Bernard Shaw: A Reply to the Recent Broadside From London" is the title of an address to be delivered on Sunday by the Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, of Georgetown University. Dr. Walsh is an authority on modern Russia, and the author of two volumes, "The Fall of the Russian Empire" and "An Interpretation of the Soviet Five-Year Plan."

The answer to G. B. S. will occupy a half hour over WMAL beginning at 1 p. m.

TELEVISION will be called into play next week to link two New York theaters, and later it will become a regular feature on the variety bill of the Moss Theater. Bits of productions by Theater Guild players, presented before the television "eye" of apparatus installed for the purpose in the guild playhouse, will be intercepted as ten-foot-square television images on the Moss Theater stage. The apparatus used will be that developed by Ulysses Sanabria, Chicago television inventor.

On October 24 the entire television apparatus, including sending and receiving equipment, will be in operation during each variety program at the Moss Theater. The television transmitting booth will be wheeled out on the stage. Suspended above the stage will be the screen. Thus the actors will be seen by the audience both as microphone and television eye pick up their voices and images, and as they appear on the television screen suspended above. Loud speakers will reproduce the voices.

Morris Gest, the producer, who was present when the television demonstration plans were announced, declared that he planned to present "The Miracle," or some other production, by television from a central point in the country as soon as found feasible.

Television at present is limited to close-up views of faces of those who stand before the television eye to be projected on the screen.

The pilot of Notre Dame's "Fighting Irish," "Hunk" Anderson, will be first in the list of football coaches to face the mike in a Friday evening series (WMAL, 10:30 o'clock tomorrow night).

WOES of the new Spanish government, the attempt to force Ramsay MacDonald's resignation and a resume of Sino-Japanese relations will be topics for news re-enactments when the March of Time goes on the air (WMAL, 8:30 p. m. tomorrow).

Tamara, of "Crazy Quilt" and "Free-For-All," will sing Russian and modern American tunes with Rudy Vallee's Orchestra tonight (WRC, 8 o'clock).

Experience of Capt. Howard Blackburn, veteran Gloucester fisherman who escaped death by freezing when lost at sea for six days off the dreaded fog-bound Newfoundland banks, will be related in two installments by Col. Goodbody tomorrow and Saturday (WRC, 9:45 a. m.).

Ferdie Grofe, American composer-conductor, will return to the air, assisted by June Fromen, when the Florsheim Frolic series is renewed (WRC, 10 o'clock, tomorrow night).

CONCERT groups of the National Music League will be heard in a series of weekly programs over WRC, beginning Thursday, October 26. Mrs. Otto H. Kahn is president of the league. Among the groups are the Brahms Quartet, the Roxy Male Quartet, Manhattan String Quartet, Barrere's Woodwing Quintet.

Hungarian Artist Makes First Washington Visit

Rudolph Kiss, Hungarian portrait painter, arrived yesterday from California, where he recently completed a portrait of Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo. This is his first visit to the United States.

Mr. Kiss was hailed as a child prodigy when, in 1906, at the age of 14, he had pictures at expositions in Berlin, Vienna and Paris. He has painted a number of famous personages, including the King and Queen of England, the Prince of Wales, King Charles, Prince and Princess Braganza and Count Andrassy. He is at the Mayflower Hotel.

Americans to Visit Pope.

Rome, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Bishop Thomas C. O'Reilly, of Scranton, Pa., and the Rev. Thomas Shannon, of Cleveland, Ohio, arrived in Rome today for an audience with Pope Pius, which probably will be granted next Monday or Tuesday.

Dan Interprets the Mode

New York, Oct. 14.

THE young lady of from 8 to 18 years is just as much interested in the romantic styles as is her mamma—yet she's been badly disappointed this season. Fashion decreed, unkindly, that no young girl's wardrobe, bearing even a hint of second empire influences, was permissable, from the standpoint of good taste—with one exception. Puffed sleeves not only could be allowed, but were decidedly youthful and chic on girls of all ages, from babyhood to debutante days!

So, in spite of pouts and sighs, little ladies aren't clothed very differently from what they have been for past winters. Woolen dresses are universal for daytime wear, and for dress-up, velvet, in brown or black or dark blue, trimmed with dainty lace touches. And even if the children themselves are displeased, the mothers and older sisters find the straight lines and dainty hand touches perfectly adorable and wish they themselves were back to the good old days when such clothes could form the perfect frame for their young, fresh beauty.

Writes Dione: "Don't throw away old magazines, but save them for the rainy day when your children are home from school with a 'nawful cold! Give them a scrapbook, paste, blunt scissors and your old magazines and you won't have to worry any more about them. And you'll probably get a great kick out of the children's inventive genius!"

My deah Sunday night public has been howling ravenously for more and better Sunday night styles—so I sat me down and designed a Sunday night ensemble that's guaranteed to appease their desires! And the way I did it, as you can see in the sketch today, is tricky. Here's how it goes: There is a gold and black lame (lahmay) tunic, a la Patou, with incrustations at the top of the bodice giving the effect of cross-over straps. These incrustations do hang loose at the ends, however, and are tied into a soft bow. This tunic is worn over a full, plain black satin skirt. 'N' last but not least, there's a black chiffon coat, just the length of the tunic, and with cuffs and a wide border of black monkey fur. This coat buttons on each hip, giving a double panel effect down the front, and shows the design of the lame (lahmay) through in a most intriguing way!

• • • •

• • • •

Well, sometimes we want blouses and sometimes we want vestees. 'N' occasionally we like to combine a blouse with a skirt and form a dress! 'N' wanting all these things and being lovely ladies, we're going to have them! But it needn't be as 'spensive as it sounds—for if you send your stamped, self-addressed envelope right away to the Dare department of The Washington Post you'll learn how simply, smartly and economically one blouse may fulfill all three purposes! And you'll know that it's really very easy to have a fresh blouse of the right type always on hand!

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

NOT ENOUGH TROUBLES.

DEAR Frances McDonald: I have read your column for a long time and would like to tell you about myself.

I was a physically normal bride of 21. Have a very fine husband—ideal in every way and very much in love with me. At present he is out of work, just as thousands are on account of this terrible depression. However, I have a very good position and while I am working he is looking for a position and manages to do the housework besides. There is nothing in the world he wouldn't do for me.

My trouble is this. I have drifted into a very morbid attitude toward everything and everybody, after an unfortunate incident in my life. This incident is not much in itself, and is now forgotten, but my attitude lingers on to daunt me all the time. I feel all bitter inside and if I could scream that would help some. I am worrying all the time about myself for feeling this way. It is an awful morbid outlook, but the more I struggle the harder it is to overcome. Even before I knew my husband I was this way, but lately I have lost weight until I am now 30 pounds underweight. My father took me to a physician and alienist for thorough examination. They both say I am all right. I have nothing to worry me, as every one treats me lovely, and there is no trouble about in-laws or money. I can not understand it. When I am anywhere or doing anything at all, my uppermost thoughts are, "How can I stop thinking about myself." I have it in my mind that there is something wrong with me. I can not concentrate on anything else. True, I live like a normal person, but that is all secondary. It is like I am in a prison of my own thought, and can't break away except by suicide. If I wasn't well trained in religion, I suppose I would attempt that. It is honest-to-goodness torture to feel this way all the time. I haven't done anything very wrong. I did lie to my husband, but lots of couples have been happy where all the love was one-sided. I feel that I am going insane if I can't get away from myself, because I have just grown to dispise myself for not having a decent mental attitude. Sometimes I wonder just who I am. I feel that I am some one entirely different from myself. There is no happiness in all this. Isn't there some course of mental training that I could take that would cure me? I am dreadfully ashamed of course, no one knows of this besides my immediate family. I have tried dancing, swimming and other sports to relieve my mind. Could you make any further suggestions? Please do not laugh at this letter. I know it sounds ridiculous, but I was never more sincere in my life. MARY LOU.

Do you know what is really the trouble? Your life has been too pleasant and serene! Does that sound impossible? Well, there are thousands of cases just like yours. While the rest of the world are fighting for very existence a few people are going calmly from breakfast to lunch and from one good dinner to the next and never once having the least upheaval in their program. What is the result? When any small thing does loom up it becomes so very interesting that they never get over it! That is a fact. They talk about it for months and think about it for years. Where another person would have the incident forced out of mind by the next upheaval and the next!

I knew a girl who was the most pampered thing that ever lived. Her bed was turned down at night for her. Her glass of warm milk was served to her before she got up in the morning. No one ever questioned a wish or denied her anything. Years passed. Nothing happened. Then her moher died. As other mothers from the beginning of time have died. But how did the girl take it? Well, it sounds frightful to say it, but when I hastened over to offer assistance I was dumbfounded to see that my friend was flitting about as if preparing for any social function, except that social functions had never interested her as this untowed event. She asked me brightly about flowers, furniture changes for the service, consulted me as to what to do about out-of-town guests. It rather disturbed me as I knew she loved her mother, and I asked the doctor about it. He explained it as I have to you—and he prophesied that after it was over it would remain the outstanding interest in her life—unless she married or the house burned down. True.

Too true. Ten years have passed in which the rest of us have arranged and forgotten many such sad occasions, and plunged into the next problem, the next trouble, with what courage we could. Not so, Eleanor. After ten years, she can still tell just where Judge B sat at the service and what sort of roses Mrs. X sent. Her married sister who had six children could hardly tell you when the event happened, much as she grieved at the time. Do you get the hint? You are concentrating upon the unhappy incident in your life, not because it was so important, but because it was the only thing that has happened before or since that was at all unpleasant!

I am not hoping that you wake up to find the bed on fire, or that you break a leg—as a friend of mine just did—but I sure am hoping that you get the idea as to why you are worrying—and snap out of it! Imagine your poor dad taking you to an alienist! Can you picture what his feeling must have been to take such a step? Why on earth didn't the doctor use a slipper on you? I can just imagine how soon you would be yourself if hubby failed to find work, and then a baby came along and you had to give up your job, and dad lost his money and could not help you out. Believe me, you would right soon be taking charge, probably taking boarders, doing a wash at night, and would never again be able to recall what it was that made you so miserable when you had not a care in the world. Of course, I hope these things do not happen—or do I?

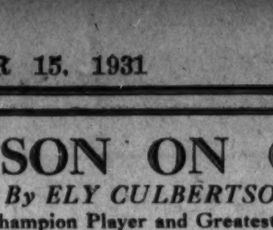
MAKING DEFENSE DIFFICULT.

IT is the mark of a great Contract player to give as much information as possible to his partner in the bidding without revealing all the strength or weakness of his hand to his opponents. It is also the mark of a great Contract player to make the defense as difficult as possible for his adversaries. Whenever there are two lines of defense possible, the one the Declarer desires his opponents to take should be made to appear the most desirable, provided, of course, that the resources at his command permit him to in any way confuse his opponents.

Recently, in the individual Masters' Pair Contract Tournament held at Deal, New Jersey, there was an excellent illustration of this principle in the play of Mr. Willard Karn, who won the gold cup given by himself.

Both sides vlunerable.
East—Dealer.



The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1♠	Pass
2♣	Pass	2♠(1)	Pass
4♠(2)	Pass	Pass	Pass

2—East's Raise is optimistic.

In the play, North, the leader, was confronted with a variety of leads, all bad. The lead of the fourth best heart does not appear particularly desirable. In view of East's bid of clubs, the opening of that suit would appear to be to the advantage of the Declarer, while the lead of a diamond might easily result in losing the Queen. So North, no doubt wisely, selected a trump as the opening lead. This Mr. Karn won with the Queen and at once led a club. North refused to win and the trick was won with the Queen in the East hand. This appeared to locate the Ace of clubs and so the Declarer returned to his own hand for a second lead of clubs while he still had a trump entry in the Dummy. The way in which he returned to his own hand furnished the text of this article. Instead of leading a second round of trumps he chose a small diamond and won in his own hand with the King. It is the practice of Declarers holding the Ace-King combination to false-card with the Ace. Mr. Karn's choice of the King was not accident, but was designed to convince North that he was leading from the Dummy with the hope of making the singly guarded King of diamonds. North had already shown that he was in doubt as to the situation in the red suits. After winning the trick with the King, Mr. Karn laid down the second round of trumps and then led the last club toward the King in Dummy. This trick North felt compelled to win, but he still faced the choice of a lead. To lead a trump would be to afford West three discards and might thus easily give the Declarer the remaining tricks. To lead the heart appeared to be playing the Declarer's game, so North, faced, as he thought, with a choice of evils, led a diamond. West's play of the King had proved to be an effective ruse. The Knave in the Dummy was played and held the trick. North's last trump was picked up and the losing heart discarded on the clubs. The rest of the West hand was good and West had not only made his bid, but 2 overtricks, clearly due to the fact that he had made it difficult for his North opponent to choose the correct line of defense.

TODAY'S POINTER.

The value of most honor combinations is positional because the winning of tricks depends upon the position (favorable or unfavorable) of higher missing honor or honors. The value of all low cards is distributional because the available number of such tricks at any given bid varies largely according to the type of distribution (lengths) in the suits and the hands.

All low-card values arise from two extremes of length:

(a) Long suit tricks are established and won because of the greater length of the suit.

(b) Short suit tricks become possible because the very shortness of the suit permits the player to ruff the losers from his own hand in Dummy and, by making use of otherwise worthless trumps, gain an extra trick or tricks.

What Today Means to You

LIBRA.

IF October 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m, from 3:10 p. m. to 5:20 p. m., and from 8:45 p. m. to 10:35 p. m. The danger hours are from 11:35 a. m. to 2 p. m., and from 5:55 to 7:30 p. m.

The stars presage a day of quiet happiness on October 15, although there will be no special achievement accomplished. There will be, apparently, no inducement to exert one's strength or to test out one's ability. Routine and obligatory work will be the safe bet, and nothing out of the ordinary should be attempted. Toward eventide, conditions become unsettled.

A child born on this October 15 will be excessively optimistic. This will help it at times, but on other occasions, it will be a drawback, as it will never be in the frame of mind to discount dangerous contingencies. Its horoscope denotes many ups and downs, a life full of happenings, and much travel.

You, if born on October 15, are impetuous, mercurial and shifting. You have too exalted an opinion of yourself to ever become a good executive or control others. Your temperament is too changeable to inspire respect for your opinions. You are too variable to warrant or bespeak confidence. On the other hand, you can be, when you so desire, sympathetic and kind. If the one on whom these virtues are expended does not, however, fall in with your wishes and acquiesce in your ideas, sympathy and kindness are replaced by indifference and "stoniness." To secure your cooperation or assistance, it is necessary for the one seeking it to sink his or her individualism, and follow your lead.

If a woman, and married, your home will be run perfectly, your children will be well trained—as distinguished from "brought up"—and, if he allows it, you will dominate your husband. The result will be machine like, but not very human, and it will not endure as a permanent institution.

Both men and women born on October 15 are slaves to what they consider their duty and principles, and in their own domain resent any elasticity. If in business, they should go it on their own, as frequent clashes would occur with a partner or associate.

Successful people born on October 15:

William S. Sims, Admiral U. S. Navy.

Frank V. Van Der Stucken, musician.

Albert L. Rawson, artist and author.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

ARE ALUMINUM PRODUCTS POISONOUS?

THE evidence accumulates that cooking in aluminum vessels is not a dangerous practice. Of course, the wild statements that eating foods thus cooked caused cancer had no basis whatever, but they did have the earmarks of propaganda inspired by somebody. The wild-eyed foolishness had one good effect. It was so expensively and so industriously pushed that it reached a great many people and thus, indirectly, caused several research laboratories to undertake investigations.

Since so little is known about the cause of cancer, scientific research on that angle of the question could not be expected to get far. There were other charges that could be inquired into with due regard to scientific requirements. These have been covered and the evidence is conclusive.

Whenever food is cooked in any kind of a metal utensil some of the metal goes into solution. This is true of aluminum utensils as well as those made of iron, copper and brass. The amount of aluminum that goes into solution in the food is far below any dose which could possibly do any harm.

The indirect confirmation which has piled in an abundance of facts relates to the use of alum carbonate in baking powder. De Tourtelette and Rask did experimental work with this preparation of alum, which proved to them that it was harmless from the practical standpoint. They found that aluminum salts pass through the digestive tract without being absorbed.

This is essentially true of most of the heavy metals. They do not irritate the wall of the digestive tube, nor are they absorbed by it. This is best known as to iron. To get a grain of iron absorbed when it is given internally it is necessary to give Blaud's pills by the hundred and tincture of iron by the pint.

People who drink iron spring waters know that they void iron, as the black sulphide and other salts, and they must stick to the job of drinking to get any amount of iron into the blood. Those who take lime preparations in efforts to increase the lime in the blood know another illustration.

The second point made by these investigators was that aluminum in any practical quantities is not poisonous, nor is it detrimental to any bodily function. The amount that could be gotten into the tissue was always much below the level where harm began.

ELIMINATING RAGWEED.

M. A. C. writes: Is there not something you can do, in the way of publicity or otherwise, for the elimination of ragweed from which so many suffer dreadfully? No other such menace to health and happiness is allowed to exist, and why this? You will earn the gratitude of many if you will get this movement started.

REPLY.

There is considerable evidence of an awakened interest. In some places the Government is undertaking to keep down ragweed and other causes of hay fever. Some of these places are advertising the fact to attract hay fever sufferers.

In some places the law provides for the authorities to cut weeds on private property, and collect the cost from the owners. In many the law compels the eradication of weeds that threaten property. That is a sign that, eventually, the same type of protection will be afforded people.

The newspapers are giving space to weed-cutting stories. All of which indicates that you have reason to hope.

ATTENTION, MATRONS!

The deep V-shape front is probably one of the best means of breaking the breadth through the bodice. The frilled jabot contributes length and softened effect.

Style No. 143 may be had in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material with ½ yard of 39-inch contrasting.

Sheer woolens, silk and wool novelties, canton crepe and sheer velvet are lovely for this charming model.

BRITISH METHODISTS ARE GUESTS AT FETE

Fifty Methodist leaders from Great Britain, who are on their way to the Ecumenical Methodist Conference in Atlanta, were guests at a reception last night at Foundry Methodist Church given by the three branches of the Methodist Church in Washington—the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and the Methodist Protestant Church.

The three branches were represented by Bishop William F. McDowell, Bishop Edward D. Mouzon and Dr. Leonard B. Smith. A message of greeting from the British Ambassador was read to the visitors by a representative of the British Embassy.

A number of prominent Methodist clergymen are in the visiting party, including Dr. G. Ryder Smith, president of the English Wesleyan Conference. The meeting they have come to this country to attend is held every ten years.

President Hoover yesterday afternoon received a message of international good will from a group of the visiting churchmen, led by Dr. Smith. They were presented at the White House by Charge D' Affaires Osborne, of the British Embassy.

Those who accompanied Dr. Smith were the Rev. Ford Reed, president of the United Methodist Church of Great Britain; the Rev. Robert Bond, secretary of the Wesleyan Methodist Church of Great Britain; Dr. Richard Fyke, former president of the United Methodist Church, and the Rev. Edwin Finch, secretary of the Department of Temperance and Social Welfaret of the Wesleyan Methodis Church.

President Hoover will address the conference in Atlanta by radio the evening of October 25.

Mooney-Billings Release Demanded at Meeting

Demanding the "immediate and unconditional release" of Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, held at San Quentin Prison in connection with the "Preparedness Day Bombing" at San Francisco, Calif., Washington labor organizations last night held a mass meeting at 1024 New Jersey avenue northwest, where speakers urged all labor sympathizers to "join the long fight for the pardon of the martyrs."

The meeting also sponsored a protest against the imprisonment of 135 Harlan (Ky.) coal miners arrested for alleged strike activities, and nine colored boys sentenced to be electrocuted in Scottsboro, Ala.

Soroptimists Vote Aid In Unemployment Relief

Accepting a pledge previously adopted by several other service organizations, the Washington Soroptimist Club, meeting yesterday at the Lafayette Hotel, voted to give all possible aid to the present unemployment situation.

The club was awarded five scholarships, three from the Marjorie Webster School and two from the Temple Business School. The scholarships from the Webster School were given for the departments of physical education, speech and school for secretaries.

NAVY PLAN TO DROP NEWPORT OPPOSED

Senator Metcalf Believes That Fighting Strength Is Being Jeopardized.

(United Press.)

The Navy yesterday began to hear from sectional interests that would be affected by economies proposed to meet President Hoover's demand for a $61,000,000 reduction in naval expenditures.

Senator Jesse H. Metcalf (Republican), Rhode Island, made a vigorous protest to Secretary Adams over proposals to abolish the naval training station at Newport, R. I. Under one economy plan all training activities on the East Coast would be centered at Hampton Roads, Va.

Senator Metcalf said he was reserving judgment on the economic plan as a whole, but he was decidedly opposed to any reduction of the Nation's fighting strength. The senator came here on his new yacht, on which he plans to live all winter while Congress is in session.

Naval officers still are working on detailed means of meeting the budget reduction demanded by the President. Two broad plans have been outlined. Under one, a fifth of the active fleet would be laid up. The other calls for abolition of numerous navy yards and shore stations which officers long have regarded as "political."

Ludington Line to Start Norfolk Service Today

The first airplane, flying a new 80-minute service between Washington and Norfolk, Va., will leave Washington-Hoover Airport this morning at 11:05 o'clock, it was announced yesterday by Gene Vidal, executive vice president of the Ludington Air Lines.

Under the new schedule, Ludington planes will make the round trip twice daily. Southbound planes will leave at 11:05 a. m. and 3:05 p. m., while northbound planes will leave Norfolk at 8:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. Ten-passenger trimotored planes will be used.

GOVERNOR OF TEXAS DEFIES COURT ORDER

Injunction in Eastern Texas Oil Field Disregarded by Executive.

Kilgore, Tex., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Gov. Ross S. Sterling held the East Texas oil field under control tonight with troops, defying a Federal court injunction restraining State officials from interfering with operation of certain wells.

He declared the principle of "State's rights is involved and the Federal court should not be permitted to throttle the will of the people."

Federal Judge Randolph Bryant who granted the Brock-Lee Oil Co. the temporary injunction permitting operation of five of its wells, said the governor's action was "simply a judicial matter" to be settled October 29 before a three-judge Federal court at Beaumont.

The injunction granted yesterday at Tyler was directed at the State railroad commission, the militia and the attorney general.

Gen. Wolters issued a military order today embodying the governor's commands, and declared that he followed instructions of the governor as commander-in-chief of State troops, not the orders of the State railroad commission.

District Kiwanians Winchester Hosts

Members of the Washington Kiwanis Club were hosts to the Winchester Kiwanis Club and a delegation of the recently organized club of Arlington County, Va., at a luncheon meeting yesterday at the George Washington Hotel in Winchester, Va.

The luncheon was an interclub meeting of the three clubs and was in charge of Edwin F. Hill, vice president of the Washington club and chairman of Kiwanis education for the Capital Kiwanis district, which includes 46 clubs in Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

Dr. Robert M. Glass, president of the Winchester club, extended a welcome to the visitors. Lawrence C. Hollis, program chairman of the Winchester club, sponsored the meeting. An address on the administrative principles of Kiwanis International was made by Harry G. Kimball, district historian and former district governor.

Ship Board Funds Show Big Surplus

(Associated Press.)

The Shipping Board won't need any more Government money to operate vessels in the next two years.

A surplus has been created by sales and other collections, Chairman O'Connor of the board said yesterday that since this fund would be sufficient to run the ships in 1932 and 1933 as well, no further appropriations would be asked from Congress for the Merchant Fleet Corporation, the operating agency.

Operations in this fiscal year required an appropriation of $1,970,000.

LEAGUE WILL INVITE AMERICAN TO TABLE

and cordially supported, and there was the added matter of America's reported determination not to accept unless all members of the council concurred.

The promptness or delay in the Japanese response, observers here believe, will be a good indication of Japan's decision on the question of the American invitation. If the Japanese cabinet is ready to agree, notification of its assent is expected early tomorrow.

Meanwhile, members of the council have decided the United States invitation would be based on the Briand-Kellogg pact, the coauthors of which are the council's president and Frank B. Kellogg, American jurist and former Secretary of State.

League circles expect that the American representative would sit in the council on the same terms as other members, except that he would not vote and America would not be bound by the engagements of the covenant.

me in as a one-fourth owner of a big place. After a while they declared me out of the partnership and I was just a manager."

Penovich refused to make any statement connecting Al Capone with ownership or management of the place. The Government produced a record of statements by Penovich during thirteen months of almost daily appearance before grand juries which indicted Capone, and Prosecutor Samuel G. Clawson said he would attempt to impeach the witness' testimony. Penovich left the stand shortly after, but is subject to recall as a witness.

Capone's biggest losses were recounted by Oscar Gutter, a hunchback "bookie" who said "Al dropped about $60,000 to me in 1927."

Gutter explained that he limited his clientele to "sportsmen who could make big bets, no pickers, you see." Gutter explained he considered a person making "a small bet like $500" to be to some extent a "piker."

Capone's bets always were at least $1,000, Gutter said, and sometimes he would bet $6,000 on a horse—$3,000 to win and $3,000 to place. His system was to make the wagers by telephone.

Capone shook his head in sympathy when Liedermann, the next witness, hesitatingly told the address of his present place of business. Liedermann said that he, Sam Rothchildt, and four other men maintained a handbook at Hawthorne race track, Chicago, in 1924 and 1925.

"Sure, Al was one of our best patrons," Liedermann said, grinning. "In 1924 he lost about $15,000 and the next year a little less, maybe." Rothchildt confirmed Liedermann's testimony.

Defense attorneys indicated they plan to rely on statements of gamblers concerning Capone's losses to offset Government evidence of lavish expenditure by Capone, his receipts of about $80,000 while wintering in his $40,000 Florida home, and the statement of his former attorney that he admitted an income of $266,000 over a four-year period.

The prosecutors questioned the bookmakers at length about how they were asked to appear at the trial. All of them replied that they were telephoned by Capone to appear at the Lexington Hotel Sunday afternoon, and agreed to testify. Capone also telephoned them last night, they said, and they gathered again at 8 p. m. at the hotel.

Chatting with the bookmakers in the corridor and apparently waiting to testify for the defense was Johnny Torrio, bullet-scarred predecessor of Capone as Chicago's gang chief. He had been subpensed as a Government witness, but was not called.

Seven Chicago Racketeers Are Sent to Leavenworth

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Seven racketeers were sentenced to prison today. The most notorious was "West Side Frankie" Pope, convicted before Federal Judge John P. Barnes last week for manufacturing alcohol. He got eighteen months in Leavenworth Prison and a fine of $5,000. His nephew, Fred Pope, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to a year and a day.

The leaders of a gang that collected $25,000 from saloonkeepers by posing as Federal officers were sentenced to serve seven years each. They were Charles Carney and Michael Kalmyer. Other members of that racket got lighter sentences.

The Popes had a still in suburban Melrose Park. After the raid, Government agents said the Popes offered them bribes up to $10,000.

Tennessee School Bus Crash Hurts 13.

Madisonville, Tenn., Oct. 14 (A.P.). Thirteen children were injured near here today as a school bus turned over on a sharp curve in the highway. The most seriously injured was Floyd Jones, 9 years old, who had a broken leg.

SOUR stomach

IF fear of what will follow overshadows the enjoyment of your meals, your system may be too acid.

Those pangs of indigestion right after eating and that lump you feel in your stomach for hours after, the flatulence and sourness, are the symptoms of over-acidity. Take an anti-acid and neutralize the excess acid. You won't be comfortable until you do.

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will always check that condition of over-acidity. It acts pleasantly, but promptly and most effectively. It supplies needed alkali to neutralize excess acids of the stomach and bowels. Headaches, flatulence and nausea are promptly relieved. Your digestion will speedily improve. Your appetite will be sharpened. Constipation quickly yields to the gentle laxative effect of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Many make a practice of taking a spoonful or two before meals one or two days weekly. It is a delightful way to keep the system always sweet and to keep the bowels from growing sluggish; also to guard against auto-intoxication.

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will check a cold in a hurry. Just take a spoonful at three-hour intervals until that weak, achy, feverish condition is gone and your head is all clear.

Get a bottle today, read the directions and learn Phillips' Milk of Magnesia's many important uses. For you and the whole family. 25c and 50c bottles can be obtained at drug stores everywhere.

..... that Stays Up in Your Motor and Never Drains Away

Almost half of all motor wear takes place while you're starting your car! And it's in the starting period that oils not germ processed fail to protect your motor. They lubricate your motor after it starts . . . but they drain away when your car is idle, leaving vital working parts unlubricated while you're starting.

Germ Processed Oil gives you safe lubrication not only after your motor starts but during the starting period! For only Germ Processed Oil has penetrative lubricity . . the ability to cling to, penetrate and combine with metal surfaces. A "hidden quart" of Germ Processed Oil stays up in your motor and never drains away. It cuts down starting wear and makes starting easier and quicker.

Save your motor from wear . . . Change now to Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, the only oil in North America made by the patented germ process. Fill up at any station that displays the Conoco Red Triangle.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

IT seems we are going to have another "permeer" in the grand, or Hollywood, manner.

The evening of Friday, October 30, there are to be goings-on at the Metropolitan Theater — high-powered spotlights, cameras, microphones and all that sort of thing, with the pictures taken as you go in flashed upon the screen before you come out, and what not?

This comes to me from Lew Braeger, hot from the publicity department of First National and Warner Brothers, who is in town for no other purpose than to steam up this particular event. The event, by the way, will be the world premiere of John Barrymore's latest film under the Warner banner, "The Mad Genius."

"The Mad Genius" will bring to the screen in addition to, and opposite, its star, Marian Marsh, the talented young woman who was recently in Washington in person and who also played opposite Barrymore in "Svengali," the revamped version of "Trilby," in which she played the original name part. There is a movement on foot—and I dare say it will get nowhere, since Miss Marsh was so recently here—to bring Marian back to the Capital for a series of personal appearances during this engagement.

As I understand it, the October 30 occasion will be in the nature of a semi-private preview for an invited audience, the public getting its first opportunity to view what is reputed to be one of Barrymore's best efforts on Saturday, the regular opening day for the Metropolitan's new bills.

Incidentally, there are rumors that all is not well in the Barrymore menage. Without authoritative information at hand, there still have been rumblings that a rift has made its appearance between the temperamental John and the equally-so Dolores. But don't say I told you—it may be the bunk.

Instead of flying back to New York yesterday with Tom Rooney, his personal secretary, Earl Carroll remained over to spread a party for a group of Philadelphia critics who came down as his guests to snatch a preview of the "Vanities" before it opens in the City of Brotherly Love on Monday.

The huddle into which Madam Mina Van Winkle and her henchmen went on last Sabbath evening amounted to nothing insofar as deletions were concerned, according to what the good Dr. Carroll tells me. The show went on Monday just as it had the night before—which, after all, is only bearing out what the New York courts decided as to the entertainment's legitimacy.

This desk, having sung the role itself for a week on a remote occasion, feels an especial interest in Mme. Schumann-Heink's appearance at the Belasco next week in "The Mikado." A playful agent, outriding the production as a lusty courier, has suggested that we stand ready to understudy the distinguished diva in case anything goes awry on opening night—a very swell idea, indeed. Can you imagine!

Mr. Robert Heinl, who presides over the columns of The Post devoted to radio, will have himself the time of his life next week when Joe Cook comes to the National in "Fine and Dandy." It seems that Mr. Heinl and Mr. Cook are from the same general locality in southern Indiana and divert themselves wisecracking back and forth across the footlights when happening to be in the same town at the same time, as will occur Sunday night. We Hoosiers sure do stick together!

Well, Beulah Bondi deigned not to reply to my note, but she must have forwarded it to brother Raymond, because I received a letter from him which is decidedly something after a quarter-century—or worse. As I say, we Hoosiers. . .

At the cinemagogues next week the attractions will be approximately as follows: Fox, Elissa Landi and Victor McLaglen in "Wicked," Fanchon & Marco stage show and Estelle Taylor in person; Metropolitan, Clive Brook and Kay Francis in "Twenty-four Hours;" RKO-Keith's, Lily Damita in "Lovers and Friends," Masquers Comedy and special African reel; Palace, John Gilbert in "The Phantom of Paris" and Loew stage show; Earle, Bebe Daniels in "The Honor of the Family" and vaudeville; Columbia, Eddie Cantor in "Palmy Days;" Rialto, Lew Ayres and star cast in "The Spirit of Notre Dame," second week.

Down at the Gayety, beginning with the matinee performance on Sunday, the new offering will be the "La Boheme Girls," which is taking on at least the implication of high-pressure melody and giving the principals something to worry about in the matter of chromatics.

And what do you do about a badly split lip as early in the winter as this?

London Cleric to Tell Of English Situation

The Rev. Mortimer Rowe, of London, secretary of the General Assembly of Unitarian Churches of Great Britain, will be the speaker at a dinner meeting tonight of the Washington Chapter of the Unitarian Laymen's League at All Souls Church. Mr. Rowe will speak on the present situation in England.

Among other guests at the dinner will be Malcolm C. Rees, of Boston, administrative vice president of the National Unitarian Laymen's League. John W. Townsend, president of the Washington Chapter, will preside.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

JACK SHARKEY'S mental acrobatics in the fourth round against Carnera the other night when he attempted to climb out of the ropes, claiming a technical knockout are overshadowed by the fact that generally he fought a brilliant fight and certainly stands as the best of the American heavyweights.

Hints that Sharkey was "afraid" of Carnera two weeks before the fight when the Boston Gob sought to cancel the proceedings, proved to be unadulterated ballyhoo in the light of the fierceness with which Sharkey attacked the leviathan of the prize ring. By his victory, he rendered a distinct service to the remainder of the top-flight heavyweights who shied at the prospect of a meeting with Carnera.

Sharkey claimed a victory on a technical knockout when Carnera arose at the count of six and then went to the canvas again without being hit—an obvious foul under the Marquis of Queensberry rules.

But the rules as set down by the New York Commission say very clearly that "should a contestant who is 'down' arise before the count of ten is reached and then go down again, intentionally, without being struck, the referee and the timekeeper shall resume the count where it is left off."

Which is exactly the way Referee Smith handled the situation. The commission's modified ruling takes cognizance of the fact that boxing has become a big business and that steps must be taken to "protect" the customer.

"Moreover, Mr. Arthur Snodgrass, take that $30,000 muff along with you so that George Watkins and his $44,843 home run can sit down in the historic spot. Let the goat arise that the lion may be seated, and this writer calls attention to the richest four-bagger ever smacked by a world series mortal.

"For that crashing, crashing, mashing hit that shot straight over the grandstand to score Andy High ahead of Watkins in the last game in St. Louis made even a vaster difference in the dough for the two rivals.

"Watkins' homeric hoist earned $134,527 for the Cardinals and $89,684 for the Mackmen when things might have been as well reversed. So we'll let Snodgrass' fatal error of 1912 slide into innocuous desuetude while we sing of the greatest home run that was ever home-runned in the 28 years that the modern series has been played."

C. U. Varsity-Freshmen Play for Rockne Fund

Three approved members of the Washington District Officials Association are to supervise the testimonial football game featuring Catholic University's freshmen and varsity at Brookland Bowl tomorrow. Two of these volunteered their services and were declared acceptable yesterday. The third will be announced today.

Those already agreeing to do their bit for the Knute Rockne Memorial Fund are John Tracey, Mount St. Mary's, and Joe Mulhern, Notre Dame. "Dutch" Eberts, well-known Washington referee and an assolcation member, is playing a prominent part in lining up the officials.

The benefit performance, which starts at 2:30 o'clock, should provide a goodly share of thrills. For a 25-cent admission fee those present will see a rugged, determined freshman eleven thoroughly extending itself in an effort to jolt the upper classmen.

C. U. Willing to Play Any Foe for Charity

The services of the Catholic University varsity football team and the use of the Brookland stadium were offered for any charity game that can be arranged, Athletic Director Arthur Bergman announced last night.

Catholic University will meet any team that may be scheduled as an opponent, local or foreign, Bergman said.

Pro Golf Final Captured by McKimmie

Chevy Chase Pro Not in Running After Morning Round.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

R. CLIFF M'KIMMIE, of the White Flint Club, yesterday won the championship of the Middle Atlantic Professional Golfers' Association in a 36-hole match play final round played on the course of the Woodmont Club.

Seven long years have passed since McKimmie won the Middle Atlantic amateur championship at the Hermitage Club in Richmond and the amateur championship of the Bannockburn Club, since which time he has not figured conspicuously in any local golf event. When he staged his comeback yesterday no one congratulated him more heartily than Robert T. Barnett, the Chevy Chase Club professional, whom he defeated 6 and 5.

In the first eighteen holes McKimmie was in the lead from the start and missed a 2-foot putt on the fourteenth, which would have given him a win. Barnett was then only 2 down and with a win on the fifteenth was only 1 down. With the sixteenth and seventeenth halved, McKimmie still had a one hole lead. On the eighteenth green, Barnett, reaching the green on his third shot, ran down a 25-footer for a half and turned the corner for the final round still 1 down.

Barnett's birdie 3 on the nineteenth green squared the match, but he could not gain a substantial lead. On the contrary, McKimmie was 2 up at the turn. The finest shot during the first nine holes of the second round was played by McKimmie on the fifth hole, when his tee shot landed his ball in the trap on the right of the green. When he played out of the sand, his ball hit the green about 4 feet from the cup, but with a backspin that made it retrograde at least a foot backward toward the cup. He easily holed his 3 for a half.

When Barnett had three-putted the sixth and seventh greens the Chevy Chase pro was 4 down, but he won the eighth and ninth, the latter with a fine birdie 3 after laying his approach shot dead, and so began the final nine holes only 2 down.

From that point, however, McKimmie literally romped away from Barnett at a fast and furious pace. He won the tenth with a birdie 3, making him 3 up; he won the eleventh with another birdie, running down a long putt from the far edge of the green, and he won the twelfth when, after pitching out of a trap, he ran down one putt for a par 4.

Barnett in Ditch On Deciding Hole.

With three holes won in succession McKimmie was now 5 up. On the final hole, the thirteenth on the card for the second nine, Barnett drove in the ditch and McKimmie, who was close to the green with his second, easily won the hole. The cards were as follows:

Dixie Elevens Lead Intersectional Play With Victories in Five Major Battles

Georgia, Vanderbilt Score Impressive Triumphs.

East Also Fares Well; Big Midwestern Teams Lose.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Out of the battle smoke of intersectional wars waged to date along a national football front come charging the light horse brigades of Dixie with most of the honors.

Although the forces of the East, due in major part to the Army's three victories over Midwestern opponents, lead the lists with nine victories out of eleven contests, Southern teams have scored the most brilliant conquests in "big league" warfare.

Five victories have been recorded by the hard-hitting sons of the South with Georgia's 26-to-7 rout of Yale and Vanderbilt's 26-to-21 victory over Ohio State outstanding. One game has been tied—Auburn holding Wisconsin to 7-7 deadlock last Saturday—and five games have been lost.

Tulane and Duke Triumphed.

The other victories have been Tulane's 7-to-0 conquest of the Texas Aggies, Duke's 18-to-0 defeat of a favored Villanova squad and Centenary's 24-to-13 triumph over Baylor, of the Southwest Conference. The losing games have been Oglethorpe's 0-to-6 defeat by Duquesne and a 0-to-13 losing venture with Manhattan, Louisiana State's 0-to-3 capitulation to Texas Christian, Georgia Tech's unexpected defeat, 0-to-13, by Carnegie Tech, and Richmond's 0-to-27 rout of Cornell.

The Midwest has fared the worst of any section, losing nine games, tieing one and winning two from teams of the East, South, West and Southwest. The two winning games were Oklahoma's 19-to-6 victory over Rice and Kansas' 27-to-6 win over Colorado Aggies.

Aside from games with neighboring Rocky Mountain teams only one major intersectional foe has been met by any of the Pacific Coast teams, Stanford rolling over Minnesota, 13-to-0, at Palo Alto last Saturday.

Iowa Twice Beaten.

Many of the Midwest defeats were suffered by weaker teams, but Ohio State, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri also have been beaten.

Iowa has lost twice, to Pittsburgh, 0-20, and to the Texas Aggies, 0-29, while Texas buried Missouri, 31-0.

Army's three intersectional engagements are the most of any team. The heavy artillery of West Point shelled Ohio Northern into 60-0 defeat, while Knox (of Galesburg, Ill.) was defeated, 67-6, and the strong Michigan State Team, 20-7.

The lot of the invader was a hard one, only 5 of the 21 engagements being won by the visiting team. On the reasoning that a team plays better at home, added credit goes to the South, since Georgia, Vanderbilt and Auburn played their intersectional engagements on alien fields.

INTERSECTIONAL STANDING

Section	G.	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
East	11	9	2	0	.818
Southwest	6	3	3	0	.500
Far West	2	1	1	0	.500

Dempsey to Exhibit Ring Wares in Iowa

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The appearance of Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, in a four-round fistic exhibition here November 9 was assured when Leonard Sacks, Dempsey's manager, and Dave Fidler, local matchmaker, came to terms here today.

Sacks indicated that a law suit soon after that date would force the Manassa mauler to return to the West Coast and that it had caused the cancellation of a projected Eastern tour.

Tilden and Net Troupe In Europe for Tour

Paris, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—William T. Tilden 2d, arriving in Paris today with his touring tennis troupe to open a barnstorming tour of Europe, said he expected to be able to play topnotch tennis for five more years.

Tilden and his fellow tennis players, including his old Davis Cup doubles partner, Frank Hunter, will appear in a series of exhibitions at the Palais, Jeff Dickson's new sport palace, October 21 and 22, and then will go to Germany, Holland, Belgium and Italy.

Army-Navy Women In Golf Finals Today

Champions in six divisions will be crowned today over the course at the Army and Navy Country Club when the final round of the annual women's club championship is played beginning at 9 o'clock this morning. Yesterday's play was dominated by the match in which Mrs. Holtzman all but accounted for the reigning favorite of the major flight, Mrs. Osborne. The latter won on the nineteenth green.

Yesterday's results:

CONSOLATIONS.

Mrs. Luscombe defeated Mrs. Angwin; Mrs. Barroll defeated Mrs. O'Rear; Mrs. Moore defeated Mrs. Allen; Mrs. McNair defeated Mrs. Denit; Mrs. Coxe defeated Mrs. O'Hara; Mrs. Garber defeated Mrs. Jones; Mrs. Mueller won from Mrs. Parker by default; Mrs. Merchant defeated Mrs. Clark; Mrs. Grimes defeated Mrs. Tyler; Mrs. Sampson defeated Mrs. Beales; Mrs. Mahan defeated Mrs. Glennon and Mrs. Kimbrough defeated Mrs. Du Hamel.

Yale Line Coach Discovers Unemployment in Midst of Scrimmage Drill in Bowl

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 14.—In the midst of a final scrimmage of the Yale Football Team this afternoon in preparation for the testimonial game in honor of Lon Stagg, in Chicago, a whistle blew and Adam Walsh, the line coach, walked up, very out-of-patience.

At that, Wilbur and Hall, the tackles, Rotan, a guard, and Doonan, the center, all just named for the starting line-up in Chicago, retired to the side lines slightly bewildered and four other young men rushed in to relieve them. The MacArthur referred to by Mr. Walsh was Douglas MacArthur 2d, of Washington, D. C., some kin of the famous general. He had not been in the line-up against a mock Chicago team long enough to share the general blame, having just relieved Ed Nichols at left guard. The ends, being in another department, did not come within the scope of Mr. Walsh's displeasure.

Kilculler relieved Wilbur, Uihlein relieved Hall, Doonan, the varsity center, yielded to Betner, a light built veteran of two years patient toil on the scrub, and Rotan, the other guard, was displaced by Allan D. Converse, jr., who is one of the Converses. The Converses are Wall street wholesalers in money.

In the backfield were Parker, Albie Booth, or Able, as they call him in familiar banter of his own set, Taylor and Muhlfeld.

The scrimmage went on, a defensive work against plays intended to simulate Mr. Stagg's stratagems. The scrubs wore orange jackets over their gray sweaters and for a fact they had been pushing the Yale line hither and thither with a little more impunity than custom approves in the scrub.

But as the afternoon's round of pleasure ended Mr. Paul Barnett, the Yale press agent, walking off to his fivver to canter down town and dash off a line of special dispatches for Chicago, reckoned that he would let the original line-up stand.

"It sounded like one of those rebukes," said Mr. Barnett, who has been at Yale ten years and ought to know the exact quality of a rebuke by the sound of a coach's voice by now. "I don't think they are out permanently."

It would be impossible for a non-Yale to say just who is in and for how long in Yale football, including the coaches. There is unrest here and the papers of the neighborhood cities which would seem better able to interpret the Yale moods are printing rumors about the tenure of the Eastern Elevens to Clash In Tourneys for Charity

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Two intercollegiate football tournaments will be played to relieve unemployment, E. K. Hall, chairman of the intercollegiate football rules committee, announced here tonight.

He said Yale, Brown, Holy Cross and Dartmouth would participate in the first competition, scheduled for the Yale Bowl on December 5, and Princeton, Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania would participate in a tourney, which will be put on in New York on December 9.

Chairman Hall said that the four New England colleges would clash in two 20-minute preliminary games and the winners would oppose each other in a 20-minute final. The same system, he said, would be used in the New York tournament the following Wednesday.

The net proceeds of each tournament would be divided and turned over to the presidents of the eight colleges, to be devoted to unemployment relief as they saw fit.

Chairman Hall in making the announcement said:

"Practically all, if not all, of these institutions are, as a matter of fundamental and far-reaching principle, definitely opposed to the playing of post season and benefit games. It is their conviction that college football games, no matter how worthy the cause, tend distinctly toward commercialism which is undoubtedly the greatest single menace of college sports today.

"They recognize, however, that the call of the President's representative in the time of national emergency opens up the question in an entirely different form and calls for its reconsideration from an entirely new point of view."

Dead Ball and Martin Made Series Great, Says Heydler

This is the second of two interviews with President John Heydler, of the National League, in which he discusses the effect of the new ball on the outcome of the recent world series.

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Thanks to the advent of the new ball and Pepper Martin, one of its great beneficiaries, the world series just concluded possibly was the most spectacular ever played, in the opinion of President John A. Heydler, of the National League.

"I can think of but one that compared with it from the standpoint of speed, tense situations and the general excellence of play," he told the Associated Press. "That was the 1912 series between the Boston Red Sox and the New York Giants. It went eight games, with the result in doubt right to the last play, but even at that I don't believe it had as many thrills as this last one. At least it didn't for me.

"For one thing, there wasn't any Pepper Martin in that 1912 series. Fellows like that come along but once in a lifetime. I think he was inspired. If they had been using the rabbit ball and the Cardinals had been standing flatfooted and trying to outslug the Athletics, like they did last year, Martin might have been just another ball player. But that youngster knew his team was going to depend on speed and skill and daring to upset the A's, and that was right down his alley. He knew he could hold his own with any of them at that game and he went in there determined to prove it. He proved it, all right."

Md. Counting Heavily on Chalmers

Regulars Working for Clash With Kentucky Eleven.

THE strong right arm and the sturdy right foor of Shorty Chalmers will be counted upon heavily by the University of Maryland football team in its big Southern Conference battle with Kentucky at College Park Saturday afternoon.

Chalmers gave a fine exhibition of kicking in the tilt with Navy last Saturday and was on the throwing end of the pass that brought the Old Liners the 6 points that gave them the victory. His well-placed punts also made a big factor, a couple of them backing the Middies up against their own goal line.

Chalmers Best Under Strain.

Shorty is what is known as a "money player" in the professional ranks, as he does things just about 50 per cent better under a heavy strain than at any other time. It will be recalled that he booted the ball over the goal line twice on kick-offs last Saturday. He won't do this more than once out of five times in practice, but he will come close to 100 per cent in a game. It is that way in everything he does.

Chalmers, incidentally, is one of Maryland's three-letter athletes, being a baseball star and one of the regulars who helped bring back the Southern Conference basket ball championship last March. It was Kentucky, too, that Maryland beat in the final.

Regulars Report For Practice.

The Old Liners regulars, several of whom have been under the weather with stomach trouble, had their first real practice since the Navy game yesterday when they went through an extended session at College Park.

However, as in the past two days of the week, the second and third string players did all the heavy work that was done.

Minor Club Gives Sisler His Release

Former Star Has No Plans for Future; Gained Highest Honor.

St. Louis, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—George Sisler, one of baseball's great stars during his years as first baseman for the St. Louis Browns, came back to St. Louis today with an unconditional release from the Rochester Club of the International League and no plans at present for the future.

Sisler, who said he would remain here through the winter, said, "I had an understanding at Rochester that if I wanted my release I could have it, and when I decided that I didn't want to play there again next year I was released."

The stellar first baseman, who spent thirteen years with the Browns as player and manager, and who now is in his thirty-ninth year, won the highest honors in baseball without ever having participated in a world's series.

In the fall of 1922 he was chosen "the most valuable player" of the American League and was the first to be awarded the honor. In that year he set the league record for a season's batting average with .420, and had a remarkable season in addition. Twice he batted over .400, his other peak having been reached in 1920. For the thirteen years he was with the Browns he had a batting average of close to .350, and he has been placed at first base on a number of the "all time" major league all-star teams.

Sisler left the Browns in 1928, going first to Washington, and then to the Boston Braves in the same year. When he obtained his release there he was signed to play first base for Rochester in 1930. There he played on his first pennant winner and participated in the little world series in which Rochester defeated the St. Paul Club of the American Association.

George joined the Browns as a pitcher in 1915, after his case had provoked one of the stormiest wrangles ever adjusted by the national commission. Pittsburgh claimed prior rights to his services, but the commission awarded him to St. Louis. He pitched only a few games.

KENTUCKY ACE

high-stepping, far-kicking half back, who runs the hundred yards in better than 10 seconds, will be the chief threat of Kentucky against Maryland Saturday.

G. U. ELEVEN FACES HARD CONTEST

Mills Leads Crippled Hilltop Team to Pittsburgh.

BATTERED, bruised and with a reserve strength estimated by Coach Tommy Mills as virtually nonexistant, Georgetown University's limping grid team takes off at 9 o'clock this morning for Pittsburgh, where Duquesne will be contested tomorrow night under arc lights. The Hoyas will drill tonight at the scene of the battle.

Behind them the Hilltoppers leave Bradley, Danieu and Gellis, crippled backs. Bradley and Gellis, Coach Mills stated last night, are out for the season.

Beaten by Oglethorpe and West Virginia Wesleyan, Duquesne's 1931 record is not spectacular, but Georgetown will be fortunate if it manages to come out of the fray victorious.

Where the game seemed an almost sure victory, after G. U. had beaten Western Maryland, it now looms as a battle in which either team stands ready to receive the verdict.

The opening Georgetown line-up will find King in quarter back; Donoghue and Alenty half backs, and Bordeau full back. Carolan and Hudson will keep their end positions, and Richards and Dyer will be back at tackle. Callahan, center; Dubofsky and Danner, guards, complete the team. There is little in the way of ability to back them up, except Katalinas, substitute tackle. Georgetown's chances of winning the game depend entirely on whether the first team can stay in the game.

Ohio State Will Use Speed Against Michigan

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—A strong possibility that Coach Sam Willaman at Ohio State University plans to fight Michigan's vaunted aerial attack with speed was seen at today's practice when Tommy Keefe, Toledo, and Bill Carroll, Columbus, were used at half back positions instead of the two veterans, Capt. Holcomb and Lew Hinchman.

Carroll and Keefe are the fastest men on the team, although their defensive ability fails to match up with that of the veterans.

North Carolina Coach Suspends Two Stars

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Johnnie Branch, of Salisbury, quarter back, and Roy McDade, of Lenoir, tackle, both all-State men in 1930, were suspended from the University of North Carolina's football squad today for the "remainder of the season" by Coach Chuck Collins.

Collins called the squad together early this afternoon and announced the two star players had been suspended for "breaking training in Florida." The Tarheels battled Florida to a scoreless tie in Gainesville last Saturday. He did not enlarge upon his statement.

Secret Work Ordered for Colonials

Back Field Shake-up Hinted by Pixlee as Test Nears.

ABANDONING the Tidal Basin field, where they have worked all season, the George Washington Colonials yesterday held a secret practice session in the afternoon at Eastern High's field and then went through a night drill at Griffith Stadium. The same schedule will be repeated again today.

Several new and mysterious plays were thoroughly rehearsed in the secret drills and the Colonials expect to score against the Tulsa Golden Hurricane tomorrow night. The latter team is known to use all sorts of surprise maneuvers and the game may develop sensationally.

The G. W. coaches spent considerable time in perfecting aerial maneuvers. Tulsa's reputation for having a stone wall line will find the Colonials ready to strike through the air as well as by land with a mixed and varied attack.

Seek to Check Pilkington.

Defensive maneuvers calculated to halt Capt. "Ish" Pilkington, Billy Boehm and Chuck Keeling, Tulsa's back field aces, also were stressed in yesterday's G. W. workouts.

Coach Pixlee intimated yesterday that he might shake up his lineup in two or three places for Friday's game, too. He is far from satisfied with the way several of his regulars have performed and likely will replace them with hustling, aggressive players, who are battling hard to earn their way into the picture.

The Colonial boss did not intimate where the changes might be made. However, it is likely that they will be made in the back field for the front line has shown well defensively all season. The forwards also have been opening holes well for their backs.

While several of the Colonials are limping around or otherwise are slightly physically damaged, the team is expected to be at top form tomorrow night for their supreme test of the season thus far.

Oklahomans to Meet Hoover ToDay.

The Tulsa eleven is to arrive in town this morning. At 12:30 o'clock they are to meet President Hoover, following which they are to take a light workout at Griffith Stadium to work out the kinks from their long journey. A banquet-dance also has been arranged for the visitors by the Oklahoma State Society at the Meridian Mansions tonight and tomorrow the visitors are to see some of the famous sights.

Spirit at George Washington among the students is reminiscient of last fall just before the Catholic U. game. A monster pep meeting will be held on the campus tonight at 7 o'clock, when Coach Pixlee and other leaders will speak.

Harris Still Unsigned As Manager of Tigers

Detroit, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Frank Navin, owner of the Detroit American League baseball club, today said that although Stanley (Bucky) Harris has not yet signed a contract as manager of the team next year, he has made no plans to replace him.

Harris, manager of the team for the past two years, has had little success in bringing the Tigers out of the second division. Although Navin insisted that no action had been taken toward obtaining another manager of the Detroit club, the rumor persists here that the former Washington manager will be replaced next season.

Navin confirmed a report that Jean Dubuc and Roger Bresnahan will not be retained as coaches next year.

HUFFY WINS CHEVY CHASE STEEPLECHASE AT 12-1 ODDS

Society Sees Gelding Win Feature

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

Laurel Race Track, Oct. 14.—Favorite players were rewarded in the seventh race today when Workless, the 4-year-old gelding, owned by O. Blank, moved up steadily in the stretch to beat out Wayfarer by a length and a quarter. The winner paid $7.50 in the $2 mutuels. Princess Isabelle was beaten for second by a neck.

Nergy restrained Workless off the early pace which was set by Wayfarer and Ping Coates, a 100-to-1 shot. Nergy reached the leaders entering the home stretch and Workless finished with a rush, overtaking Wayfarer a sixteenth from the finish and galloped into the wire an easy winner. Princess Isabelle hung in the final running.

Walter J. Salmon's Huffy won the twentieth running of the Chevy Chase Handicap, Mrs. K. C. Hitt's Icicle getting the place. Two lengths back of the second horse, A. C. Bostwick's Pokey Joe finished third. Fourth money went to the Dorwood Stable's Taos. The winner, ridden by Pierce, paid $26.30, and the winner's portion of the purse was $6,100.

This was the second Chevy Chase prize for Huffy, the Jim Gaffney gelding having won two years ago.

The occasion of the Chevy Chase Handicap always is the signal for a large turnout of the hunting and society colonies of several States, and this was no exception. Included in the clubhouse visitors was Ice President Charles Curtis, who took occasion to announce that he would be here Saturday and attend the breeders' luncheon, and that he would present the cup to the owner of the winner of the Breeders' Futurity on that day.

In the start of the Chevy Chase the Rolling Plains Stable's Argonaut led off, Rigan McKinney up. Beelzebub was forcing the pace. Next to get into the picture was Gracie, the celebrated mare of Dr. Fred Adams, with Argonaut second and Beelzebub third. Gracie held the lead to the tenth fence, with Argonsut, Beelzebub and Taos close up. Then it was that Huffy and Icicle got into action, and Huffy proved much the best. Pokey Joe was closing fast, and got the third money. Ivory II lost his rider.

The Georgetown Purse went to Mrs. Herbert Pulitzer's Sun Flag colt, Repentance, which reeled off 6 furlongs in 1:11 1-5, equalling the record set by Mr. Sponge earlier in the meeting. Callahan had the mount on the winner and kept him in front from the back stretch to the wire, with four lengths to spare at the end. C. V. Whitney's Magnifico was second and the Sagamore Stable's Follow On third. This was the second victory at the meeting for Repentance, and he paid $9.20. Sun Meadow was close to the pace on the back stretch and looked like a probable winner, but tired badly in the stretch.

Capt. Ral Parr's Ladino ran a fast mile to win the fourth race, the second mile contest of the day for 2-year-olds. Ellis had the mount and kept the son of Ladkin in front all the way. Blue Damsel, the favorite, was second and Louis Merryman third. The time was 1:39 4-5. The winner paid $26.60. There were nine starters. It was a mere gallop for the winner. Phantom Rock was fourth, closing fast.

Sagamore Stable's Mea won the second race by three open lengths, in which 2-year-olds went a mile. Brandon Rose, from the Brandon Stable, was second, and three lengths in front of J. W. Y. Martin's Worthington.

—Laurel Selections—
By J. B. SNODGRASS

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 14.—The St. Michaels purse for 2-year-olds, featuring the Laurel program tomorrow, has twelve listed for the 6 furlongs. Those who saw the race of BURGOO KING in the Richard Johnson Stakes here last week will appreciate best the difficulty that colt had, and from a slow beginning, next to last at the first turn and meeting interference at the home turn, finished fifth. He had won his previous race and with luck in the running would have pressed Burning Blaze in the Johnson. I'd should win the St. Michaels. SNAP BACK and RABBIT SKIN are close together on figures and should finish second and third in the order named. It appears that RABBITT SKIN has gone back slightly after a rather active campaign for a juvenile. ESPINACA may run well, especially if the track should become slow.

FIRST RACE—The first race is a claiming affair for 2-year-olds. SCION has been working fast and is placed on top, but he may fail to get in, being fourth on the eligible list. JOHNNY looks next best. PLAYING, Havre de Grace winner, from morning gallop appears ready for another good effort.

SECOND RACE—SIR JOHN ALDEN is the best prospect in the second race. He is a deceiving horse, always showing enough promise in one race to make him a favorite in the next one he starts in, but he has generally been against better fields than this one and should have little trouble in scoring. DARK RAY has speed and should be the contender, but a mile and 70 yards may be a trifle too far. ANNAPOLITAN should improve over the last effort.

THIRD RACE—SHANTUNG looks like the winner of the third. He scored so decisively last out that he could not help being close in this field. BUB McFARLAND is about due for brackets, and seems to outclass the others in this race. Hold, a high priced horse which has failed to make an adequate return on the investment, should be as good as third. FLYING MAX would go well if track conditions change.

FIFTH RACE—WHISP is due to win the fifth race, but will meet strong opposition from PHILLIP, a recent winner. It is probable MOUTHPIECE will give this pair a hard battle and should land third money. WHISP was almost left at the post at Havre de Grace, but was beaten only a nose.

SIXTH RACE—The largest purse of the day goes with the sixth race, at a mile and one-sixteenth, for 3-year-olds. The distance favors J. E. Widener's FARI MUTUEL, winner of his last race, and having the appearance of a stayer. MEASURE, the favorite, has never showed at best form in a route, but will be the contender. DANCING MACK, winner of his last race, should turn in another good effort, but is outclassed for top money.

SEVENTH RACE—EAGER PLAY, winner of his last two races, should make it three in a row by scoring in the seventh. In his first winning race, it was a form reversal, but he ran back to the good race in his last effort and improved on it. He should hold up for at least one more victory. SUN FRIAR will be the contender.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BARCELONA PETE, $5.30, $3.00, $2.40; FLAG POLE, $4.00, $3.00; LADFIELD, $3.00.

BARCELONA PETE, away forwardly and hard hustled, raced in close pursuit of LADFIELD, displaced the latter when approaching the home stretch and, continuing steadily, held FLAG POLE safe. Latter, rushed for the first furlong to secure a forward position, bore out badly, rounding the turn, came again when interfered away and outstayed LADFIELD. Latter, ridden hard from the start, flattened out fast in the final furlong. EXCAVATION lacked early speed and was forced to circle his field when moving up. PENN was held safe. REVELATION was unable to reach contention. DUTCH FLIER stopped.

SECOND RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:21. Off at 2:25½. Winner, Sagamore Stable's ch. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MEA, $4.50, $2.90, $2.50; BRANDON ROSE, $3.30, $2.90; WORTHINGTON, $11.00.

MEA, hurried to the front, was rated along under slight restraint in the early racing, shook off repeated efforts from BRANDON ROSE and came away in the final furlong. BRANDON ROSE, kept close up, made several efforts, but was not good enough. WORTHINGTON was unable to threaten the first two. FAIR BOY closed a good gap. ROCKTOR was never dangerous. DONNA DEAR met with no mishaps. The others were outrun.

THIRD RACE—About two miles. Purse, $5,000 added. The Chevy Chase Steeplechase Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:55. Off at 2:55½. Winner, W. J. Salmon's ch. g. (7), by Jim Gaffney—Taundercloud. Trained by J. T. Kermath. Value to winner, $6,100; second, $1,000; third, $500; fourth, $150. Time, 3:52 (14 jumps).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HUFFY, $26.30, $12.70, $9.40; ICICLE, $5.90, $4.10; POKEY JOE, $6.40.

HUFFY, reserved for the first turn of the field, gained stoutly when put to a drive, reached the leaders after the twelfth fence and, steadied thereafter, had enough in reserve to stall off ICICLE. Latter, rated off the early pace, moved up stoutly when released from restraint, assumed a brief lead at the twelfth fence, and held on stubbornly after being overtaken. POKEY JOE, sailing the mild four the first mile, came with a belated rush in the final half mile. TAOS, well up throughout and jumping in good fashion, weakened in the final three furlongs. GRACIE had no excuses. ARGONAUT could not keep pace when put to a drive. INDIGO was held safe. BEELZEBUB quit badly after a mile.

FOURTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:30. Off at 3:31½. Winner, R. Parr's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LADINO, $26.60, $8.00, $7.30; BLUE DAMSEL, $3.30, $2.90; LOUIS MERRYMAN, $4.70.

LADINO, going in improved fashion and having good speed, took command directly after the start, was rated along until entering the home stretch and came away smartly when shaken up during the final furlong. BLUE DAMSEL, close up with the pacemakers from the beginning, made a stout effort when leaving the back stretch, but hung during the final quarter mile. LOUIS MERRYMAN, outrun for six furlongs, closed stoutly in the final drive. PHANTOM ROCK showed a good test.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; allowances. The Georgetown. For 3-year olds. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:00. Off at 4:00½. Winner, Mrs. H. Two-dollar mutuels paid—REPENTANCE, $9.20, $4.10, $3.30; MAGNIFICO, $4.80, $3.10; FOLLOW ON, $3.00.

REPENTANCE, displaying keen speed and taking early command while under slight restraint, drew clear when approaching the home stretch and came away steadily through the closing stages. MAGNIFICO, saving ground and securing racing room on the inside, closed with good energy in the final drive. FOLLOW ON, a keen factor early, weakened when the real test came. JUBILATE could not reach the leaders.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:30. Off at 4:33½. Winner, R. B. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SKIRT, $15.80, $7.40, $4.20; RED TAM, $14.10, $5.20; FAIR BETH, $2.60.

SKIRT, rated close to the pacemaker, responded gamely for the final test and finishing stoutly, was up in the concluding strides. RED TAM, sent into a brief lead and rated along, held on with rare courage when the real test came. FAIR BETH, as well, dropped far out of contention, closed gamely under punishment, but could not reach the leaders. She appesred to be sore.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,300. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:05. Off at 5:08. Winner, O. Blank's ch. g. (4), by Hourless—Patch Work. Trained by P. Clausen. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:40 2-5, 2:06 2-5.

GONZAGA AND EASTERN TO BATTLE TODAY

Center of Line Chief Worry of Coggins at Central.

GONZAGA HIGH will attempt to extend to three its victories this year over the public high school grid teams when it tackles Eastern High's huskies in the Eastern Stadium at 3:30 o'clock. Having accounted for Business, at 6 to 0, and Western, at 24 to 0, the Swampoodle boys are slightly favored today to add a third scalp, unless Eastern produces more than it has shown to date.

Cleary, one of the mainstays in Gonzaga's back field, will not be in the game today or possibly for the rest of the season, having suffered a broken collarbone yesterday in practice. Toomey, subcenter, is also on the ailing list with a wrenched shoulder.

Otherwise the Gonzaga team is up on its toes. Benjamin and Mulcare are the ends; Quigley and Eppard, tackles; J. Donohue and Lewis, guards; B. Mills or Dunnington, center; Carly Mills, quarter back; Joe Mills, right half; Carr, left half, and Keegin and Viau, full backs.

Two passing teams will battle today in Gonzaga and Eastern. The Lincoln Parkers have a real heaver in Metzler and a plunger of note in Palmer, but he is not the equal of Viau for crashing a line. The Eastern line looks good and it is likely that Gonzaga will not tamper much with attempting to open it, but confine its hopes largely to the forward pass.

There's relief at Central that it still has a week to prepare itself for the high school series. Coggins is having trouble with his line, particularly on the left side, where Big Boyle, 210-pound tackle, is operating at an efficiency rated two steps below inadequate. Central's strength, for the time, is confined to its back field—Cumberland Koscis, Gibbins and King—and its ends—Buscher and Heflin. Between Buscher and Heflin are several wide-open spaces, which Coggins must attend to before next Tuesday when Eastern is played.

Tech scrimmaged yesterday against the Maryland Freshmen and more than held its own. Particularly impressive was the work of Sachs, quarter back, and Wohlfarth, right end. Notably heavier than last year, the two 180-pound huskies played easily on equal terms with their prototypes in the Maryland team. Three former Tech boys, Kolker, Nelson and Goldman, played with Maryland.

Ruppert Loft Winner In 500-Mile Contest

Averaging 917.30 yards a minute, a bird from the Ruppert Loft completed 500 miles yesterday to lead a field of 137 home from Cleveland, Tenn., and win first award in the seventh National Capital Concourse Association event of the season.

Ruppert	917.30
Eck	875.40
Ross	870.60
Mathews	869.94
Costello	858.20
Kauffman	849.80
Sproesser	837.70
Tower View Lofts	717.60
Burke	673.80

Mrs. Frost Winner In Columbia Golf Upset

An upset occurred in the semifinal round of the match play in the contest for the women's club championship at the Columbia Club, when Mrs. Norman B. Frost defeated Mrs. S. F. Colladay, 5 and 3. Mrs. Colladay has won the title once and has been runner-up five times, but yesterday she was out-played by Mrs. Frost, who had a medal score of 85 with two balls out of bounds and a penalty shot when she lifted her ball from the ditch on the fifteenth hole. Mrs. Frost will play in the final round today against Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, who has won the title twice and has been runner-up three times, and who yesterday, notwithstanding the fact that she had a card of 83, only defeated Mrs. J. W. Beller by the narrow margin of 2 and 1. The summary:

FIRST FLIGHT—Semifinal round. Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes defeated Mrs. J. W. Beller, 2 and 1; Mrs. Norman B. Frost defeated Mrs. S. F. Colladay, 5 and 3.
PAIRING FOR TODAY—Mrs. Haynes vs. Mrs. Frost.
CONSOLATION—Miss Elizabeth Brawner defeated Mrs. J. A. Marr, 3 and 1; Mrs. H. R. Quinter defeated Mrs. H. K. Cornwell, 1 up.
PAIRING FOR TODAY—Mrs. Gardiner vs. Mrs. White.

YES, a baseball game was actually won by the score of 1 to ½. This statement was made yesterday, and here's the explanation. The game was played between Cascade, Mo., and Buckhorn, Mo, August, 1931. The score was 1 to 0 in favor of Cascade. In the last inning, a Buckhorn player smashed a hefty wallop. The left fielder backed against the fence and attempted to catch what had all the earmarks of a clean home run. Then it was that the impossible happened. When the sphere was right over the fielder's head, it burst into two pieces. The fielder caught one, the other sailed over the fence. On first thought, the umpire ruled the batter out. On second thought, he gave him a home run. On third thought, he was forced to make a ruling that is not to be found in the books, crediting Buckhorn with one-half of a run. Thus, Cascade won the game by the score of one to one-half.

Firecrackers are used in the Northern States on the Fourth of July, but in the South they are used mostly at Christmas. The Chinese, though, use them the whole year round, and at nearly every occasion. They are used at social functions, military and religious events, births and even funerals. Thus, in China, the shooting of firecrackers might easily be the first thing a babe hears when it comes into the world, and the last thing that happens when it is buried. However, fireworks were invented in the Orient, so the Chinese should know more than anyone else when and when not to use them.

SENIOR GOLF PLAY FINDS TWO TIED

THE first senior championship ever held in the District was played yesterday on the course of the Burning Tree Club. Naturally there were very few entries, although the hope was expressed by all the players that in the future the event would become one of the most attractive tournaments on the program of the District Golf Association.

There was a tie for the medal between P. S. Ridsdale, Burning Tree and Chevy Chase, with 45—39—84, and Clark C. Griffith, Columbia, 42—42—84. The tie will be played off today on the Burning Tree course. The cards of the two leaders:

Out—
Ridsdale	5	6	4	5	4	6	5	4	6	—45
Griffith	6	5	3	4	4	6	6	3	5	—42
In—
Ridsdale	4	5	4	5	3	5	4	4	5	—39—84
Griffith	5	3	4	6	4	4	6	5	3	—42—84

James E. Baines, Columbia, won the bronze medal for third place with a score of 42—44—86. The cards of the other contestants were as follows:

The card of 93 turned in by George E. Truett was considered remarkable in view of the fact that he will reach his seventy-eighth birthday within a short time. Dr. William C. Barr, who is secretary of the District Golf Association, who had a total of 90, might easily have figured among the leaders except for the fact that he took fourteen strokes, six over par, on the fifth and sixth holes.

Interior League Lead Held by Survey Quint

Survey continued to lead the Interior Department Bowling League when the smoke had subsided after last week's battles. A clean sweep over Engravers enabled Survey to run the number of games won to eight. Watson rolled consistently for the victors. Secretary, Pension and Disbursing each took the odd game from Land, G. H. I., and Indian, respectively, in the other matches rolled.

	W.	L.		W.	L.
Survey	8	1	Indian	5	7
Secretary	8	4	Pension	5	7
Land	7	5	Engravers	4	8
G. H. I.	6	6	Disbursing	2	7

RECORDS.

High team set, Secretary, 1,604; high team game, Survey, 573; high individual set, Peake, 389; high individual game, Peake, 162; high individual average, Eisenstein, 106-2; second high individual average, Dotson, 103-8; third high individual average, Dukes, 103-7; fourth high individual average, Flanery 104-8.

SHIKAT AND STEELE ON SCENE

Mat Rivals Here for Auditorium Clash Tomorrow.

WRESTLING'S hold on the sporting populace will be tested tomorrow night when the mighty matmen offer their assorted virtues against a football game between George Washington University and the University of Tulsa. The rasslers will hold forth at the Washington Auditorium, winter quarters for the chin crushing circus, and have produced two of their best exponents to save the night for the mat game.

Dick Shikat, former world's champion of New York and Pennsylvania, meets Ray Steele, generally acknowledged to be the successor to Jim Londos. Enormously strong men, both are mashed-eared veterans of the mat game and it appears that they are the most evenly matched headliners to appear here since Rudey Dusek met Wladek Zbyszko in the ball park early in the summer.

Both men arrived yesterday.

Shikat Knows His Wrestling.

Shikat is doubtless the best orthodox wrestler now in circulation. No hold or device for downing an opponent is not known by the austere German who once held a minor rating in the imperial navy. Steele is equally as strong and twice as fast. Both are rougher than the ordinary run of wrestler. The two have met twice and each has won an engagement. It is felt, in rassle circles, that if Shikat wins, Londos can no longer evade meeting him, a tussle the Greek has escaped since he won the title from Shikat more than a year and a half ago.

Others on the bill tomorrow night are Sandor Szabo vs. John Katan, an obvious set-up; Doc Wilson vs. Bruce Hanson, in which the good doctor should win; George Hagan vs. Tiger Nelson, who has no more chance of winning than has the old snowball of folklore, and Mike Romano vs. Abo Kasley, which should be a 30-minute draw.

DIXIE PIGS DRILL.

Manager Robert Myers, of the Dixie Pigs, wants all players to report on the Seat Pleasant field tonight at 8 o'clock for practice. The Dixies are considered the dark horse of the race in the unlimited division of The Post's Capital City League.

coaches. Dr. Marvin, or Mal Stevens, the head coach, is a surgeon by trade and a football coach in a restrained, dignified way by comparison with the career men of the coaching business. He and all the others are operating on one-year contracts this season and if Yale doesn't beat Harvard this time he may not be exactly pressed to renew. He may not even want to be pressed.

Benny Friedman, late of Michigan, was to give up his practice as a playing pro with the New York Giants and coach the Yale backs for a modest guaranteed price plus a mysterious extraneous bonus. The bonus did not materialize and it was agreed that he had a right to curtail his time at Yale under the circumstances. But he hasn't reduced his hours of labor as yet, absenting himself from the practice only on Yom Kippur and commuting daily from New York to New Haven. Still, a coach must eat.

Have Traditional Yale Appearance.

This afternoon, Friedman was teaching his backs something about tackling and there were hard, husky young Yales paired off all over the place, forwards and backs, banging into each other with glorious enthusiasm and indifference to shock.

Certainly, the players have all the outward appearances of traditional Yales and if they don't come along to win a decent proportion of their games there probably will be a change of coaches which would be the traditional practice not only at Yale but elsewhere.

It will be hard, however, to attract to Yale as head coach any of those national sandwich men who sell themselves as advertising media. Just this afternoon, Mr. Barnett was asking Dr. Stevens if it would be all right to put him down for a short radio address in Chicago.

"Certainly," the head coach said, "as long as I don't get any money for it."

"Oh, to be sure," Mr. Barnett said. "I will guarantee that you will not get any money for it."

Must Not Commercialize Name of Yale.

"Our coaches," Mr. Barnett explained, "are not allowed to commercialize Yale. It's a rule we have. Nobody in the athletic department is allowed to write syndicate articles or broadcast or indorse things for pay."

A Yale coach can't even draw a comic strip or hire a $50 cartoonist to draw one for him. It is a strange institution, this Yale, and going more and more house plan and less professional in the sport administration all the time.

The squad of 44 will leave New Haven at 1:05 Thursday on the Pennsylvania and arrive in Chicago in time for light practice Friday.

Albie, or Able, Booth is expected to start the game but Mr. Barnett hasn't said "positively".

NAVY USES SECONDS.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 14 (A.P.)—Navy will depend on its second team entirely in the battle with Delaware Saturday, Coach Rip Miller said today as he put his reserves through a hard offensive and defensive scrimmage.

Tom Hurley, late 1930 sensation, was placed at full back on the second team, with Gordon Chung-Hoon, Hawaiian, and Samuels at halves, and Moncure at quarter back. Miller said the varsity would be saved for the Princeton game, ten days hence.

Hitting The Head Pin

THE bowlers evidently mistook last night for the Fourth of July, judging from the manner in which they celebrated. When the last ball had thudded into the leather protector in the pit no less than four records, in various leagues, had been smashed.

In the Ladies District League, Mrs. Bessie Hoffman rolled a 372 set, which was a new season mark, until Lorraine Gulli uncorked her set of 380. Mrs. Hoffman, rolling for the John Blicks at Arcadia, led her team to a 3-game win over Recreation while Lorraine's mates were dropping two to Georgetown, on the latter's home alleys.

Not to be outdone by the fairer sex the men cut loose at Convention Hall with a couple of new records. A mark of 21 years standing went by the boards when Marquette, in the Knights of Columbus loop, rang the bell with a set of 1,784. Norman Schroth was the leading record-breaker.

On an adjoining alley the Hecht Co. five hung up a new team set of 1,828 to take all three from Colonial Ice Cream. Jack Wolstenholme and Joe Pricci were best for the winners.

American Oil socked Lord Baltimore for a 3-to-0 loss in the Petroleum League matches rolled at the Columbia Alleys. The winners barely got in under the wire in the last game, winning by a two-pin margin. Shepherd, of American, toppled 123 pins to take high-game honors. Standard swept its match with Crew Levick, aided by the great work of Reinhart and Wilson. Tidewater Oil took two from Texaco, although they barely gained the decision in the first, winning by a single pin. Texaco came back strong in the second game, but could not stand the pace, and finished more than 70 pins behind its rival. Bolton and King led the winning quint. Gulf Refining concluded the night's activities by drubbing J. Edward Chapman's representatives, 2 to 1. The Chapman five, after striving gallantly in the first two games, came into its own in the final and won going away. L. Balducci, of the losers, registered a score of 117 for high game. Johnson and Kolb were best for Gulf.

District Net Ranking Group Meets Tonight

The ranking committee of the Washington Tennis Association will meet tonight at 8:30 o'clock at The Washington Post to decide upon the order of listing the local netmen on the form they showed in the sanctioned District tournaments for the season. The body is made up of Clarence Charest, William O. Shreve, Pat Deck, Ray Gable and Bob Considine.

The rankings will be announced next Tuesday night at the annual banquet of the local net association, at the Florentine room, Wardman Park Hotel.

PALACE TO PRACTICE.

The Palace gridmen will drill tonight at 7:30 o'clock on the field at Seventeenth street and Constitution avenue northwest. All players are requested to report promptly.

DEAD BALL, MARTIN MADE SERIES GREAT

Philadelphia, President Heydler believes the sensation rookie might have continued to bang the ball in the concluding contests at St. Louis.

"The reporters and photographers didn't give him a minute's peace on the way back to St. Louis, and after he got there it was even worse. Why, he didn't even have a chance to get a good night's sleep before the sixth game. As a result, he was overanxious, trying too hard to live up to what they had said about him. Instead of just playing his normal game, he was trying to live up to his reputation as a hero on every pitch. He was weighted down with responsibility."

As proof that the deadened ball was a dominant factor in the big series, the National League head pointed out that most of the games were decided by air-tight pitching, daring work on the base paths and spectacular fielding, rather than by straight-away hitting, as in the 1930 series.

Last Game Decided In First Inning.

"Only one game was won by a home run. That was the last one, where George Watkins hit it out of the lot with Andy High on base. But even that was made possible by a smart play earlier in the game. If Watkins had not raced home after Orsatti struck out in the first inning, the score would have been only 1 to 0 in the Cardinals' favor, instead of 2 to 0. Instead of swinging for a homer that second time up, he probably would have sacrificed High to second to try for one more run. Then the Athletics would have tied the score in the ninth. That one smart play probably decided the championship.

"There was only one other play I considered as important. That was on the last out of the second game, when Jim Bottomley almost fell into a field box to catch Bishop's foul and end the game. It was one of the most spectacular catches I ever saw, and I consider it the turning point in the series."

Beckett Honored Guest At Banquet on Friday

Prof. C. E. Beckett, who was retired as director of physical education at the local Y. M. C. A. after 31 years of active service on September 1, will be tendered a farewell banquet at the Mayflower Hotel, Friday night, by his former associates. The festivities will commence at 6 p. m.

Prof. Beckett had a brilliant record while with the association, and was instrumental in enlarging the local chapter. He is well known in business, athletic and social circles.

Renick W. Dunlap, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, a member of the Y. M. C. A., will deliver the principal address at the banquet. He will also present a gift to Prof. Beckett at the conclusion of the banquet. W. E. Hanson is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

GILBERT HUNT IN FINALS.

Gilbert Hunt, local tennis player, entered the final round of the Columbia Ping Pong tournament last night when he beat Bob Willoughby in a five-set match, 6—3, 5—7, 7—5, 3—6, 6—2. He will meet Robert Lee Saturday night for the trophy at stake. Lee last night gained the title round at the expense of Mason Mintz by the joint tennis and ping pong score of 21—7, 8—6, 21—9.

STOCKS' RALLY ENDS WITH PRICE LOSSES

Market Settles in Declines as Industrials Lead Drop on Heavy Turnover.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Security prices were lower again today. The decline of stocks tended to level off, but public interest was obviously small and the market settled steadily after one attempt at a rally. Commodities closed steady.

Heavy losses of gold, amounting to considerably more than half a billion dollars in about six weeks, have failed to cause alarm in banking circles, but there is some talk in Wall street of another rise in the Federal Reserve rediscount rate if the outward flow should continue.

The immediate effects of this movement are being felt in the money markets, where hardening tendencies are at work. There was no change in open market rates for call or time loans today, but some banks asked 2½ per cent for the former against the official stock exchange quotation of 2.

Bill Financing Expensive.

The Treasury is finding its bill financing more expensive as a result of this stiffening and is paying 2¾ on a bank discount basis, for the latest piece of financing. This is sharply above the midsummer costs; in fact, it is the highest in about a year and a half. Also, bids on the $50,000,000 issue, slightly less than $128,000,000, were the smallest since the Government embarked on this system of borrowing.

Stocks got some stimulation from Woolworth's extra dividend of $2 which sent that stock up 3 points in a general upward movement during the forenoon. However, all but a fraction of Woolworth's gain had disappeared by the close and a number of prominent issues were heavy. American Telephone dropped nearly 4 on an earnings statement which revealed that the big utility had failed by 14 cents a share to cover its third quarter dividend, although net income for the first nine months represented a record total and the disbursement for the year to date was covered with a narrow margin. The stock's net loss was 3. Western Union broke to the lowest in ten years, off 8, in response to the dividend cut.

Steel Drops Again.

U. S. Steel, Westinghouse, New York Central and Allied Chemical were down a couple of points. American Can, Bethlehem Steel, North American, International Telephone, National Biscuit, Texas Corporation and Standard Oil of New Jersey gave up a point net. In General Motors, General Electric, Union Carbide, Chrysler and Radio recessions were fractional. Sales totaled 1,624,875 shares, or about 400,000 more than yesterday.

Midweek business statistics were not unduly gloomy. In addition to the favorable car loadings report was the word of Iron Age that steel production had been helped by a slightly better inquiry from automobile, farm equipment, radio and railroad manufacturers, although gains were insufficient to raise the production ratio from 29 per cent.

Finished steel prices are unchanged. Electric power output was four-tenths of 1 per cent below a year ago, so that seasonal improvement in that index is still lacking.

Copper Stocks Mount.

Copper stocks, reaching another record-breaking total at 478,000 tons, would be sufficient to supply demand for some time even if production should be sharply curtailed or even stopped, and the problem before the international producers at their forthcoming meeting is regarded as a sizable one.

Wheat closed unchanged to half a cent lower. Good rains fell in Texas, and there was an increase in the world visible supply. Corn was ⅛ off to ¼ higher at the finish. Cotton, doubtless affected by the stock market, lost 25 cents to 35 cents a bale net.

Foreign exchanges were generally steady. The German mark eased slightly, but sterling was firm, up a cent at $3.89.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Dampening of ardor for higher prices on grains accomplished a late selling movement today in which stock market unsettlement played a conspicuous part. The fact that wheat had risen to 7 cents a bushel higher than low prices last week was a handicap to bulls.

Before downswings began, however, fresh war rumors from across the Pacific suggesting more forcibly than heretofore that Russia might be embroiled with Japan and China engaged the major attention of wheat traders, and led to flurried buying at times.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅝ cents lower to a shade advance; corn unchanged to ¼ up; oats unchanged to ⅛ off, and provisions at a rise of 7 to 25 cents.

Houses with Eastern connections were purchasers of wheat on the late setbacks, a circumstance that encouraged rallies at the finish. The rallies were also given aid by reports that leading European continental grain merchants were predicting a sharp falling off in Russian wheat exports. The basis ascribed for these predictions was a statement that bread rationing in Russia had been extended. There were also estimates current that new export takings of North American wheat today amounted to 1,000,000 bushels, and that 15,000,000 acres of domestic winter wheat territory would be benefitted by moisture.

Highest prices of the day in wheat were reached on unconfirmed reports from Berlin indicating that Russia had 100,000 troops massed along the Manchurian front, within striking distance of the scene of clashes between Japanese and Chinese military forces. Bulls in wheat stressed particularly at this stage of the wheat market advanced that if Russia were drawn into active hostilities the amount of wheat exported from Russia would probably dwindle to negligible proportions. It was also urged that in such a case the large United States wheat visible supply would prove a blessing rather than a burden.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat, but corn averaged higher as a result of elevator interests and industries competing for offerings. Vessel charters were made for shipment of 305,000 bushels of corn to Eastern lake ports.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—December, 49¼-⅜; 51½; March, 54¼, offers; May, 53¾-½; 55½; July, 53¾. Corn—December, 34½; 35¾-½; May, 38⅝-39⅛; July, 40¼, 40¾-⅞.

BOND PRICES LOWER UNDER SALES DRIVE

Pressure Is Felt Heaviest Among Rail Issues; Gains Are Fractional.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The bond market declined irregularly today as trading slackened somewhat.

Selling pressure was more apparent among railroad loans than in other groups of domestic issues. Northern Pacific 4s of 1997 sold 3½ points lower at 82, from which level they recovered fractionally. Illinois Central 4¾s were 2 points lower at 50 at one time and declines of about 1 point occurred in Pennsylvania series D 4½s, Southern Railway 4s, Nickel Plate 4½s of 1978, New York Central 5s of 2013, Missouri Pacific series F 5s, and Canadian Pacific debenture 4s.

St. Louis, San Francisco 4½s of 1978 jumped about 2 points on a heavy turnover and Erie 5s of 1975 gained fractions.

United States Treasury and Liberty Loans were inclined to be recovered although the Treasury 4¼s of 1947-52 lost about 1½ points and the Treasury 4s of 1954 receded fractionally on a few sales. The more active issues of this group such as the First Liberty 3½s and the Fourth 4¼s and the new Treasury 3s made moderate gains.

Chile Copper 5s and International Match 5s lost about 3 points each, but most industrial loans moved within a narrow range on quiet trading. Goodrich 6½s were strong.

Fluctuations of the public utility group were not so wide as in the rail loans. Gains were about as numerous as declines. American Telephone 5s of 1960 were fractionally lower and the 5s of 1965 lost about 1 point following the news that the corporation had not earned its dividend for the third quarter of this year. Both issues were active. Moderately higher prices appeared in Western Union 5s of 1960, International Telephone debenture 5s of 1955, Detroit Edison 4½s and Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s.

207,500 PHONES CUT FROM COMPANY LIST

Gifford Says 1931 Earnings Show $7 Per Share, Despite Service Drop.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Stockholders of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. were informed by President Walter S. Gifford yesterday that during the first nine months of this year the Bell system had a net loss of approximately 207,500 telephones, or 1 1-3 per cent of those in service at the beginning of the year. For September, however, there was a net gain of 12,500 telephones, and the usual seasonal increase in long distance calls. Special sales effort is being made with the view of improving growth in the number of telephones and increasing the use of toll and long distance service.

The company's earnings report for the nine months shows net income of $128,456,316.15 and a net income per share of $7, as compared with net income of $123,450,182.60 and net income of $8.13 per share for the corresponding period in 1930.

President Gifford reports that the total operating revenues for the Bell System for the nine months were 1.9 per cent below those for the same period last year. Total operating expenses, including depreciation and taxes, were 2.8 per cent below those for the corresponding period in 1930.

Dividends Are Exceeded.

For the nine months, the earnings of the company, as shown by the income statement, have exceeded dividends by $6,800,000. In addition, the company's net equity in the undistributed earnings of its subsidiary companies, including the Western Electric Co., for the period was approximately $3,500,000.

Reluctant to discontinue publication of their quarterly magazine, which has held a foremost place among publicity organs of the American Institute of Banking, officials of Washington Chapter of the institute announced yesterday they had decided to publish Dollars and Sense without support of advertising revenues as long as they can.

The next issue, the first for the chapter's new administrative year, will appear in about two weeks, following the distribution of the year book number this week. Expenses of the next number will be paid out of the general budget of the chapter and further issues will depend upon the progress of the chapter. While the next issue will be in pamphlet form, it will have the same artistic cover and will be of the same size as former ones. The text will be arranged in different style, it was said.

Consolidation Is Abandoned.

It has been learned that the plan to consolidate Dollars and Sense with the Bulletin, monthly publication of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, has been definitely abandoned, having met with opposition in chapter circles, although it is understood the bankers were not averse to the plan.

The situation resulted from an agreement between chapter officials and the advertising committee of the bankers' association to eliminate advertising as a source of revenue for Dollars and Sense.

President Robert V. Fleming, Riggs National Bank, has been appointed to take charge of action by local banks in connection with President Hoover's bank aid plan. Announcement of his appointment was made yesterday by President John N. Miller, jr., First & Merchants National Bank of Richmond, representing the fifth Federal Reserve District in the movement.

Aetna Officials Are Guests.

W. H. Dallas, assistant vice president, and C. V. Pickering, advertising manager of the Aetna Life Insurance Co. home office in Hartford, Conn., were the guests of Gen. Agent P. D. Sleeper Tuesday at luncheon at the Army and Navy Club. The other guests were the agents associated with Mr. Sleeper. In the evening the same party, including their wives, were entertained by Mr. Sleeper at the Congressional Club, where pictures of the recent convention of Aetna agents in New London, Conn., were shown.

In a card of appreciation being distributed this week Robert C. Jones & Co., Inc., state: "We are deeply grateful to the banks and to the investing public of Washington for the confidence which they have shown in us. The last five weeks, which have been extremely trying to many, proved to be our best period of the entire year. During this period we were entrusted with handling over two millions of dollars in investment funds. Our business this year has shown a substantial increase from month to month. Our firm does not owe a dollar to the banks."

Curb Review

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Further losses appeared in the curb market today, but trading continued quiet. Declines were of a fractional nature in most utilities. Specialties looked a little heavy, and so did many oils. Sales approximated 300,000 shares, slightly larger than yesterday's turnover.

The rise in crude oil output was accompanied by a sagging in the petroleum stocks, Humble and Gulf yielding a couple of points. Standard of Indiana was off ⅛ net. Cities Service touched 7, showing a decline for the day of ⅜.

Industrial specialties losing in the neighborhood of a point included New Jersey Zinc, New York Stock and Aluminum of America. Deere was off 2. Singer Manufacturing broke 10¾ after a small early rise, and Great Atlantic & Pacific lost 10 flat. Glen Alden rallied 4.

United Light A was steady to firm, closing unchanged, which was against the trend of other utilities. Electric Bond & Share sagged half a point and there were losses of approximately the same amount in Associated Gas A and Middle West. Trading, even in the leaders, was dull.

Investment trusts were dull.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Rallies from an early decline in cotton today were attributed to trade buying and covering, but the demand was supplied by realizing while, during the afternoon, there was a little more local and Wall street selling.

December contracts after selling off to 6.16 during the early trading, rallied to 6.31 or 5 points net higher, but broke to 6.15 later and closed at 6.20. The general market closed steady at net declines of 5 to 7 points.

The opening was steady, unchanged to a decline of 4 points. There were overnight selling orders in the market here which probably included some selling for Southern account and after some little hesitation prices showed net losses of 5 to 11 points and January easing off to 6.28 and March to 6.47. At these figures the market was steadied by covering and trade or commission house buying prompted by reports of further rains or showers in the Western belt and the fact that Southern selling tapered off to small proportions after the early offerings had been absorbed.

For a time the market showed considerable firmness, with January selling up to 6.43 and March to 6.61 or 45 to 5 points higher. The demand then slackened and while Southern selling continued light, prices eased in the later trading under liquidation by scalping buyers and local traders. January declined to 6.27 and March to 6.45, making new lows for the day, but there was a flurry of covering toward the close and last prices showed rallies of 5 or 6 points from the lowest on most positions.

There was buying here by brokers with Liverpool and continental connections during the early trading, while there was considerable buying for Japanese account, which helped to absorb the early offerings. Traders appear to be watching developments in the Far East very closely and if anything the war talk from that quarter may have had a sustaining influence on the market. The factors most generally mentioned in connection with the rallies, however, were the reported steadiness of the spot basis in the South and the favorable weather for picking and moving cotton in the West.

Liverpool cables reported local and continental buying in that market and said there were reports of other cloth buying from China with the better demand from India. Exports today, 21,361, making 1,064,620 so far this season. Port receipts, 54,981. U. S. visible stocks, 3,862,215.

Woolworth Company To Pay Extra Dividend

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—F. W. Woolworth Co. today declared an extra dividend of $2 a share in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of 60 cents. The extra is payable November 15 to stock of record November 1, and the regular December 1 to stock of record November 1.

This was a welcome break for Wall street in the long chain of dividend reductions. The surplus of the parent company was considerably increased a few months ago by the recapitalization and public sale of securities of the British subsidiary, and it had been expected that the company would take some action toward distributing part of this surplus to the stockholders.

General Electric Cuts Dividend on Common

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—General Electric Co. today reported for the first nine months this year profit available for the common stock equal to $1.07 a share, compared with dividend requirements of $1.20 for the period.

During the like period last year profit available for common stock amounted to $1.47 a share on 28,845,927 shares outstanding in both periods.

Bank in New Jersey Reopens After Closing

Maple Shade, N. J., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The Maple Shade National Bank reopened today with the announcement by John H. Parker, president, that the closing Saturday had been a voluntary measure taken in anticipation of a run after two banks in Merchantville had closed.

The institution was reopened, Mr. Parker said, by permission of the Comptroller of the Currency, who found the bank in a perfectly healthy condition.

25 Years Ago Today

OCTOBER 15, 1931.

The westbound Old Dominion Express, which left here at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Cincinnati was wrecked at 6 o'clock seven miles from Charlottesville, Va., one person being killed and seven injured. The dead man was William Carper, fireman, of Clifton Forge, Va. Bledsoe Stratton, of Washington, an express messenger, was among the injured. The train was said to have been going at a rate of approximately a mile a minute when the engine jumped the track.

Gen. Charles H. Grosvenor, of Ohio, known as the prophet of the House of Representatives, estimated to a Post reporter that "a good Republican working majority" is assured in the next election. In his view there is no chance for the Democrats.

That the entire water supply of the District be taken from the control of the Army engineers and given to the District Commissioners is the recommendation made by Gen. Mackenzie in his annual report to the Secretary of War.

Declaring that Lanier place is a residential street and that its quiet would be disturbed at all hours of the night by the clanging of fire bells, a number of residents have protested to the Commissioners against the proposed erection of an engine house on Lanier place between Adams Mill road and Ontario road northwest.

GRAND JURY PROBE OF CHARGE AGAINST POLICE ENDS TODAY

3 Brutality Cases Heard Yesterday; 4 Still to Be Called.

SCARCITY OF COMPETENT WITNESSES IS PROBLEM

Indictments Are Expected Tuesday; Special Report Unlikely.

With a final burst of speed, the District grand jury today will complete its hearings of charges alleging brutal treatment and third degree tactics on the part of Washington police.

There are apparently four cases left to be given to the jury today by United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and Department of Justice investigators. While many instances of alleged brutality were uncovered by the agents in their searching inquiry, about 70, officials, it is understood, decided to present to the jury only those cases in which indictments were probable.

Some of the other cases had been voided by the statute of limitations, and in still others it was difficult to find witnesses who would be regarded as competent.

4 Cases Remain.

It is believed that about seventeen cases were scheduled for grand jury presentation. Five were heard Monday as that body opened its work in the police investigation; five Tuesday and three yesterday. Based on rumors which were strong at the time the July grand jury was declared to be null and void, this would leave four cases to be heard today as the inquiry draws to a close.

Indictments, if any are voted, will more than likely be returned next Tuesday, regular indictment day. There is no indication that the jury will make a special report.

One white man and ten Negroes were subpenaed as grand jury witnesses in the police cases heard yesterday. Nine of these were called in one case.

The charges of Joseph W. Burch, who claimed to have been beaten by three headquarters detectives when he was arrested as a suspect in a criminal case, constituted the first one heard yesterday. William Sullivan, an inmate of Lorton Reformatory, who recently escaped from that institution, but was later recaptured, was brought to the courthouse under guard to testify in this case. Sullivan is said to have given the information which resulted in Burch's arrest.

Alleged Beating.

The scond case involved a beating alleged to have been received by Frederick Smith, a colored athletic instructor. Smith is believed to have told the jury that he went out to stop a fight near the playgrounds of the Lovejoy School, over which he had supervision, and two policemen accused him of being one of the contestants in the melee, striking him with a blackjack before loading him into a patrol wagon. These men are alleged to have beaten Smith later at the Ninth Precinct Station.

Two policemen of the Second Precinct are believed to have been accused by nine colored witnesses, both men and women. They are believed to have told the jury that they were subjected to the third degree in an effort to gain confessions in a number of robbery and grand larceny cases after a general round-up by Second Precinct police.

OFFICIALS AND ENGINEERS INSPECT LABORATORY

TESTING LABORATORY DEMONSTRATES ITS WORK EFFICIENCY

CONCRETE IS FROZEN AND HEATED IN CELLS

Findings Aid Government in Awarding Contracts for District.

The District government, particularly its engineers, held open house yesterday in their new testing laboratory at Second and Bryant streets northwest and stood by proudly as from 100 to 150 building and highway construction experts inspected and had demonstrated to them the dozens of gadgets contained in the new building which show you why Mr. Jones' concrete is better than Mr. Smith's.

Completion of this research division fills a need which was brought about by the gigantic strides of construction development in the Capital and the inadequacy of the cramped laboratory which was on the fifth floor of the District Building for many years.

A new garage, which will house all of the wheeled equipment in the highway department, occupies most of the first floor of the building, with the laboratory on the second floor and working machinery, on the first and second floors.

Tests Street Concrete.

What is probably the laboratory's most interesting set of apparatus is a suite of three adjoining rooms in which highway and street materials are tested with the three most destructive elements to which they will be exposed—extreme heat, extreme cold and moisture.

One cell—they are about 6 feet square and 10 feet high—will have a temperature in the hundreds, while the interior of another will register zero or below, with the third room damp and sticky. By this process, calculations can be made which would take weeks or months if left to time and the elements alone.

The strength and quality of concretes will be tested in a sort of taster, which bites off samples at regular intervals and records its verdict, thus assisting the District government materially in awarding highway and building contracts.

Maze of Machinery.

In the shops is a maze of machinery, 60 per cent of which is new, that will keep in repair the thousands of tools used in $3,000,000 worth of roadwork annually, manufacture and service thousands of street signs and perform miscellaneous duties.

Harold F. Clemmer, testing engineer in charge of the laboratory, prepared charts of each piece of apparatus for yesterday's inspection tour, explaining its function in terms comprehensible to the expert and layman alike. An operative stood by to offer demonstrations upon request.

A domestic touch was added to the technical exhibition when the wife of Capt. Herbert C. Whitehurst, head of the highway department, made coffee for the gathering on the blacksmith shop's forge.

"It was excellent," said Maj. Davison.

13 Years as Juvenile Judge Completed by Judge Sellers

Harris & Ewing.

JUDGE KATHRYN SELLERS.

Judge Kathryn Sellers, of the Juvenile Court of the District, today is celebrating the thirteenth anniversary of her appointment as head of the sympathetic and understanding judicial machine whose duty it is to handle Wasbington's young delinquents. Taking up her work on October 15, 1918, under a commission from President Wilson, Judge Sellers was reappointed by President Coolidge in 1925.

Known as an outstanding student of child reformation, Judge Sellers, in her term of office, has developed and broadened considerably the work of the Juvenile Court in the Capital.

The records oft he District Juvenile Court show that of the cases brought to its attention, it has been found possible to settle 75 per cent amicably without bringing them to trial. This record has been highly lauded by judicial authorities and is believed to be unique.

Judge Sellers is the fourth jurist to serve as head of the Juvenile Court which was established here July 1, 1906. Those who preceded her are: Judge William De Lacy, 1906 to 1913; Judge Wilmer Latimer, 1913 to 1917, and Judge George Aukam, who served in 1917 and 1918.

Commenting on the work of her court last night, Judge Sellers said. "It is interesting to note that during the period of the depression we have had considerably fewer cases of child destitution brought to our attention than during any other period of equal length. The reason for this, I believe, is the fine work being done by the national relief agencies who fully appreciate the present situation and are extending every possible aid."

In reference to the jurisdiction of her court Judge Sellers said, "Although we are called a juvenile court our work is not entirely restricted to children, for a goodly percentage of our cases involve adults, and we have more than 800 men at present on probation. During the last year they paid approximately $40,000, or on the average of $5 a week for the support of their children."

Judge Sellers is a strong backer of the welfare code bill, which she believes when supplemented with certain amendments will remove many obstacles now lying in the path of juvenile justice.

"Although we work in the closest harmony with the Board of Public Welfare, I do not think the present arrangement existing between the group and the juvenile court is entirely satisfactory, as I believe the judge of the juvenile court should have the authority to make direct committments that is to decide to what schools or institutions the boys and girls should be sent, and not merely make a recommendation which may or may not be carried out. I am looking at it from the point of view of some other judge who might not be as fortunate as I have been in obtaining the closest cooperation of the board."

"In addition I believe that the court should always be open for the filing of petitions for interested parties, and I also am strongly in favor of sending children only to correctional schools, which fall in the broad classification of the religion which they or their parents embrace," she added.

In the plans for the Municipal Center the Juvenile Court will have new quarters, which among other features will have a private entrance on Third street. Architects of the building have pointed out this will enable the children to come and go without being thrown into an atmosphere of a police court. The Juvenile Court has 30 employes.

BALTIMORE POLICE CAPTURE ESCAPED PAIR FROM LORTON

INSTRUCTIONS AWAITED FOR RETURN TO DISTRICT

Larson and Irvin, Convicted of Grand Larceny and Robbery, Held.

Two of five men who escaped last Thursday from Lorton Reformatory were captured yesterday in Baltimore, according to authorities there, and are being held for action of the District institution.

Going to a rooming house in the 700 block of West Fayette street, Baltimore, yesterday afternoon, Sergt. Allen Crane and Patrolman Michael Hopkins found Edward Larson, 25, and John Irvin, 25, and took them in custody.

On a bureau in the men's room was a loaded pistol, the policemen reported.

At the station the man said to be Larson gave his name as Edward Marsh and his companion identified himself as William Hayes. Both denied they had escaped from Lorton.

When they were taken to headquarters, however, police said they admitted their identities.

Larson was serving a four-year term for grand larceny and Irvin was under a five-year sentence for robbery. William Sullivan and Richard Stockton, who also figured in the break, were captured the following day.

Fifth man who escaped was Mack Feist.

District Dentists Going To Memphis Convention

Commander E. Hunter Tennant, U. S. N., of the Dental School of the Naval Hospital, will be in charge of an exhibit at the American Dental Association convention in Memphis next week. His display will consist of photographs depicting every stage of the work from the time the recruit enters the enlistment office on through to the end of his naval career.

Dr. S. S. Jaffe, of the District of Columbia Dental Society, will conduct a clinic at the meeting, and Dr. William I. Ogus will show motion pictures on oral surgery. The Washington delegation will leave today. Others which it will include are Dr. H. C. Hopkins, Dr. Sterling V. Mead, Dr. Harold W. Krogh, Dr. O. H. Wendt, Dr. Ralph Morrison and Dr. Robert L. Eller.

PARK VIEW CITIZENS RAP SCHOOL BOARD

Sharp criticism of the Board of Education for "arbitrarily" transferring school buildings used for white pupils to colored school divisions was voiced by several members of the Park View Association at the group's first meeting of the fall last night. The Park View section was also declared to have been neglected by the District government in the matter of paving, street lighting, care of trees and other civic maintenance facilities.

Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, was declared by F. V. Hale, a member, to be responsible for the policy of the board in transferring the school buildings.

The school-building subject was brought to the attention of the association by Wallace R. Robinson, acting chairman, who spoke of the action of the board in transferring the Monroe School and pointed out that a proposal had been made to take similar action with regard to the Hubbard School, which is in the territory of the Columbia Heights Citizens Association.

At the conclusion of the discussion it was agreed to instruct the association's two delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations to bring the matter before the latter body.

Walter D. Beller, another member, said that lighting conditions in the Park View section made it unsafe for women to walk on the streets at night, and that the community was more scantily equipped with electric lighting facilities than any other residential section of the type in the city.

Several other members complained of "mudholes" and faulty paving conditions, while still others said that many trees along the streets of the section were dying from lack of attention.

The association indorsed Fred S. Walker, its secretary and a delegate to the Federation of Citizens Associations, as its choice for appointment to fill the existing vacancy on the Board of Education. It was agreed that as many of the members as possible would meet on Halloween night and join in a body in the city-wide celebration.

F. A. Schenck Awaits Word On Testimony

The board of attorneys seeking evidence in the alleged "framing" of former Policeman Orville Staple will hear what Frederick A. Schenck, another former policeman, has to say after all—that is if they desire to hear him now.

Schenck, who was considered a key witness in the case, yesterday announced that he had changed his mind about not talking to the investigators and would testify before the committee.

The witness, who is held at the District Jail, announced his change of heart yesterday and asked the jail officials to communicate his wishes to testify to Henry P. Blair, chairman of the lawyers' committee. He gave no reason for his sudden decision to testify.

Several weeks ago Schenck refused to testify before the attorneys' board when the five members went to the jail to question him. Schenck was brought to Washington from Leavenworth Penitentiary at the request of the District Commissioners. He was serving a twenty-year sentence for robbery at Leavenworth.

The former policeman's testimony before the grand jury several months ago led to its special report charging that Staples was "framed" and removed from the police force. The report urged the reinstatement of Staples and the punishment of those responsible for his dismissal.

Washington Rotarians Are Invited to Seattle

An official invitation to Washington Rotarians to attend the 1932 international Rotary convention in Seattle was extended at a luncheon given by the Washington club yesterday by S. J. Wettrick, of the Seattle club. Wettrick was a member of a group of 24 visiting Rotarians from several States.

The principal address at the luncheon was made by Frank Romer, well-known editor and writer, who took as his subject, "The History of Communication." Romer traced the history of communications from the earliest times up to the present and closed with the prediction that before many years all persons would be carrying pocket radios which will be used to communicate with others as are telephones now.

MAN PLEADS GUILTY IN POOLROOM DEATH

Manslaughter Plea Accepted by Court and Sentence Is Deferred.

One of the shootings that stirred Washington last spring when three apparent "gang" killings were staged at about the same time, was dealt with in court yesterday when Robert E. Martz, 19-years-old, appeared in court before Justice F. D. Letts in Criminal Court and pleaded guilty to manslaughter.

He had been indicted for murder in the first degree for having shot and fatally injured Irving Zirkle in a pool room brawl near Ninth street and New York avenue northwest. He will be sentenced in two weeks.

Martz has been figuring in the news lately because of his accusations that police gave him the "third degree" to extract from him a confession. He was heard by the last grand jury and he appeared before the present grand jury Tuesday to give his version of what the police of the First precinct did to him when he was in a cell there.

Justice Letts agreed with the Government in its plan to accept a manslaughter pleading. He postponed sentence for two weeks. Assistant United States attorney John J. Sirica appeared for the Government.

Tally Day, small time racketeer, and Jack Cunningham, police informant and small time gambler, were shot and killed just prior to the night Martz fired at Zirkle.

Grand Jury to Get Judd Death Probe

Robert Robinson, 28, colored, of 714 Q street northwest, was ordered held for the grand jury yesterday on a charge of manslaughter by a coroner's jury which investigated the death of James Judd, 27, of 61 Rhode Island avenue northeast.

Judd was fatally injured Tuesday when he was struck and dragged 100 feet by Robinson's machine at Third and C streets southwest. He was removed to Providence Hospital, where he was pronounced dead upon arrivel. Death was said to have been caused by a fractured skull.

Thieves Get $190 Loot From 2 Homes Robbed

The list of housebreakings reported to Thirteenth Precinct police in the last two weeks was increased by two yesterday when Carl Schafer and Alice F. Smith complained that their homes had been robbed. Watches and other jewelry valued at $190 made up the loot.

Mr. Schafer said his residence at 5000 Arkansas avenue was entered by breaking glass in the front door yesterday afternoon. A watch and charm worth $100, three brooches valued at $35 and two bar pins worth $20 were taken. A window screen was removed to gain entry to Mrs. Smith's home at 1218 Ingraham street northwest, where a $35 watch was stolen.

Man Stepson Shot Held for Assault

Attack Said to Have Sent Wife to Hospital Is Charge Basis.

Harvey S. Lowe, 33, 1960 Seventeenth street northwest, yesterday was locked up and charged at the Tenth Precinct station with assault, following an alleged attack upon his wife, Mrs. Olathia M. Lowe, in her apartment at 3513 Thirteenth street northwest, Tuesday night.

Mrs. Lowe was removed to Emergency Hospital and treated for head injuries and later transferred to Gallinger Hospital for further treatment. She was discharged yesterday afternoon.

Once before, in February, 1930, Lowe was said to have been discovered beating his wife by his stepson Harry V. Hazel. The youth procured a gun and shot Lowe. However, he soon recovered and a grand jury refused to indict Hazel.

Park Association Elects H. L. Brooks

Citizens' Group Awards Prizes for Best Gardens in Community.

Herbert L. Brooks was elected president of the American University Park Citizens Association last night at a meeting held in the assembly room of Hurst Hall at American University.

Other officers elected were Marshall J. Gleason, vice president; Mrs. Blaine McCollum, secretary; Mrs. Ora G. Visel, treasurer, and Thomas E. Lodge and Arthur Carr, delegates to the Federation of Citizens' Associations.

Prizes and certificates were awarded for the best group of gardens in the community. The title of "Master Gardner" was won by George L. Williams, Herman Oldham, Gilbert L. Rodier, John J. Smith, Frank S. Lilly, Jett Wayland, Arthur Carr, William T. Betts, D. S. Burch and Marvin C. Moore. J. W. Wellington and J. C. Dulin, jr., were judges in the contest.

EMPLOYMENT CHIEF CONVICTED OF FRAUD

John R. Kendall, proprietor of the Washington Business Bureau, was convicted in Police Court yesterday of obtaining money under false pretenses. He was tried before Judge Isaac R. Hitt, who gave him the option of paying a $50 fine or serving 30 days in jail.

Kendall was arrested on the complaint of Fannie Lytle, colored, who claimed that she had paid $2 to obtain employment as a maid. She declared that she had neither received the position nor a refund of her money.

Assistant United States Attorney William Gallagher, in addressing Judge Hitt, said that the court should take judicial notice of the depression, and the fact that the persons who paid $2 to get jobs were not able to afford that much of an outlay. He called the employment bureau "a racketeering proposition and a flim-flam scheme with a suite of offices in the Bond Building."

Mr. Gallagher pointed out to the judge that the people who asked for employment agency jobs were not "college graduates" and were more or less credulous. He said further that those who enrolled were given merely initialed receipts to show that they had paid their money.

GRAND JUROR'S CASE DELAYED FOR STUDY

Decision in Contempt Trial of Man Held Ineligible to Affect Many.

Arraignment of Henry L. Johnson, Spanish-American War veteran, whose presence on the last grand jury while he was drawing a $50 a month pension, threw out ten weeks of grand jury investigation, was given a week's continuance yesterday when his case was called before Justice James Proctor in Criminal Court.

Johnson was cited to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for failure to answer properly questions propounded to him when he was being qualified for the jury.

Attorney S. McComas Hawken, for Johnson, told Justice Proctor that the action for a contempt was the first of its kind insofar as it related to ineligibility of a pensioner of one of the wars for grand jury service. He asked that he be given a week to look up precedents, as the case will have far-reaching effect.

In event a ruling makes Johnson eligible for grand jury service many complications may follow. It will also, it was pointed out, let down the bars to thousands of Government pensioners who are not now considered qualified for jury service.

Catholic Alumni To Get Magazine

Catholic University will soon have a new publication to stimulate interest in alumni affairs and to bind graduates to the school, if plans, broached at the first fall meeting of the Washington chapter of the alumni association at the University Club go through.

Plans for an alumni magazine were outlined by Joseph M. Murphy, director of publicity of the university, who told the graduates that Mgr. James H. Ryan, rector of the university, had expressed a wish for a stronger alumni association.

The Washington graduates also made plans for the annual "homecoming" day November 26. A highlight of the day will be the football game between Catholic University and Loyola. Arthur J. Bergman, head coach, and Assistant Coaches Vik and Cotton were guests at the dinner. Coach Bergman talked of the school's football prospects.

Bloomingdale Group Elects Yearly Officers

Newly elected officers of the Bloomingdale Civic Association announced last night include Mrs. Jacqueline A. Cuney, president; E. T. Hawkins, Samuel D. Matthews and J. A. Logan, vice presidents; Edith M. Matthews, recording secretary; Edward F. Harris, corresponding secretary; E. W. Crump, treasurer; R. A. Fairley, chaplain; N. O. Weddington, sergeant-at-arms.

Delegates to the Federation of Civic Associations were named to include Mrs. Cuney, Hawkins, Watkins, Harris and John E. Hall.

Truck Hits Children At Play Under Hood

Two colored children were injured, one seriously, when a 2-ton truck ran into a cast-off automobile hood under which they were playing in a vacant lot near Seventh and R streets northwest yesterday. Irving Smith, 4, was treated at Freedman's Hospital for a possible skull fracture and lacerations. His playmate, 5-year-old Roland Wiggin, escaped with contusions. Both live in Marion court.

According to police, Claude Wilson, colored, 1723 Glicks court northwest, was driving the truck when it rumbled over the hood. Hearing cries, he stopped and discovered the injured boys. Wilson was not held.

Chief Issues Fire Rules For Halloween Carnival

Fire Chief George S. Watson yesterday issued three rules of precaution to govern the huge parade and carnival scheduled for Halloween. The rules, which were submitted to William A. Roberts, general chairman, follow:

(1)—Prohibit the use of an open flame, such as flares, torches, candles, and the like on floats having flammable decorations. Where lighting effects are desired for Japanese lanterns or jack o'lanterns, 6-volt automobile lights may be used.

(2)—Inspect all floats to see that no flammable decorations are placed close to exhaust pipes or mufflers.

(3)—Prohibit the use of fireworks in conjection with the parade. Flares may be permitted for street lighting if properly used.

Chairman Roberts also announced yesterday that the Mid-City Citizens Association and a group of merchants in that community have made arrangements to take an entire section of the parade. Several department stores also have entered.

At 5:30 o'clock this afternoon Mr. Roberts will speak over Station WMAL on the celebration under the auspices of the Board of Trade.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

HOLD 'EM, SING SING!

WARDEN LAWES announces that football will be played at Sing Sing Prison this fall. What he means is that the convicts will be given a chance to do their rioting under prison direction.

• • • •

Sing Sing will have two varsity football teams and they should both be among the toughest in the country. The material is there. It is just a question of developing team spirit to a point where the prisoners are willing to die for dear old Sing Sing.

• • • •

The prisoners had their first football practice the other morning and were so satisfied with their game that they immediately sent a note to the warden asking if he couldn't arrange a game with the police department.

• • • •

Never was an institution so well equipped with football talent. The squad has as its candiates for tackles a half dozen men who piled up the interference so effectively in recent bank robberies that not a cop got through.

• • • •

FOR guards the prison has a couple of men who were with Al Capone the three seasons that he was never scored on.

• • • •

The prison has two centers, whose passing game has never been surpassed. They are in the rogues galleries of the world as the best passers of all time, using what is known as the pen and ink formation to screen the toss.

• • • •

And quarter back? Are the boys well equipped with material for that job? Don't ask! There's a big battle going on for the position right now between a disbarred lawyer who ran $200 into $1,000,000, a crooked judge whose variety of plays was so extensive it was years before anybody got wise to him, and a politician who spent most of his life giving mysterious signals and dealing in scrambled figures.

• • • •

The back field is strong, too. It has three players on it who are so powerful and fast on their feet that they ran through six courts last year without even getting their sweaters torn.

• • • •

And for a triple threat man they have a fellow who once had gangs working in Chicago, New York and Frisco at the same time.

• • • •

So far there has been only one man barred from the Sing Sing elevens for violation of the rules. It was discovered that he had violated the amateur agreement. He had played three years at Joliet.

The warden delivered a stirring "pep" talk to the squad this morning. "Men of Sing Sing," he said in the locker room, "I am depending on you. All over the land men who have passed through this institution are depending on you. Remember the traditions of your alma mater! When you go out on that field bear in mind that the eyes of the entire alumni are on you.

THE TOUGH BREAK.

You're sunk—Haw!
You're approved by Bernard Shaw!

WHAT'S THAT AGAIN?

"The outlook would be better if there were a more marked pick-up in fright movements."—New York American.
